PRESIDENT ASKS MORE RIGID LAW ON BANKRUPTCY

Message to Congress Is Plea for Revisions in Criminal Code.

DEPLORES MOUNTING ABUSE IN U. S. COURTS

District Jury Reforms Are Part of Recommendations; Hastings Submits Bill.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

A sweeping new policy in the administration of criminal justice in the Federal courts, and an entirely new approach to the problem of bankruptcy proceedings, were outlined by President Hoover yesterday in a special message to Congress. With the message went a long-time legislative program calculated to speed up criminal procedure, to bring the Federal courts everywhere fully abreast of their crowded dockets and to rehabilitate the decaying body of bankruptcy law.

In both fields, the message presented the conclusions of special inquiries by governmental and private agencies during the last ten years.

Coupled with the recommendations, the President renewed his plea for a quickening of the citizen's "spirit of respect for law."

"In concluding," the message said, "may I not say that important as these recommendations are we must all keep before us the thought that effective administration of the law in a republic requires not only adequate and proper machinery, honest and capable officials, but above all a citizenry imbued with a spirit of respect for law."

District Is Touched.

Two sections of the messages carried special recommendations touching the District of Columbia. One suggested elimination of burdensome technicalities in the construction of grand juries, and broadening the general list for jury service. The second repeated the White House plea for legislation "effectively to supplement the prohibition law" in Washington.

"The Attorney General has made recommendations as to the character of such legislation before the committees of the Congress," the message said. "I again urge favorable action."

Because statutory control of the criminal code does not provide sufficient flexibility in the administration of justice, the President recommended that the work of revising the procedure be left to the Supreme Court. It would be accomplished through uniform rules of practice and procedure, as recommended many times during the last decade by the American Bar Association and other important professional bodies.

Procedure of Criminals.

"The extent of crime is and must be a subject of increasing concern to the Government and to every well disposed citizen. This increase is by no means confined to the violation of new criminal laws. Some part of all crime is due to confidence of criminals in the delays of the law and to their ability to avoid conviction and to delay penalties by misuse of the procedure and provisions of the law intended to assure fair trial. This is more manifest in procedure in the courts of some of the States than in the Federal courts. Yet important reforms in the Federal establishment and in the Federal procedure are needed and must be undertaken. Aside from its direct result, the indirect result of high standards in the Federal courts is of Nation-wide influence."

A special Department of Justice report of some 400 pages, embodying the results of a two-year inquiry into bankruptcy administration, accompanied the President's message.

"The present bankruptcy act is defective in that it holds out every inducement for waste of assets long after business failure has become in-

Roosevelt Names Sheehy As Sheriff of New York

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt tonight named John E. Sheehy, Democratic leader of the Fifteenth Assembly District of New York, as sheriff of New York County to succeed Thomas M. Farley, removed from office recently by executive order. Sheehy, like Farley, is a member of Tammany Hall. His name was one of two sent the governor by John F. Curry, leader of the organization, as a recommendation for a successor to Farley. Marshall Ingram, of the Seventh District, was the second choice.

Sheehy's term of office, under the appointment, will run until December 31, this year. A candidate for election must be selected for the next general ballot this fall.

Vote Report Asks Ouster Of Bankhead

(Associated Press.)

A report recommending that Senator John H. Bankhead, of Alabama, be unseated has been prepared for the Senate elections subcommittee considering the contest against his election by Chairman Hastings.

The report will be submitted to the subcommittee this week, but must be approved by that group and the full committee before reaching the Senate.

Senator Hastings' recommendation is based upon charges of widespread violations of election laws in Alabama's 1930 senatorial contest.

In a former report to the committee he said the election laws had not been fully complied with in a single voting place in the State and pointed to "a combination of circumstances which would satisfy a reasonable person that some fraud has been committed."

Senator Hastings expects to submit the report to the subcommittee Friday, and will not make its text public until then.

It is a voluminous document, including in addition to Senator Hast-

PARTISAN QUARREL SPREAD TO SENATE

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The partisan quarrel that broke out in the House ten days ago spread to the Senate yesterday. Consequently the smashing of the so-called political truce may now be considered as complete.

In yesterday's skirmish, Senator Tom Conally, (Democrat), of Texas, accused Senator George H. Moses, (Republican), of New Hampshire, of making a "savage attack" on Speaker John N. Garner over the week-end. Moses had said Sunday that Garner in charging that President Hoover brought on a "panic," was formally opening his own candidacy for the Presidency.

Connally, rising to the defense of his fellow Texan, said that Moses and the administration, having obtained Democratic aid in passing the economic legislative program, were now out to "destroy" Garner or any other man who may be the nominee of the Democratic party.

Moses listened for an hour or so, and then, in one of his withering remarks, reminded Connally of a bit of political history—Texas' desertion of the Solid South in 1928, the year in which it turned against Alfred E. Smith and voted for Herbert Hoover. Why, Moses wanted to know, is Texas "doing all the talking for the Democratic party nowadays?"

Connally said that he would "admit with great shame that my State made a tremendous mistake in 1928, a mistake which it will not make again."

Then he pointed out that New Hampshire recently elected a Democratic representative in a normally Republican district, despite the fact that Moses campaigned there and set forth the Republican doctrine.

Speaker Garner has not yet announced his candidacy, although it is agreed that, next to Roosevelt, he is the strongest man in the field. That the Republicans regard him as

FINN FASCISTS, BREATHING WAR, MET BY TROOPS

Result of Armed Clash Outside Capital in Doubt.

REBELS' ULTIMATUM IS STERNLY REJECTED

President Answers Note by Preparing Punishment of Lapua Leaders.

Helsingfors, Finland, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A Fascist march on the capital today encountered government troops 25 miles away and a clash of arms ensued, but its outcome was not immediately apparent due to crippled communications.

The Fascists, or Lapua, simultaneously served a demand on President Pehr Edwin Svinhufvud to shear Marxists and Socialists from the government or suffer the consequences of civil war.

The president's reply was an emergency safety law giving himself extreme military powers to meet the rebellion.

The decree permitted suppression of newspapers guilty of agitation, the dissolution of demonstrations, search of homes, examinations of persons out-of-doors and the hindrance of armed individuals moving from place to place, and all other necessary steps to preserve order.

Leaders to Be Arrested.

The government decided to arrest all Lapua leaders, it was learned from informed quarters. Two of the leaders were identified as Vihtori Kosola and Gen. Wallenius. The arrests were expected to be made tomorrow.

"The situation tonight is considerably better than it was this morning," Gen. Malmberg, chief of the civil guard, said.

It was said in official quarters that the whole Lapua movement was "proving a fiasco," the Lapua orders having been obeyed only in southern Finland. Reports from Mantsala, center of the movement, said many Lapuans were returning home and that there were only a few fresh arrivals.

The civil guards, as to whose loyalty there had been doubts, were said officially to be standing firmly by the government.

The Fascists said they could muster 20,000 men for the march on Helsingfors, and declared they expected to reach the seat of the government by tomorrow morning. The force that encountered government troops, all of which remained loyal, was said to number about 5,000, however.

The Lapua movement has been powerful, especially in southern Finland, for more than two years.

One effect of the revolution to date has been withdrawals from banks. Foreign currencies are most difficult to obtain.

Mine Yields 29 Bodies As Squads Seek 9 More

Pocahontas, Va., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Bodies of 29 men killed in the Boissevain mine explosion rested in an improvised morgue above ground tonight, while worn rescue workers faced another long night of groping underground for 9 still missing.

Most of the bodies were badly burned and mutilated, indicating the explosion brought death instantly.

Guest Is Bound and Gagged Then Robbed of $54 in Hotel

Gaining Entry to Room by Ruse, Assailant Secures Philadelphian Stopping at Ambassador Takes Cash and Escapes; Victim Helpless for Hour.

Gagged, bound hand and foot and tied to a bed in his room at the Ambassador Hotel last night, A. J. Boase, a civil engineer of Philadelphia, lay helpless nearly an hour before he could summon aid, after a gunman, who represented himself as an employe of the hotel, had robbed him of $54.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, Mr. Boase told police, while he was reading in his room, someone knocked on the door. He opened it to find a neatly dressed young man, holding a notebook and pencil in his hand.

"The maid reports a leak in the bathroom, sir," his visitor said. "May I investigate?"

Mr. Boase said he admitted the man and after a brief conversation they both went to look at the leaky plumbing. As he jotted down notes in the book he carried, the man asked for an extra sheet of writing paper, Mr. Boase said.

Police were told that Mr. Boase went to the adjoining room, obtained the paper and as he turned, looked directly into the muzzle of a revolver. The man issued a curt order.

"Lie on the bed," he commanded, "and keep quiet!"

Mr. Boase complied. He said the man then produced several lengths of picture wire and securely bound him hand and foot. After rifling his pockets of $54, Mr. Boase declared, the intruder placed a heavy gag in his mouth, and producing more wire, tied his feet and the upper part of his body to both ends of the bed.

For almost an hour Mr. Boase lay helpless. He finally managed to slip the gag from his mouth and shouted for help.

R. J. Buress, of Baltimore, a guest who occupied an adjoining room, heard his cries and called the manager.

Detective Sergts. John Wise and Henry Jett, who responded to a call from police headquarters, released Mr. Boase and after a preliminary investigation, showed him pictures in the police rogues' gallery. Mr. Boase was unable to identify any of them.

NEW TOKYO DRIVE IS ON AS BOTH SIDES AGREE IN PRINCIPLE TO EVACUATION; JAPANESE-RED WAR HELD INEVITABLE

CONSUL REPORTS HEAVY GUNS ADDED

Fight May Be Started Over Fisheries Question If Not Over Manchuria.

Tokyo, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—The foreign office was informed today that 100,000 Soviet Russian troops have been massed in the vicinity of Vladivostok in preparation for what is considered in Russia to be an inevitable conflict with Japan.

This information comes from Japanese Consul Yamaguchi at Vladivostok, who reported that troops were stationed in the city and along the Ussuri Railway near the border of North Manchuria.

In a telegram to the foreign office the consul asserted that an iodine factory at Olga Bay was being converted for the manufacture of poison gas and that fortifications at the entrance to Vladivostok harbor and on Russian Island were being strengthened by new heavy guns and anti-aircraft batteries.

Reports Two Army Corps.

Basing his report on information which he said he received from a reliable foreign source, M. Yamaguchi declared that there were two army corps in the immediate vicinity of Vladivostok and that most of the troops were new arrivals from European Russia.

Munitions, foodstuffs and military supplies of all kinds were being brought in day and night, he said, and three new forts were under construction at Sedanka on Amur Bay near Vladivostok.

Source of Friction.

The consul informed the foreign office that he had been told the Russians considered a Russo-Japanese clash to be inevitable—if not over Manchuria then over the fisheries question, which has been a source of friction between the two countries for several years.

Neither the foreign office nor the war office expressed any concern over the reported massing of Russian troops. A war office spokesman said that for some time it had been known that the Soviet was concentrating its military forces and that the action probably was due to "unwarranted Soviet nervousness" regarding Japan's intentions in Manchuria.

Fight in Vermont Planned for Smith

Contest for Delegates Is Announced, Following New York Parley.

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A contest for delegates pledged to Alfred E. Smith for the Democratic presidential nomination will be made in Vermont, James E. Kennedy, former Democratic national committeeman from that State, announced tonight after a conference with Mr. Smith.

Friends of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt have claimed support for his presidential candidacy in Vermont. There is no presidential primary there, but delegates will be selected at a State Democratic convention.

Mr. Smith reiterated his statement that he would not personally make a fight for delegates, but that he would not undertake to stop friends who may wish to do so for him. Among those who engaged in a series of political conferences with Mr. Smith during the day, newspapers listed Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, Democratic leader of New Jersey; Thomas Spellacy, Connecticut, and John J. Curtin, of New Hampshire.

U. S. Trade Is Hard Hit By Shanghai Hostility

Shanghai, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—American trade has been hard hit by the Shanghai hostilities and there is no prospect of any material improvement soon.

Julian Arnold, United States trade commissioner, estimated today that 75 per cent of the cargoes coming into Shanghai for more than a month have been placed in bonded warehouses, where they can not be moved.

This pinches not only the importer, but the shipper as well. American firms that do not possess warehouses of their own are in an especially bad plight, and many of them have to send their cargoes on to Hongkong or Manila. No improvement in this situation is likely until the Chinese are able to take deliveries on goods ordered.

SATO AND YEN BACK LEAGUE TRUCE PLAN

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

Geneva, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—The Japanese and Chinese delegates to the League of Nations council tonight accepted a proposal for truce at Shanghai and an international conference to arrange terms for a final settlement of the conflict.

The United States, Great Britain, France and Italy—as well as Japan and China—are participating in this new move to halt the warfare in the Shanghai area.

In hopeful tones both Naotake Sato and Dr. W. W. Yen, the Japanese and Chinese council delegates, gave their support to the peace project and promised to recommend its immediate acceptance by their governments.

The attitude of the Japanese representative was in marked contrast to the position Japan has taken in the past. Hitherto Tokyo has insisted that Chinese withdrawal must precede Japanese evacuation and throughout the Sino-Japanese conflict the Tokyo government has declared against participation by neutral powers in peace negotiations.

Although the memorandum setting forth the peace proposals did not specify an immediate armistice, Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary and one of the prime movers for

Oklahoma Republicans Indorse Hoover Regime

Oklahoma City, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A resolution expressing "full confidence" in President Hoover and recommending his administration "to the honest and impartial judgment of the citizenship of Oklahoma" was adopted by the Republican State executive committee here today.

The committee set the State convention, at which delegates will be named to the national convention, for April 25.

Stream of Shots Ends Gunman's Long Career

Newark, N. J., Feb. 29 (U.P.).—Izzy Presser, gunman, burglar, and rumrunner for 25 years, was taken for a "one-way ride" tonight that brought an abrupt end to his criminal career.

A "friend" sat on the seat beside Presser in his own automobile and pumped a stream of bullets into his temple and heart. Presser was found within a hour, slumped over the steering wheel of his car.

Burglar Subdued as Tear Gas Bombs End Gun Battle

Two tear gas bombs were required to subdue a youth trapped in a chain grocery store at 2017 Eleventh street northwest after he had held about a dozen detectives and uniformed policemen at bay for about 10 minutes with a .32-caliber automatic pistol. About a dozen shots were exchanged between the barricaded burglar and police before Sergt. R. E. Blick ended the battle with a couple of well-directed bombs.

The man, gasping for breath, yelled that he would surrender, police said. The plate glass window of the store was wrecked by pistol fire.

The capture was effected with the aid of Mrs. A. Jackson, who lives next door to the store, at 2015 Eleventh street northwest. She heard a noise and going to the window saw the man sawing his way through the bars on the rear window of the store. She waited until he was inside and called police.

A Second Precinct radio car bearing Precinct Detective Michael Mahaney and Private C. B. Wood and a headquarters cruiser with Sergt. Joe Waldron and several other men arrived about the same time. They were soon reinforced with motorcycle police and uniformed men.

Mahaney and Wood went to the rear. The firing broke out as the main party stormed the front door. After a deadlock, Sergt. Blick tossed the two bombs and police carried the store. At the Second Precinct Station the prisoner gave his name as Thomas White, 18 years old, colored, of 1306 Ninth street northwest.

Parley on British Ship at Shanghai Boosts Hope for Peace.

WITHDRAWAL IDEA IS ACCORDED FAVOR

Immediate Halt to Fighting Is One of Three Points Contained in Plan.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The dawn of peace in the Orient was faintly discerned yesterday following simultaneous moves at Geneva, in Shanghai and here in Washington between the representatives of China and Japan, on the one hand and the council of the League of Nations and the neutral powers on the other.

All peace making efforts tend to the following three points: first, the immediate cessation of all hostilities; second, the reopening of peace talks between the four great powers and the belligerents, and third, the localizing of the present discussions to the Shanghai situation with all due reservations for corrolary subjects, such as the Manchurian question.

Ever since Secretary Stimson issued his now famous letter to Senator Borah last week, moves for peace have been redoubled. The League of Nations, with its future prestige at stake, has been carrying on through the efforts of the council a quiet series of diplomatic exchanges which have been communicated regularly to the Department of State.

Sounded Out Again.

The British admiral, Sir Howard Kelly, who originally attempted to bring the Chinese and Japanese together on some mutually satisfactory basis for truce in Shanghai, again sounded them out with more effective results yesterday. Nelson T Johnson, American Minister to China, was not present at the conference, but was kept informed of the interview and cabled an account of it to the State Department. Minister Johnson said:

"At the request of Japanese Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura a two-and-a-half-hour conference was held on H. M. S. Kent, beginning at 1 o'clock p. m., February 29. The Japanese representatives were Matsuoka and Nomura; Chinese representatives, Dr. Wellington Koo and Gaston Wong; neutrals, Admiral Kelly and Commodore Leighton.

"The principle of mutual and simultaneous evacuation was agreed to, the Japanese, Chinese and neutral commission to control the evacuation and Chinese to police. No agreement was made on a 20-kilometer demand, but

China to Make Punitive Campaign in New State

Nanking, China, Tuesday, March 1 (A.P.).—The government of China decided today to launch a punitive expedition against the new Manchurian-Mongolian state established under Japanese auspices. It was also determined to resume diplomatic relations with the Soviet government, which were broken off in 1929, when the Chinese and the Russians were fighting in north Manchuria.

Japanese Claim Chinese Seeking U. S. War Loan

(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

Shanghai (Tuesday), March 1 (U. P.).—Strong hopes for peaceful settlement of the Shanghai warfare were revived today in diplomatic circles, but Chinese officials remained skeptical.

Further indication of the Chinese determination to continue the defense was seen in widespread rumors that the arrest of Chinese Gen. Wang-Ken, a West Point graduate, by Japanese in the International Settlement, had disclosed negotiations for a large American war loan to China.

Gen. Wang-Ken, who commands the salt revenue constabulary, was reported to have had documents in his possession indicating negotiations of a loan of about $30,000,000. The Japanese claimed they found contracts for American airplanes and munitions in his brief case.

ATLANTIC WARSHIPS ORDERED TO PACIFIC

(Associated Press).

The might of the American Navy is being mobilized in the Pacific.

Under orders disclosed yesterday, ten warships will pass through the Panama Canal to join the powerful fleets which soon will hold maneuvers in defense of the Pacific Coast. This will bring to 199 the fighting ships flying the American flag west of the canal.

The unexpected move, representing the first time that the special service and training squadrons have been directed into such maneuvers, attracted widespread attention.

Asked if there was any relation between the sudden orders and the Far Eastern situation, Navy officials replied their latest reports showed an easing of tension in the Orient and emphasized a statement by Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations, that a plan for such a ship movement had been "under consideration since the maneuvers were first announced."

Announcement of the maneuvers was made by Admiral Pratt in testimony before a House committee in January a year ago.

The 199 vessels that will be concentrated in Pacific waters before long now are made up of twelve battleships, seventeen cruisers, thirty-three submarines, eighty-one destroyers, three aircraft carriers and fifty-three auxiliaries. The last includes aircraft tenders, river gunboats, mine sweepers, oilers, submarine tenders and miscellaneous craft.

These embrace the regular Pacific fleet and the Asiatic fleet, the latter of which is standing by in Chinese waters for the aid of Americans threatened in the Japanese-Chinese hostilities.

The specific task allotted to the two warship organizations newly headed

New Arlington Treasurer Technically Under $800,000 Bond; Ball's Friends Decide to Delay Action on Fund to Save His Home.

The Arlington County treasurer's office was taken over by Charles T. Jesse, technically under the highest bond ever placed on a county officer in the Commonwealth of Virginia. As soon as he took the oath of office, he and Fletcher Kemp, county superintendent of schools, left for Alexandria to arrange details of the $40,000 emergency loan which will keep the county schools open.

Today the new treasurer and Harry A. Fellows, chairman of the county board, will arrange the $100,000 loan to allow continuance of county activities until March 15.

While Mr. Jesse was arranging affairs of his new office his appointment was being protested by a dry organization. Mrs. Ethel M. Gregory, president of the Alexandria City and Arlington County Women's Christian Temperance Union, announced that a telegram had been sent to Gov. John Garland Pollard, protesting the appointment. No reason for the protest was revealed.

On the other hand, friends of E. Wade Ball, who resigned from the office of County Treasurer after reports of a $275,000 shortage in the accounts of his office, met last night to consider plans for raising approximately $18,000 for saving Ball's home.

About fifteen Arlington County citizens met at the home of Charles D. Boyer on Glebe road to discuss the matter. After about two hours of discussion the group decided to take no definite action in raising the money at present.

They felt that some statement should be obtained from Mr. Ball before an actual start was made toward raising the $18,000. A committee will be named, it was decided, to call on Mr. Ball and obtain the statement. This statement would either be publicly or privately made to the members of the committee, the group decided.

Mr. Jesse yesterday was technically under $800,000 bond as Arlington County treasurer. In order to rush the ceremony of taking the oath, and to reopen the treasurer's office, which Tokyo Warns She Will Take Warfare Inland If Enemy Adds Reinforcements.

Tokyo, Tuesday, March 1 (A.P.).—A foreign office spokesman said today that Japan could not accept a proposal for simultaneous withdrawal of Japanese and Chinese forces from Shanghai. He reiterated that Chinese evacuation of a zone 12½ miles around Shanghai was an absolute prerequisite of any truce. The foreign office had not yet heard from the Japanese delegation at Geneva, where the Chinese and Japanese delegates to the League of Nations council were reported to have agreed to a truce, and therefore declined to confirm the reported agreement.

Shanghai, Tuesday, Mar. 1.—A new Japanese offensive over a long line from Chapei to Kiangwan shoved aside talk today of an imminent peace.

Fresh troops poured ashore for 36 hours and a baptism of fire on the front when the attack was launched at 8:30 a. m. against tenacious Chinese still holding their positions with a scorching defense.

Japanese artillery, bombing planes and machine guns carried the brunt of battle while infantrymen kept their rifles hot but stayed within their entrenched positions. The Japanese indicated that they planned to use a new and modern implement of warfare when aviators laid smoke screens over their Whangpoo flying field in a test of their devices.

12,000 More Japanese.

Twelve thousand more Nipponese soldiers came ashore today at a village called Chilingkow, slightly northwest of Liuho, on the south bank of the Yangtze River, 15 miles above Woosung, said the Rengo (Japanese) News Agency's correspondent.

Gen. Yoshinori Shirakawa, who has been expected to become commander in chief of the Japanese forces here, also was somewhere about, newly arrived on a cruiser. His staff landed at Woosung, at the confluence of the Yangtze and the Whangpoo, 16 miles below Shanghai.

Officers said the general debarked at another undivulged spot. Headquarters at the Kiangwan Race Course said he was expected to arrive there shortly.

At the same time, the Japanese said

Steck Would Run Again As Brookhart Opponent

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 29 (A.P.). Two old political foes who carried a previous election fight to the floor of the United States Senate lined up on opposing sides in the Iowa senatorial race today.

They are former Senator Daniel F. Steck, who announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination, and Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Republican, who was defeated by Steck in 1924. Opposing Steck for the Democratic nomination are Fred P. Hagemann, of Waverly; N. G. Kraschel, of Harlan, and C. F. Lytle, of Sioux City.

MANUFACTURES TAX PROPOSED AS BUDGET AID

Two Per Cent Written Into Revenue Bill by House Body.

PLAIN FOODS PLACED ON EXEMPTIONS LIST

Levy to Net $500,000,000; Government's Deficit Is $1,241,000,000.

(Associated Press.)

New tax provisions, imposing upon the purchasers of most manufactured products a share of the burden of balancing the Federal budget, were written into the revenue bill yesterday by a House ways and means subcommittee.

It approved a Treasury-formulated plan for fixing a 2 per cent levy on manufactures, with plain foods and other necessities excepted.

The committee decided to exempt raw foodstuffs, but to include fancy and processed foods, clothing and luxuries. Schoolbooks and literature for the blind were exempted along with farmers' products, tea, sugar, coffee, milk, cheese, butter, fresh fish, seed and fertilizer.

Early Completion Expected.

In announcing that the subgroup hoped to complete the bill today in order that the full committee may consider it tomorrow, Acting Chairman Crisp said that in designating the exemptions it had avoided "making the poor man's breakfast and the average man's food pay the tax."

The subgroup also exempted newspapers, magazines, and periodicals, along with a number of other articles which the Georgia Democrat declined to name.

Chairman Crisp announced the sales tax would not bring in the $600,000,000 at first expected. The exemptions, he said, would reduce the yield to a little more than $500,000,000, making it necessary to levy some direct taxes upon other products to make up the difference.

Treasury's Last Estimate.

"The Treasury's latest estimate is that $1,241,000,000 will be needed to balance the budget," the Georgian said. "With the manufactures sales tax as the base, we still have to raise several hundred million dollars additional.

"The subcommittee has decided to submit to the full committee, without recommendation, proposals for excise taxes on some industries, for with the proposed increases in inheritance, income and corporate taxes and the levying of a gift tax and the sales tax, there will not be enough revenue to balance the budget."

Chairman Crisp declined to name the industries proposed for the special taxes, but the committee has been considering levies on gasoline, electricity, household gas, industrial alcohol and petroleum imports. He said the bill would contain several administrative changes designed to close loop-holes through which income and corporate tax payments have been evaded.

Representative Crisp last night appealed to the Nation over the Columbia broadcasting network to "be willing in this emergency for a year or two to bear additional tax burdens in order to balance our budget."

"The bill we report," he said, "will be neither a Democratic nor a Republican tax bill, but a Government bill, an American bill. It will be our bill and your bill, and it will be our responsibility and your responsibility to rally to our country's need. Let us remember that pocketbook patriotism is a very real kind of patriotism."

DAY IN CONGRESS

FEBRUARY 29, 1932.

SENATE.

Met at noon and recessed at 4:38 p. m. until noon Tuesday.

Senator Connally (Democrat), of Texas, said in a speech that the criticism made by Senator Moses (Republican), of New Hampshire, on Speaker Garner ended the political truce between the parties.

Banking committee prepared for investigation of short selling, with Democrats charging that the administration was seeking an alibi for the panic.

Senator Wagner (Democrat), of New York, urged enactment of Norris anti-injunction bill and criticized court interference in labor disputes.

Republican steering committee decided on a program calling for action on the Democratic tariff measure, to be followed by the Reed resolution to investigate fluctuation in foreign exchange as affecting the tariff.

Manufactures committee submitted favorable report on the Wagner $750,000,000 unemployment relief bill.

Received special message from the President calling for revision of legal procedure.

Senator Hastings (Republican), of Delaware, introduced a bill to carry out the President's recommendations for revision of bankruptcy laws.

Senator Hastings (Republican), of Delaware, chairman of subcommittee, prepared a report declaring vacant the seat of Senator Bankhead (Democrat), of Alabama.

Judiciary committee favorably reported Johnson bill providing for payment of $6,462,145 to California over Civil War.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 5:25 p. m. until noon Tuesday.

Representative McDuffie, of Alabama, Democratic whip, called on his party to hold an harmonious convention and suggested all elements unite on Speaker Garner.

Patents committee decided to summon dramatic critics to testify after charging them with harming the theatrical business.

Representative Fish (Republican), of New York, filed a petition to discharge a committee and bring to a vote the Senate resolution providing 40,000,000 bushels of Government wheat for relief.

DRAMATIC CRITICS CALLED TO INQUIRY

Group in House Hears Them Accused for Failures on Legitimate Stage.

(Associated Press.)

Critical dramatic critics were called on yesterday by the House patents committee to appear in person for a lambasting on charges that they have made a financial tragedy of the legitimate theater.

The storm broke on their absent heads with the suddenness of a coincidence in an old-fashioned melodrama. Chairman Sirovich, who wrote a play himself, not long ago said more harsh things about them than they ever did about a show with a lisping ingenue.

The committee members agreed with Mr. Sirovich. So last night the New York member, a physician before he was elected to Congress, was writing critics asking them to appear, presumably to be given doses of their own medicine.

Nathan Likely to Be Asked.

Reviewers in New York, Chicago, Boston, Cleveland and other cities will be asked to come. George Jean Nathan, who has been writing tart pieces about the show business for a good many years, is almost certain to get an invitation.

Mr. Sirovich said he was especially anxious to hear those of "the George Jean Nathan stripe, who, so I understand, boast they have never seen the last act of a play."

The nonappearance of some theatrical producers who had been invited to appear began the criticism of the critics. Mr. Sirovich interrupted a witness to remark that such men as the Shuberts and Hammersteins were in bankruptcy and could not get to Washington to defend their interests before Congress.

He insisted—and the committee members agreed—that adverse criticism of plays was responsible more than any other factor for the fact that four out of five legitimate dramas are financial failures.

Critics Are Half Angry.

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Critics of Metropolitan Broadway turned trained tongues on the Washington fault finders tonight, defending their precious privilege of free expression in half humorous, half angry outbursts.

Word of the threatened "summons" to Washington was passed about to several assembled at the gala opening of a Theater Guild play.

"I'd be delighted to go," said Whitney Bolton, of the veteran theater paper, Morning Telegraph. "Is the committee going to get up the examination itself? That ought to be swell."

"The whole thing is utterly absurd, of course," said Richard Lockridge, of the New York Sun. "It is obvious the theater has no chance without honest criticism. It is dead in Paris, where only praise is the rule."

Robert Garland, of the World-Telegram, also said he "expresses only his own opinions."

Senate Group Hits Jonas Nomination

(Associated Press.)

An unfavorable report on the nomination of Charles A. Jonas to be United States attorney for the Western District of North Carolina was voted yesterday by the Senate judiciary committee.

The appointment was protested by Senator Bailey (Democrat), North Carolina, and the committee lined up behind him, 10 to 7.

Mr. Jonas, a former member of the House of Representatives, has been serving under a recess appointment for about a year.

Committee members said the unfavorable report was based largely on a statement Mr. Jonas made while in the House assailing the work of the special elections investigation committee headed by Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, in North Carolina.

New $750,000,000 Relief Bill in Senate

(United Press.)

A new $750,000,000 Democratic relief bill was brought into the Senate yesterday as both houses of Congress resounded to furious political warfare between the administration and the Democrats.

The Senate manufactures committee reported out favorably the relief measure which was introduced by Senator Robert F. Wagner (Democrat), New York, it is similar to the La Follette-Costigan bill defeated by the Senate this month, except administration of relief would not be so centralized.

has been closed since the resignation of Mr. Ball, a group of private citizens early yesterday morning guaranteed the $400,000 bond required by the court. The oath of office was then administered to Mr. Jesse by County Clerk William H. Duncan.

Those who guaranteed this bond Ashton C. Jones, Arlington County real estate man; Capt. Crandal Mackey, former Commonwealth's attorney; Carroll Pierce, president of the Citizen's National Bank of Alexandria, and C. C. Lamond, vice president of the Clarendon Trust Co.

Shortly after this bond had been approved and the oath had been administered to Mr. Jesse telephonic notice was received that the $400,000 bond for Mr. Jesse requested from the National Surety Bonding Co., of New York, had been approved.

This technically placed the new treasurer under $800,000, double the amount required by the Arlington County Circuit Court. Judge Walter T. McCarthy said last night that the personal bondsmen would be released from their obligation, but that this could not be done until the Commonwealth's attorney had seen all the papers.

After taking office Mr. Jesse appointed John R. Omohundro as deputy treasurer and Jesse Cheyney as clerk. Mr. Cheyney served under the Ball regime for about six years. Mr. Omohundro was formerly connected with the Fred N. Windridge automobile firm, of Rosslyn.

Mr. Omohundro fills the vacancy caused by the retirement of D. R. Bolen, who had held the office of deputy treasurer for 17 years under Mr. Ball.

His retirement became automatic with the former treasurer's resignation. Others who went out of office at the same time are Mrs. Rose D Smith, Mrs. William Bolen, Mrs. Edna Reid, Mrs. Blanche Bolen, Mrs Margaret Stickley, Mrs. Viola Cummings and Mrs. Edna B. Crosson.

Other changes were forecast in the treasurer's office by Mr. Jesse. He said he would install a modern accounting system which would make a daily balance of the books possible. For the present the office will be operated with the new deputy treasurer and one clerk. Other appointments will be made later.

A special meeting will be held by the county board this morning to sign the necessary papers for the $100,000 loan and to sign the March pay roll. This meeting will be held at 8:30 o'clock. After the meeting Mr. Jesse and Mr. Fellows will go to the Citizens National Bank of Alexandria and the First National Bank of Alexandria to complete arrangements for the emergency loan.

The county will borrow $50,000 from each of the banks on 60-day notes at 6 per cent interest.

Full details of the $40,000 loan for the county school board were completed yesterday. This sum was borrowed from the Citizens National Bank of Alexandria on a 30-day note at 6 per cent interest.

peace, declared, "Unless the hostilities in the Shanghai area are stopped this conference will not be held."

American Minister Hugh R. Wilson, whose negotiations over the week-end with Sir John, the ministers of the other great powers and the representatives of the combatant nations assisted in maturing the settlement plan, formally set forth the support of the American Government in a letter to Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league.

"The Government of the United States," Mr. Wilson wrote, "is happy to associate itself with this effort for the reestablishment of peace.

"My Government will instruct its representatives in Shanghai, in the event that this offer is acceptable to the Chinese and Japanese governments, to cooperate with the representative of the other powers."

American support for the plan already had been announced at a hastily summoned public session of the council by Sir John Simon, who at the same time pledged the fullest collaboration of Great Britain.

The peace proposal was phrased thus:

"A conference would be set up immediately at Shanghai, composed of representatives of the governments of China and Japan, together with the representatives of the interested great powers, for the purpose of bringing about a final conclusion of the fighting and restoration of peaceful conditions in the Shanghai area.

"This conference would be undertaken on the basis that:

"1. Japan has no political or territorial designs and no intention of establishing a Japanese settlement at Shanghai or otherwise advancing the exclusive interests of the Japanese; and

"2. China enters the conference on the basis that the safety and integrity tlements must be preserved under arrangements which will secure those areas and their residents from danger; and

"3. The meeting of this conference is, of course, subject to making local arrangements for the cessation of hostilities. The council trusts that this will be brought about very speedily.

"It is proposed that the military, naval and civilian authorities of the principal powers represented at Shanghai will give all possible assistance in consolidating these arrangements."

A final paragraph of the plan said that it was "aimed at the immediate reestablishment of peace in the Shanghai area without prejudice to, or qualification of, any position previously taken up by the League of Nations or any power in Sino-Japanese affairs."

It was understood this was added at the request of the American Government that its hands might be left free in regard to the United States policy already enunciated concerning Manchuria and other phases of the Far Eastern problem.

In presenting the proposal Sir John Simon said it had been agreed to at conferences aboard the British flagship at Shanghai.

Prosecution Rests Case At Hearing for Police

After hearing the testimony of Inspector O. T. Davis and Lieut. Oscar J. Letterman, the prosecution rested its case yesterday at the Police Trial Board against the four policemen charged with extortion.

The defense will state their case this morning at 10 o'clock when the trial will be resumed. The police charged are E. W. Gore; F. J. Hospidor, F. R. Gue and O. L. Fisher, all of the Fourth Precinct.

I. C. C. VOTES LOANS TO AID 12 RAILROADS

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday authorized loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to aid a number of railroads.

Loans authorized included: Missouri Pacific, $2,800,000; St. Louis-San Francisco, $2,805,175; Erie, $4,458,000; Alabama, Tennessee & Northern, $275,000; Nickel Plate, $9,300,000.

Also loans to Chicago & Eastern Illinois, $3,629,500; Chicago & Northwestern, $7,600,000; Southern, $7,500,000; Central of Georgia, $1,418,700; Mobile & Ohio, $785,000; Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault St. Marie, $2,300,000

Other Applications Received.

In addition, the commission received applications from other roads. They were: Aberdeen & Rockfish Railroad Co., $127,000; receivers of the Georgia & Florida Railroad, $1,000,000; the New York Central, $7,000,000; Fort Smith & Western, $250,000; Bamberger Electric Railroad, $100,000; Meridian & Bigbee, $1,250,000; Fonda, Johnston & Gloversville, $315,000; Salt Lake & Utah, $500,000; Pittsburgh & West Virginia, $7,541,032; Denver & Rio Grande Western, $4,000,000; Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville, $2,500,000.

M. & O. Asks $1,500,000.

The Mobile & Ohio applied to the Railroad Credit Corporation for a loan of $1,500,000. That corporation conditionally approved an immediate loan of $785,000, which is the sum the commission approved yesterday. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is expected to advance the money until the Railroad Credit Corporation secures funds.

The Central of Georgia asked for $2,583,322, and the Soo Line asked for $15,329,608.84. Along with the Soo Line application, one for the Wisconsin Central Railway Co. was filed asking $696,660, but the commission deferred action.

Meanwhile, it was announced the reconstruction corporation on February 26 obtained $18,694,877 from the Treasury making its total cash to date $48,345,740.

$794,000 Is Sought For Army Building

House Bill Would Obtain Funds for Four Posts In and Near City.

Congress yesterday was asked to appropriate $794,000 for permanent construction at Walter Reed General Hospital, Bolling Field, Anacostia and Fort Myer, Va., as part of the Army's $15,000,000 housing program. The bill was offered by Representative W. Frank James (Republican), Michigan, former chairman of the House military affairs committee.

Of $420,000 proposed for Walter Reed Hospital construction, $300,000 would be spent for an addition to the nurses' quarters and the rest for an apartment house for eighteen noncommissioned officers.

At Bolling Field $274,000 would be spent, including $54,000 for seven noncommissioned officers' quarters; $30,000 for completion of the dispensary, $45,000 for completion of the post exchange, $50,000 for an officers' mess hall, and $95,000 for enlargement of the central heating plant.

For Fort Myer, $100,000 was proposed to erect barracks for the accommodation of 121 men.

PARLEY ON VESSEL BOOSTS PEACE HOPE

they discussed various proposals, including the temporary evacuation of Woosung.

"Both sides have forwarded the proposals to their governments. The Chinese reply is expected today. The Japanese reply is expected on March 2, when the next meeting will take place and will include the military commanders."

The peace proposals took a more definite nature in diplomatic negotiations in Geneva, however. The council of the league, which has apprehensively seen approaching the plenary session of the assembly next Thursday, with its threat of economic sanctions in the offing, has been plying the Japanese and Chinese delegates with peace offers.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, has been in close contact with the United States during all the peace moves through Hugh R. Wilson, American Minister to Switzerland, who acts as liaison agent for the State Department at the league. Secretary Stimson all day Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday was kept au courant with the trend of the peace moves and on Saturday reviewed the prospects with Japanese Ambassador Debouchi in a secret conference at Woodley.

Agreed in Principle.

The league conferences have finally resulted in an agreement "on principle" which goes further than the military truce arranged by British Admiral Kelly. The British foreign secretary, Sir John Simon, who has been following the "peace offensive" in Geneva, dramatically announced at a public session of the council last night that China and Japan have agreed "in principle" on a "mutual and simultaneous" withdrawal from Shanghai.

However, the closest interdependence between the league's action at Geneva and the peace efforts of the other neutral powers at Shanghai have been followed in bringing about a temporary lull in the fighting which, it is hoped, will be productive of a general cessation of all further hostilities.

Indicate Favorable Outcome.

Reports from Shanghai yesterday of a very definite lapse in the intensity of military operations indicated a favorable outcome to the peace tentatives now going on. American Consul General Edwin C. Cunningham announced that the Verdun of Shanghai, Chapel, "remained comparatively quiet, except for occasional short bursts of rifle and machine-gun fire."

He also reported:

"Kiangwan village appears to have been definitely occupied by the Japanese. The Japanese claim that they have captured numerous Chinese prisoners in Kiangwan."

WALL STREET BEAR QUIZ SET FOR TODAY

Senator Norbeck Announces New York Attorney as First Witness.

(Associated Press.)

Spurred by Democratic jibes that it is seeking to find "an alibi for the panic," the administration will begin today its inquiry into the operations of Wall street bear raiders.

Chairman Norbeck, of the Senate banking committee, yesterday promised a "thorough investigation." He announced that William B. Perkins, New York attorney, will be heard first.

On the floor of the Senate, Barkley, of Kentucky, a member of the committee, and Connally, of Texas, both Democrats, ridiculed administration contentions that bear raiders were responsible for the low prices of securities.

Senator Walcott (Republican), of Connecticut, who has said that a group of professional speculators has been deliberately driving down prices by short selling operations, was on his way back to the Capital with the list of names of those he believes responsible.

15 on Walcott List.

It is understood that about 15 men are on the Walcott list and there is every indication now that the committee will insist upon a full inquiry to determine to just what extent the professional short sellers of securities have been responsible for drops in prices that have followed upward movements resulting from various steps in the reconstruction program.

"Why doesn't the President get his eyes off Wall street?" asked Connally in the Senate. "The prosperity and well-being of the millions of American people scattered about this country from coast to coast is not dependent upon some chalk marks of speculators on the Wall street gambling boards."

Senator Barkley asserted that the inquiry into bear raiders was "simply an attempt to find an alibi for the public."

Full Inquiry Sought.

Barkley later said off the floor he would welcome the investigation to disclose just what there is to the whole stock market situation. He joined Senators Blaine, of Wisconsin, and Brookhart, of Iowa, both Republicans, in demanding also that the banking committee inquire into the operations of the bulls in the upward swing of prices in 1928 and 1929.

Senator Norbeck said the committee would decide after a preliminary hearing, probably today, whether to go into the stock market situation and a hearing of the "bear raiders" listed by Walcott. He did emphasize that he did not believe it would be possible to stop short selling. Perkins testified last week before the House judiciary committee. Senator Norbeck described him as one "considered to be exceptionally well informed as to the vicious practices and serious effects of short selling."

Before the House agriculture committee a vigorous protest was voiced by representatives of the cotton exchange and traders to a bill empowering the Secretary of Agriculture to limit or prohibit short selling on the commodity exchanges.

Repeating in general the opposition arguments advanced by grain spokesmen, Russell Clark, president of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, said:

"It would mean a further addition to the present unsettlement of our financial structure and would be a dangerous and inadvisable experiment which, in our opinion, would necessarily result in very harmful consequences."

William S. Dowdell, vice president of the New York Cotton Exchange, said "we have never heard of a bear raid." He added:

"We wish to assure you that our house is in order and that we are serving the public as efficiently as we possibly can. This is no time to try any new experiment. There is so little speculative short selling that it doesn't amount to a row of pins."

BUS TERMINAL RULE DELAY TO BE FOUGHT

P. U. C. Finds Companies Have Failed to Find New Stations.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday took steps to prevent postponement of compliance with its order prohibiting interstate buses from loading or discharging passengers in the congested area after April 1. The action was taken because of the dilatoriness of the bus operators in obtaining terminals outside the banned district and in view of reported plans to block, or at least to delay the effectiveness of the order.

A supplemental order was issued late yesterday directing each class A bus operator or owner to answer, under oath, four specific questions on or before March 8.

So far as the commission has been able to determine, no interstate bus operator has so much as obtained a site for a terminal outside the congested area, although only a month remains before they will be required to abandon their present depots. The original order setting April 1 as the deadline was issued early last summer, following a public hearing.

Two letters have been addressed to the operators previously without bringing any appreciable response. The action taken yesterday probably will be followed by even more drastic steps if the commission learns that the bus lines are seeking to evade or delay the order. Reports have persisted that several of them have planned to ask for a continuance, while another group intends to seek an injunction in court at the last moment, thus tying up the order in much the same fashion as the taxicab meter order has been delayed by litigation.

The three questions addressed yesterday to the operators are, in brief, as follows:

1. What arrangements have been made to establish a terminal where the bus or buses of your line may take on or discharge passengers outside of the congested area?

2. If any such arrangements have been made, you are directed to advise the commission specifically as to the location where you propose to have the buses stop.

3. If you have not yet made any such arrangements, you will state the reasons why you have failed to do so.

4. If you have not made such arrangements where do you propose to load or discharge your bus passengers after April 1?

There are about a score of interState bus lines operating in the District, and most of them now have their terminals within the congested area. After August 1, this year, they will not be permitted to load or unload passengers on the curb in the second traffic zone, though off-street terminals will be allowed in this district.

GOETHE IS LAUDED WITH WASHINGTON

German Envoy Eulogizes Both in Address at American U.

Celebration of the Washington Bicentennial in America and commemoration of the centennial of the death of Goethe in Germany this year ought to serve to help each country more adequately to interpret and understand the other nation, according to Herr Friedrich W. von Prittwitz und Gaffron, the German Ambassador.

Speaking at American University ceremonies yesterday in observance of the Goethe centennial, the ambassador declared that Washington and Goethe were very different, Washington being primarily a man of action; Goethe primarily a man of thought. Yet the two personalities, he said, stood out in their own generation, as conspicuous representatives of the minds of their own countries. Both countries are observing in some way the greatness of both men, the great German and the great American, he explained.

Dr. Eugen Kuehnemann, professor of philosophy of the University of Breslau, who is lecturing in this country before leading colleges and universities, connected Washington and Goethe, by pointing to a picture hanging in a bedroom at Mount Vernon, depicting a scene from one of Goethe's works. Dr. Kuehnemann paid tribute to Goethe as one of the "four immortals" of literature, the others being Homer, Dante and Shakespeare.

The speakers were introduced by Dr. Lucius C. Clark, chancellor, and Dr. George B. Woods, dean of the college of liberal arts of American University.

JAPANESE, IN NEW DRIVE, SET FIRE TO CHINESE TOWN

they had no knowledge of negotiations at Geneva for an armistice.

A few hundred other Japanese soldiers stepped shore from a transport at Woosung. Heavy artillery and horses came with them in large numbers.

Japanese troops were gathered again at Woosung yesterday and were within lines there this morning.

The Chinese held their lines on the big front from Chapei to Woosung. Their machine gunners and riflemen kept up a running fire against the enemy, but there was only slight action from the Chinese big guns.

Japanese military headquarters were moved from a spot northeast of Kiangwan into the race course, placing Lieut. Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda, present commander of the expeditionary force, in a more central position to direct the greatly broadened attack that broke loose after the morning fogs lifted.

Thick Rolls of Fumes.

Long tubes of smoke-producing material shot thick rolls of fumes along the ground around Woosung as the Japanese apparently planned to envelope the Chapei and Kiangwan fronts with artificial clouds.

Previously, at 2 a. m., a wave of Chinese infantrymen swept across Chapei and by desperate fighting broke down the Japanese defense in a surprise attack.

The Japanese quickly called for assistance from their big guns and soon blasting shells stopped the assaulting infantrymen.

Then the Japanese reformed and put on a counter attack in which they recovered most of the ground they had lost, but the Chinese held on to the Paitse Bridge, north of Chapei.

It was the fourth time they had taken the bridge since the fighting started. They armed it with machine guns and appeared ready to fight it out all day.

Warn Against Fresh Troops.

While negotiations were going on to put an end to the fighting the Japanese gave official notification that if the Chinese attempted to bring up reinforcements they would carry the warfare inland 50 miles with their squadrons of bombing planes.

Japanese Consul General Karamatsu Mural notified Mayor Wu Yen Chen that this operation to prevent reinforcement movements would be "on a scale not even approached by the hostilities thus far."

He asserted that the Shanghai-Nanking Railway would be destroyed as far west as Soochow, 50 miles away, and that the tracks of the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway would be bombarded along the 50 miles stretch from Shanghai to Kashing.

At Mayor Wu's office this notification was taken as an ultimatum. Chinese officials said that any such action would "result in a reign of terror" throughout the area.

Cemetery Is Captured.

The Japanese command announced they captured a cemetery west of Hongkew Park and occupied positions near the American-owned Southern Baptist Mission Hospital.

The Baptist Mission came in for additional damage when a shell tore a hole through the wall of one of the school buildings. The property, owned by the Southern Baptist Church of Richmond, Va., has been damaged several times previously and on each occasion a protest has been made by American authorities.

During yesterday Vice Admiral Sir Howard Kelly, British naval commander, presided over a peac conference aboard his flagship the Kent. Among those present were Vice Admiral Kitchisabauro Nomura and Rear Admiral Yosuke Matjuoka, representing Japan, and Dr. Wellington Koo, former Chinese foreign minister.

Wet Bloc Petition Totals 137 Names

Eight Now Required to Force House Vote on State Control.

(Associated Press.)

Signers of the wet bloc petition for a House vote on a State-control prohibition amendment yesterday afternoon reached a total of 137 of the required 145.

On the first three days 127 indorsements were obtained. The ten new names yesterday were:

Representatives Britten, of Illinois; Sullivan, of Pennsylvania; Niedringhaus, of Missouri; Cooke, of New York; Carter, of California, and Gifford and Martin, of Massachusetts (Republicans), and Chavez, of New Mexico; McMillan, of South Carolina, and Harlan, of Ohio (Democrats).

'Baby Bonds' Held New Blow at Banks

Representative Lozier Hits Treasury Funds Issue in House Speech.

(Associated Press.)

The Government's plan to sell "baby bonds" was described yesterday by Representative Lozier (Democrat), of Missouri, as "another punch below the belt" that "the administration is getting ready to give to the small banks."

"For ten years these banks have been mercilessly exploited by the big city banks with the full knowledge and tacit approval of the administration," he told the House, adding:

"Secretary Mills has announced that the issue of these bonds will be 'unlimited.' That is to say, * * * they will not only be offered to the so-called hoarders, but all classes of investors will have an opportunity to purchase. This really means that people who are not now hoarders, but who have misgivings as to the general banking situation will be attracted by these Government securities and notwithstanding the low interest rate will be tempted to withdraw their savings or other deposits and invest the proceedings in baby bonds.

"The net result of the Hoover-Mills plan will be to withdraw from rural communities millions of dollars that are now so badly needed to strengthen banks.

NEW JERSEY POLICE TO QUIZ 3 IN KILLING

Officers on Way to Question Trio Held in Arlington as Murder Suspects.

County detective and State trooper are leaving Keyport, N. J., for Washington today to question three men arrested in a Virginia swamp by Arlington County police in connection with slaying of Jimmy Granato, rum-runner and racketeer of that city, according to a dispatch from the Associated Press. They notified Arlington County authorities following word of the arrest yesterday afternoon.

Granato, reputed Capone henchman, was found slain in an acid-filled grave at Brielle, N. J., on December 6 last. Chief Detective Harry B. Crooks, of Keyport, says the prisoners probably gave aliases.

The men were found prowling around the grounds of the Army-Navy Country Club. They gave their names as John Hebel, 29; Lewis Clark, 18, both of Lima, Ohio, and Andrew George Ackerman, 19, of East Rutherford, N. J. They are being held in the Arlington County Jail for investigation.

A number of watches, knives and other articles, including one gun, were found on the three men. The gun was found in the pocket of Clark. In the pocket of Ackerman was found a newspaper clipping of the New York Times, bearing date of December, giving an account of the murder Jimmie Granato, of Keyport, N. J.

Questioning Ackerman as to why he had this article, the police say that he said he met his brother in Florida some time ago, and he was asked to look up the man's brother and tell him about it.

According to the police, Clark confessed to entering a hardware store in McGuffey, Ohio, about a week ago. The other two denied having been with Clark at the time.

County police also have wired authorities in Lima and McGuffey, Ohio.

Pocketbook Is Stolen As Thief Climbs Fence

A pocket book containing $4 in cash and incidentals valued at $20 belonging to Eleanor Bartran, of 1631 Euclid street northwest, was stolen from a dresser in the bed room of her home Sunday night.

The thief climbed on a fence and reached through the bed room window that was standing open and stole the pocket book from the top of the dresser.

SENATOR ROBERT J. BULKLEY.

WHEN Robert J. Bulkley, of Cleveland, Ohio, announced his purpose to have Ohio elect him to the United States Senate, the announcement created a considerable stir, because there were two things which seemed to be wrong. One was that Mr. Bulkley was a political wet—not moist, but wet—and Ohio was the cradle of the Antisaloon League.

He won a smashing victory over his Republican opponent and when he came to Washington to sit in the Senate he was a center of attention. But those who thought to see him do unusual things which would attract notoriety have been disappointed. He has gone ahead doing his job of being a Senator since he was elected in 1930. His term expires in March next year, which means that he will come up for reelection this fall. He expects to be reelected.

The United States Capitol was not a strange place to the Democratic wet who upset the dry-Republican political machine of his native State, for he had been a member of the House for two terms from 1911 to 1915, and subsequently had been active in the war-machinery and served with other governmental agencies.

Senator Bulkley was born in Cleveland on October 8, 1880. He went to school there and to Harvard University. Returning to Cleveland he studied law in a law office, was admitted to the bar and began private practice. His law work, however, didn't engage his entire attention. He was interested in political affairs and in business ventures, including the Bulkley Building Co., of which he was president. He was president, too, of the Cleveland & Securities Co., and of other corporations, some of which owned valuable properties. He was married in 1909 and has a son and daughter.

Husband's Right to Dictate Family's Size Is Law Issue

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 29 (U.P.).—The right of a husband to dictate to his wife how many children she shall have became an issue today in a divorce trial of a clergyman and his 36-year-old wife "who wanted a boy."

The decision of the Rev. Israel H. Noe, dean of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral, that he "must develop spiritually, and that sexual relations were degrading," brought him into court today charged by his wife with willful desertion and "cruel and inhuman treatment."

Mrs. Noe, who said that after bearing two daughters, she wanted a male child, and that for three years her husband ignored her wishes and maintained a separate life within their house, told the court frankly about her married relationship with the dean.

Modishly dressed, and speaking clearly to a thronged courtroom, Mrs. Noe said:

"I've pleaded, begged, argued and asked others to talk to him. I've done everything to make him see we should have a boy."

Mrs. Noe said that she had visited a Baltimore physician, who had advised her she was physically fit to bear children.

Dean Noe, in his answer to his wife's suit, pleaded that his coolness was prompted by medical opinion that Mrs. Noe's life would be endangered by further childbirth.

The first witness today was J. L. Cambios, of Big Stone Gap, Va., Mrs Noe's brother, who testified to receiving word that his sister contemplated obtaining a divorce, and that he talked over the family quarrel with the dean.

He was informed, he said, that Dean Noe does not believe in birth control, and that he feared endangering his wife's life if he maintained normal relations with her.

Mrs. Noe claims that, in order to arouse her husband's jealousy, she informed him that other men were interested in her. This, she said, made Dr. Noe angry, and he refused to believe her subsequent protestations that she made such statements only "to arouse his love."

MACHADO LIBERALS APPARENT WINNERS

Central District Idea for Havana Is Leading on First Returns.

Havana, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—First indications, and they were but indirect ones, that the Liberals of President Gerardo Machado were winning in Sunday's municipal primary elections, came today from Havana returns.

Unofficial counts showed the Liberal regulars had won their way with the federal form of government for the Cuban capital, that is, the "central district" idea, which was put into practice a year ago.

The "districtales" apparently had obtained 110 delegates to the municipal assemblies while the faction for repeal of the "central district" law had managed to elect only 16 delegates.

No official return from the nation-wide primaries will be available before Friday when the superior electoral tribunal will have had time to pass on the result.

Meanwhile charges of fraud and coercion and ballot-buying came from various sources and it was held probable the vote in Havana and Havana Province at least would be contested.

One death marked election Sunday, a liberal being shot in Santa Clara province. There were numerous other disorders despite the presence of armed troops at all polling places but no other fatalities.

Newspaper observers said today supporters of Clemente Vazquez Bello, one of three presidential aspirants among the liberals, apparently had won.

Cane Sugar Delegates Gather.

San Juan, P. R., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Delegates from every cane sugar producing country in the world were here today for the fourth Triennial Congress of the International Society of Sugar Cane Technologists, which opens tomorrow. Delegates from Australia, British Guiana, Trinidad, Barbados, Hawaii, Java, Germany, the Philippines, Natal, Great Britain, Queensland, Peru, Santo Domingo, Cuba and the United States were expected to answer the roll call.

Bishop of Nassau Enthroned.

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 29 (U.P.).—John Daughish was enthroned as the new Bishop of Nassau in a colorful ceremony at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday. Government officials attended and many Americans were in the large audience. After the ceremony thousands assembled at the bishop's residence, where he blessed the people and the city. Bishop Daughish was British naval chaplain for 20 years, serving with Admiral Beatty during the World War.

BANKHEAD'S OUSTER FROM SENATE URGED

ings' recommendations, a summary of the evidence collected by the committee in the contest brought against Senator Bankhead's election by J. Thomas Heflin, Alabama's colorful former senator.

Senator Heflin ran against Senator Bankhead as an independent "Jeffersonian Democrat" and according to the official count was defeated by about 50,000 votes.

Informed of the contents of Senator Hastings' report, he said:

"I don't see how he could do otherwise under the facts. We've got an awfully strong case. I said at the outset that the least the Senate could do was declare the seat vacant.

"We have shown that 5,700 out of 6,000 election officials violated every safeguard the law has put around the ballot."

Senator Bankhead refused to comment, but his friends said he was confident of the outcome of the contest.

The subcommittee has been working on the contest for a year and a half. Senator Hastings' former charges of irregularities were based on a recount of the votes, which showed many law violations, but few material changes in the count.

Senator Bankhead was seated last December, when the committee found it impossible to complete its consideration of the contest in time for a report at the opening of Congress.

The GIRL About Town

THE Wakefield Masque last week at Constitution Hall was quite different from what I had expected, being entirely symbolic of the Spirit of Wakefield, instead of depicting actual scenes from the birthplace of George Washington. I confess that being an allegory it was somewhat over my head, although I was able to appreciate the impressive manner in which it was carried out. Margaret Anglin, as the Spirit, was especially noteworthy because of her rich, well modulated voice, which resounded clearly through the great hall. The pageant was most reverent throughout, and the cast ably followed the spirit of the author.

The drills at Fort Myer have enjoyed great popularity this winter, due to the fine horsemanship exhibited, and the unusual clemency of the weather. The one on Friday was attended by a distinguished group and the performance was worthy of the audience. In the Cootes' box were the Vice President and Ambassador Claudel, as well as other members of the Diplomatic Corps. Youthful devotees of riding were numerous and enthusiastic, and the rest of the audience was ready with applause to show its approval. Among feminine lovers of horses whom I saw were Mrs. Frank Andrews, the wife of the "flying colonel," and Mary Louise Watson, whose brother is stationed at Fort Myer.

MRS. HENRY ROUSSEAU, widow of Admiral Rousseau, returned to Washington recently and has leased a house on Twenty-ninth street in Georgetown until her historic old house in R street, near Wisconsin avenue, is vacated. She is fortunate in having an old-fashioned garden behind the house, which she has restored, giving the surroundings an atmosphere of natural charm. I motored by the place last week and was surprised to see that the old reservoir adjoining Mrs. Rosseau's property was being demolished, after nearly three-quarters of a century of usefulness, to make room for a modern structure.

As mi-careme approaches, social events have acquired a more intellectual aspect, among which the most important to lovers of art will be the opening private view of the exhibit of portraits of Washington and those closely associated with him at the Corcoran Gallery on March 5. The supposition is that the works of Gilbert Stuart and the three Peales—Charles Willson, James and Rembrandt—will figure largely in the exhibit. This exhibit follows one of portraits and landscapes by the well-known Richard Merryman, whose work received most favorable criticism.

I SAW Elvira Johnson walking up Connecticut avenue the other day, looking very chic, as usual. Her family have opened their house in Twenty-first street. Capt. Johnson has been ordered here from Long Beach and is up for promotion to the rank of rear admiral. I saw Marshall Chandler, another attractive Navy junior, with her fiance, Lieut. Leslie Downing, who is stationed at Fort Myer. Speaking of the Navy, while Commander Scott MacFarlane, one of the Navy's eminent torpedo experts, is at sea, Barbara, his wife, the talented daughter of the Blair Thaws, is painting in Portugal, and will soon go to spend the early spring with her sister, Donna Beatrice Theodoli, in the latter's villa near Rome.

New Police Squad Plan Starts Today

Glassford Order Centralizes Special Investigation Unit.

The order of Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford centralizing the special investigation squad goes into effect at 8 o'clock this morning. The squad is known as the liquor squad, but will be called upon to make investigations in other lines when the occasion arises.

The personnel assigned to the detection and prevention of vice will be divided into two groups, one dealing with gambling and the other with enforcement of the prohibition law, and all assignments to cases and investigations will be made from the central bureau, with Inspector J. F. Beckett in command.

The following policemen will be detailed to the central bureau at headquarters from the precincts to place this reorganization into effect: Sergts. R. A. Johnson, A. I. Bullock and R. C. Speith, and Privates B. F. Day, H. G. Bauer, G. E. Thornton, C. S. Dwyer, W. C. Wrenn, E. C. O'Meara, C. H. Warder, C. P. Flynn, L. A. Howard, R. E. Blick, C. D. Schamp and W. A. Schotter.

Hoover's Ohio Foes of 1928 To Back Him at Convention

Senator Fess and Col. Thompson Among Delegates Named by Brown Who Fought President 4 Years Ago; Sons of 2 Presidents on List.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A factionally united Republican party in Ohio will throw its support to President Hoover for renomination if the slate of delegates and alternates to the national convention announced tonight by Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, the President's campaign manager, is a criterion.

In the list are many of the leaders of the Senator Willis faction which battled the President four years ago for control of the Ohio delegation. They were anti-Hoover candidates for delegate-at-large then, but all were defeated.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, national chairman, who headed the anti-Hoover list of delegate candidates four years ago, heads the list of Hoover delegates this year. Others who were aligned with Senator Fess in the anti-Hoover group, but who are on the Hoover list this year are Col. Carmi A. Thompson, Cleveland; Mrs. Wilma Sinclair Levin, Steubenville, national committeewoman for Ohio; E. W. Edwards, Cincinnati capitalist, and former Representative Henry T. Bannon, Portsmouth.

Mr. Brown also stated that Arthur L. Garford, Elyria, will be the Hoover delegates' second choice for President. Selection of a second choice is mandatory under the Ohio law. In this capacity Mr. Garford will be performing the same role as he did four years ago.

Mr. Brown himself is to be one of the eleven delegates-at-large.

Joseph R. Nutt, Cleveland banker and treasurer of the national committee, is another. The list also contains the names of sons of two former Presidents, James A. Garfield, Mentor, and State Senator Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati. Mr. Taft is the only Hoover delegate-at-large of four years ago who appears on this year's slate.

Petitions to enter the names of the delegates for the May primary will be placed in circulation tomorrow and Brown hopes to have them ready for filing by Saturday.

NEW PAY-CUT BILL PUT BEFORE HOUSE

Hoch Fathers Measure to Slash Salaries by Graduated System.

A new Federal pay-cut measure, with novel provisions for curtailing salaries in excess of 2,000, was introduced yesterday in the House by Representative Homer Hoch (Republican), of Kansas.

The bill, the sixth to be offered at this session of Congress, proposes reductions graduated in a manner similar to the scale applied under the income tax law. Representative Hoch contends it meets objections raised to previous bills.

Wages would be slashed by the following method:

That part of the salary between 2,000 and 3,000 would suffer a 10 ptr cent cut.

That part between 3,000 and $4,000 a 15 per cent cut.

That part between $4,000 and $5,000 a 20 per cent cut.

Inconsistency Held Avoided.

"This is not only fair, but avoids the inconsistent results which would follow from some of the other salary reduction bills," Representative Hoch said. "Some of these other bills would actually result in some people receiving more salary than others who now get higher salaries than they do."

The bill was referred to Representative John J. Cochran's House expenditures committee, the same group that tabled four earlier pay cut measures. A fifth salary reduction bill is now resting peacefully in Senator Smith W. Brookhart's civil service subcommittee, with no prospects of an early report.

Meanwhile opponents of pay reduction were rallying for an effort to strike from the Treasury and Postoffice supply bill sections prohibiting pay increases, promotions and filling of vacancies without presidential sanction.

Not discouraged by previous setbacks, Representative Fiorello H. LaGuardia (Republican), New York, who unsuccessfully tried to strike this clause from the last appropriation bill, will make the same effort when that item is reached in the Treasury and Postoffice measure.

Kansan Explains Proposal.

If the LaGuardia motion does not go through, Representative James M. Mead (Democrat), New York, chairman of the committee on postoffices and post roads, will move to amend the provision to forestall no pay increase restrictions for field service employes drawing less than $2,000. He also will ask that the postoffice be exempted from nonfilling of vacancy provisions, he said yesterday.

Representative Hoch, in introducing his pay cut bill, declared his proposal will meet the opposition urged against other bills, affecting the comparatively small salaries.

Representative Hoch's salary cut proposal came at a time when many thought the Federal workers had successfully stemmed the tide of pay reduction agitation, and Congress itself had transferred the whole issue of governmental retrenchment to a special economy committee.

Chairman Stone Defends High Cooperative Salary

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Stone of the Farm Board yesterday replied to criticisms that salaries paid to cooperative officials were too high, but Representative Ludlow (Democrat), Indiana, said the reply "is no answer at all."

Ludlow, citing salaries of E. F. Creekmore, vice president and general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, and others had asked whether Stone thought it might be wise for Congress to place a limit of $15,000 on the pay of men working for cooperatives.

"My best judgment is that such legislation would work irreparable harm to the cooperative movement, and I am therefore against it," Stone wrote Ludlow.

"For cooperative marketing to succeed," Chairman Stone said, "the thing most needed is competent and honest management. "The only way a cooperative can get such management is by paying salaries comparable to those offered by private business institutions engaged in the same line and handling a comparable volume of the product."

Ludlow said: "The fact remains that these padded pay rolls, with salaries ranging from $20,000 to $75,000 a year, are an outrageous imposition on the farmers who have to bear the burden, and the taxpayers in general, and no amount of explanation can erase that fact."

2 HELD IN OUTBREAK OF HAWAII ATTACKS

One Prisoner Is Paroled Offender; Five Other Suspects Freed.

Honolulu, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Two men, one a paroled convict, were held today by police in their investigation of a new outbreak of sex crimes that have aroused Honolulu in recent months.

Five other men, questioned concerning an assault Saturday night upon Mrs. Kathleen Hope, crippled wife of a submarine machinist, at her cottage near Waikiki Beach, were released when they established alibis.

The paroled prisoner, a Japanese, was arrested late last night. He is 27 years old and answers the general description given by the victim in a glimpse she obtained of her assailant's face when his mask slipped. She thought him an Oriental and probably a Japanese.

The suspect served a term in Oahu Prison for burglary and later another sentence for a sex offense, from which he was paroled. Chief of Police C. F. Weeber said he was arrested as a matter of routine and there was no evidence to show he was implicated.

Edward Wong, a 23-year-old Chinese, was freed today. Mrs. Hope picked his photograph from a police exhibit, but said she could not identify him positively.

Another Chinese youth, unfavorably known to the police, also was held for investigation, although he furnished an alibi.

Combined forces of the police and the Navy shore patrol continued to search the city for the assailant, while Harold Kay, deputy attorney general, participated with police officials as the representative of Gov. Lawrence M. Judd.

Meanwhile preparations went ahead for the trial of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and three others charged with second degree murder of Joseph Kahahawai, one of five men accused of attacking Mrs. Massie September 12. It is scheduled for March 10, but may be postponed if Clarence Darrow, noted attorney, becomes associated with the defense.

2 Alleged Holdups Held in Heavy Bail

Fegan, Former Policeman, and Downey Ordered to Post $35,000.

Two men were held in bonds of $35,000 yesterday when they were arraigned in Police Court on charges of robbery. They were Harry C. P. Fegan, said to be a former policeman, and Bernard L. Downey.

One charge against them was that they held up Frank W. Clark, 1444 Harvard street northwest, a clerk in the Plaza Hotel, last Thursday. At that time Clark reported that he had been robbed of money and jewelry totaling $600.

Fegan and Downey and a third man, Eddie Matthews, 42 years old, were also charged with robbing Dr. William C. Furr, 200 E street northeast, of $3 in cash and a watch and chain valued at $40 on February 22. All three are being held for the action of the grand jury.

Mark Hellinger Admits Wife Is Seeking Divorce

Pittsburgh, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Mark Hellinger, New York newspaper columnist, said tonight that his wife, Gladys Glad, the actress, had filed suit for divorce in Nogales, Mexico.

ACCUSED FAMILY IN HONOR SLAYING

Young Democrats Speak Tomorrow

Will Reply to Addresses of Republicans in Open Meeting.

The Young Democrats Club will meet tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock at the Woman's National Democratic Club, 1526 New Hampshire avenue. At the meeting young Democrats will answer the appeals made to young people by Republican elders. Excerpts from speeches of outstanding Republicans to young Republicans will be read by Democratic "proxies," and each will be answered by two selected young Democrats, who are allowed four minutes each.

Miss Sue S. White will read excerpts from a speech by Robert H. Lucas, executive chairman of the Republican national committee, which will be answered by Caroline Thompson and Harry Kay. J. Errington Lloyd will read a speech by Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister of the Vice President, and Roland Rice and Nina Jones will answer. A. B. Caldwell will read a speech by Senator Simeon Fess and Marvin Cox and Elizabeth Wheeler will answer.

At the close of the program there will be opportunity for other young Democrats to refute the arguments of the Republican speakers. Arthur C. Perry, president of the Young Democrats Club, extends an invitation to the public.

People can take advantage of your offer the same day it appears in a Post Classified Ad. Phone National 4205.

First Lady Attends Mrs. Coffin's Rites

Brunswick, Ga., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. Herbert Hoover attended funeral services for her friend, Mrs. Howard E. Coffin, on Sapelo Island today. She was accompanied by Dr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, and Mrs. Boone.

The services were conducted in the open beneath the great oaks which shade the front of the Coffin plantation home. After the funeral service the body was taken aboard the Coffins' private yacht, Zapala, to Frederica on St. Simon's Island, where burial services were conducted.

During the funeral service at Sapelo, Mrs. Hoover stood with bowed head. She did not attend the burial but went aboard the motorship Sequoia, of the Department of Commerce, to continue her cruise down the Atlantic coast to Miami, Fla.

George Washington Essay Contest News

Theater Treat for Writers of Compositions Moved Up to March 12.

The big show at the Rialto Theater in honor of the contestants in The Post George Washington Essay Contest, given through the courtesy of the Rialto management, will be held on Saturday, March 12, instead of March 19, as announced in an error in The Sunday Post.

This welcome news brings the big show a whole week nearer to the great joy of the contestants. It is given as a special reward for all the contestants for their efforts in entering the contest.

Many applications for tickets to this free show in honor of The Post George Washington Essay Contest arrived at The Post yesterday. A new mehod of distributing the tickets is announced herewith.

A ticket to the show will be given to every contestant calling at the office of The Junior Post in The Washington Post Building on Saturday, March 5, between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m. Tickets will be mailed to contestants living outside of Washington upon receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

After the distribution of the show tickets to entrants in the George Washington Essay Contest any remaining tickets will be distributed to members of The Junior Post clubs, including members of The Junior Post Writers Club, the Knighthood of Youth and the George Washington Junior Citizens. Members of these clubs must either call in person on next Saturday for these tickets or send in a stamped, self-addressed return envelope for the same.

Boys and girls under 10 years of age may ask for tickets for escorts as well.

Entrants in the contest are reminded that only two weeks now remain before their essays must be in the hands of the judges. The contest will close at midnight on March 14.

Already a corps of workers under the direction of The Post Essay Editor is busy with the task of sorting the essays in age groups preparatory to their submission to the board of judges for their final decisions as to which entrants have captured the 108 prizes into which the $1,000 prize money has been divided.

Once more the terms of the contest are repeated for the benefit of late comers into the contest. The contest is open to students in the public, private and parochial students schools in Washington and nearby Virginia and Maryland who have not yet reached their nineteenth birthdays. Four first prizes of $100 will be given to the leaders in each age group, with four second prizes of $25 and 25 prizes of $5 in each age group as well.

The essays must not be more than 500 words long although they may be less than 500 words. The essays must be original in theme, not copies from books of reference or from other sources, be written or typewritten neatly on one side of the paper only and signed with the full names, ages, addresses and schools of the senders.

Each essay received must be countersigned with the name of a parent or teacher attesting that the essay is the sole work of the student submitting it. Positively no essay will be considered in the contest which does not have this counter-signature on it.

The Washington Post deeply regrets that the area of the contest includes only Washington, Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties in Maryland and Arlington and Fairfax Counties in Virginia as well as the City of Alexandria. A query was received yesterday from the Chamber of Commerce of Fredericksburg, Va., asking if that city were included in the area where students may contest. It is not so included.

List of New Entrants In Post Essay Contest

Among the Washington essays received yesterday were those from Virginia Lee Pett (age 10), 1211 Kearney street northeast; Helen Teter (age 12), Bridgewater, Va.; Teresa Solbach (age 12), 314 Raleigh street southeast; Elizabeth W. Peabody (age 14), Braddock Heights, Alexandria, Va.; Thelma Michie (age 18), 1203 D street northeast; Louise Swartz (age 14), Fairfax, Va.; Dorothy Cuffs (age 12), Vincent Briguglio, jr. (age 16), Seat Pleasant, Md.; Genevieve Hammett (age 16), 186 Cedar lane, Bethesda, Md.; Margaret Shireman (age 14), 439 Sixth street southwest; James Leo De Chard (age 13), 439 Sixth street southwest; Anna Quigg, 4931 Massachusetts avenue northwest; Mary Elizabeth Lyons (age 13), 6216 Eighth street northwest; Mary Gates Alfonte (age 10), 3231 Garfield street northwest; Verne Lynch (age 13), 2935 Upton street northwest; Anna V. Mahin (age 16), 2006 Columbia road; Helen Marie Carter (age 9), 332 Adams street northeast; Edith Frances McChesney (age 7), 3421 Wisconsin avenue northwest; Frances Knapp (age 14), 2008 Forty-fifth street northwest; Ruth Bond (age 9), 325 V street northeast; Ellen McDonnell (age 9), 1641 Lincoln road; Rosemarie Duveig (age 12), 1749 Church street northwest; Edythe Fallow (age 11), Vienna, Va.; Mary Tierney (age 11), 237 Douglas street northeast, and Jeanine Stephenson (age 11), 1527 O street northwest.

PARTISAN QUARREL SPREADS TO SENATE; MOSES ATTACKED

a candidate, however, and that they expect to treat him as one, was made abundantly clear by Moses yesterday.

"Candidates for the Presidency," he said, "enjoy no closed season."

The Garner sentiment in the South continued to mount yesterday, and as it mounted the strength of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, in that section continued to crumble.

House Whip for Garner.

Representative John McDuffie, of Alabama, the House whip, came out for the Speaker, and appealed to all Democrats to line up behind him for the Democratic nomination.

McDuffie's home State of Alabama is one of those that has been claimed by the Roosevelt people. A few months ago they had good reason to claim it. Roosevelt looked like a winner, and Alabama Democrats, in common with others, like to be with a winner. Now, however, conditions are very much changed.

McDuffie feels that it is unlikely that Roosevelt will be nominated. A lot of other Southerners are beginning to feel the same way. Consequently, if the Alabama delegates throw their strength to Gerner, it is altogether likely that the delegates in many other Southern States will do likewise.

It is understood that Alabama will send an uninstructed delegation to Chicago. It is from such delegations that the Garner workers expect to draw their strength.

Deadlock Called Grave Peril.

In his statement yesterday McDuffie said:

"Recent developments, especially since the statement of Gov. Smith and the announcement of several favorite sons, make exceedingly uncertain the nomination of any one of those distinguished Democrats who are now active candidates. Obviously our party can not succeed if we are to have a repetition of the fiasco of 1924 at Madison Square Garden. The Democratic party was defeated when that convention adjourned.

"It is becoming more and more apparent that a deadlock in the Chicago convention is a very grave possibility which Democrats must avoid."

Garner, he said, with his courage and his intellect, is a man on whom all should agree as the best-equipped Democrat to carry the party's banner in 1932.

McDuffie, like a great many others, realizes that the greatest obstacle in Garner's way is one of geography. Hence he closed his statement by pointing out that Garner is "a Westerner as well as a Southerner, living hundreds of miles west of Chicago and on a line with the Dakotas and Colorado."

Senator Connally began his denunciation of Senator Moses yesterday shortly after the Senate had convened.

"The senator from New Hampshire, in the savage attack which he makes upon the Speaker of the House, evidently is bringing to a conclusion the so-called era of cooperation, in which the President and his advisers have been asking the minority party in this chamber and the majority in the other to participate during this session of Congress."

Referring to Senator Moses as a "spokesman of the White House," Senator Connally continued:

Blame Placed on G. O. P.

"The Republican party has been in control of Congress. They have had every agency of the Government at their command until the present session of this Congress. Mr. Hoover has been not only the President, but he has been the national leader in whatever activities this Government has undertaken, and if any one led us into the panic, if any one backed us into the panic, if any one was at the head of the affairs, it was the President of the United States, the Republican Senate and the Republican House. So I submit to the senator from New Hampshire that the basis for his attack was most unwarranted and unjustified."

"The newspapers on Sunday announced that the senator from Connecticut, Mr. Walcott, was going to shock the country by exposing certain culprits in Wall street who have been selling short on the market. I have been waiting almost breathlessly for this pronouncement. Why is it that it is a crime only for those market manipulators to sell stock when the prices are at a low figure? It was no crime in 1929 for the bull manipulators to inflate the stock values beyond the comprehension of almost any human mind. Is it not strange now that the Presidential wrath should be aroused only by the fact that after the passage of the moratorium act, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act and the Glass-Steagall bill, it becomes a crime to sell short?"

Moses Replies to Texan.

Replying to Connally, Moses said:

"I content myself with two disclaimers: I do not speak with any authority for the administration and I have made no attack, either savage or bitter, upon the Speaker of the House of Representatives. I have ventured to comment upon a candidate for the Presidency, and candidates for the Presidency enjoy no closed season.

"I have but one question to propound and that is why it is that Texas is doing all the talking for the Democratic party nowadays—Texas, a State which has not been heard from politically between election day in 1928 and the election of a Speaker in 1931."

Reed Desire Wins Early Convention in Missouri

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Bowing to the wishes of former Senator James A. Reed for an early State convention formally to launch his campaign for the presidential nomination, the State Democratic committee here late today selected March 28 and St. Louis for the convention. Opponents of an early convention all said they were for Reed for President, but feared so early a date would interfere with municipal elections early in April.

The committee members cheered every time Senator Reed's name was mentioned, cheered Howell when he predicted a Democratic victory in Missouri by at least 150,000 votes next fall and cheered some more when Representative Joseph B. Shannon, of Kansas City, took a few slaps at the Hoover administration.

ROPER QUITS AS RISK COMPANY RECEIVER

G. A. Clark and T. B. Bryan to Take Charge of National Benefit.

Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue in the Wilson administration, resigned yesterday as temporary receiver for the National Benefit Life Insurance Co., formerly one of the largest colored business organizations in the world, and almost coincident with that development Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue adjudged the company insolvent and appointed two other receivers.

Gilbert A. Clark, president of the Equitable Life Insurance Co., of the District, and Frank B. Bryan, jr., deputy commissioner of insurance for the District, were appointed to act as receivers under bonds of $100,000 each.

The receivers, who are permanent, are given full power and authority to carry on the company's business, except that no new insurance is to be written. They can employ counsel, take possession of all the company's assets and hire such help as they need. The court specifically excluded from connection with the company any present or former officer or director of it.

The receivers are directed to make a full report to the court as soon as possible, and the officers and employes are restrained from interfering in any way with the conduct of the receivers. They are to form a plan to rehabilitate and reorganize the company.

ATLANTIC WARSHIPS ORDERED TO PACIFIC

away from the Atlantic is to assist vessels now in the Pacific to resist a mythical foe which will attempt in the maneuvers to seize a foothold on the American coast.

The orders for the vessels took effect immediately. Those going are the battleship Arkansas, now en route to the canal from Guantanamo; the destroyer Claxton, at New Orleans; the destroyers Fairfax and Taylor, at Norfolk; the destroyers Evans and Tillman, at the New York Navy Yard; the destroyer Hamilton, en route to Norfolk and the Canal Zone from the Washington, D. C., Navy Yard—all of the training squadron; and the cruiser Memphis and the destroyers Wickes and Philip, of the special service squadron, all now at Panama.

The movement will leave east of the canal only a bare skeleton of the once mighty Atlantic fighting force. The warships which will be left will include the battleship Wyoming and 8 vessels of the fleet base force at Guantanamo, 9 submarines at New London, the cruiser Milwaukee at Boston, some 60 naval tugs, minesweepers and small craft on naval district work and 3 battleships undergoing modernization. They are the New Mexico at Philadelphia and the Mississippi and Idaho at Norfolk.

Destroyer Hamilton Sails For Norfolk This Morning

The destroyer Hamilton, of the training squadron, will leave the Navy Yard at 7 o'clock this morning for the West Coast, where she will join her flagship, the battleship Arkansas, and the rest of the fleet.

In command of Lieut. Comdr. Clarence Gulbranson, the Hamilton has been stationed here since December. She will first go to Norfolk and leave there Sunday for San Diego. There her skeleton crew of 50 men will be augmented to full strength of 100.

Lloyd George Speech Canceled.

London, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—The physicians of former Premier David Lloyd George have forbidden him to attend a St. David's day banquet in London tomorrow. They feared the intense cold of the last few days might prove injurious. The Welshman's speech at the banquet had been scheduled for a rebroadcast to the United States.

Text of President Hoover's Message On Strengthening Judicial Procedure

(Associated Press.)

The text of President Hoover's message to Congress recommending strengthening the procedure of the judicial system follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

On previous occasions I have called the attention of the Congress to the necessity of strengthening and making certain changes in our judicial and law-enforcement machinery. Since then substantial progress has been made both through improved methods of administration and additional legislation. However, there is room for further improvement.

With this in mind, in my annual message on the state of the Union, I stated that I would address the Congress at a later date on important matters of reform in organization and procedure of criminal law enforcement and the practices of the Federal courts.

The subjects are of highly technical character. They have been exhaustively examined by the Department of Justice, the Commission on Law Enforcement, and recommendations have been made over many years by various bar associations of the country.

Congestion in the Courts.

Improvement has been shown during the past three years through steps taken under direction of the Attorney General in more efficient organization of enforcement agencies through congressional action in concentration of the responsibilities in the Department of Justice and through the prison reform laws passed by the Congress. Yet despite every effort there is still undue congestion in the courts in a number of districts.

The following statistics indicate this congestion as well as the progress made:

In private litigation in the Federal courts in the last five years there has been no large increase in the number of cases commenced, but the courts have not been able to reduce the number of such cases pending and awaiting trial.

The number of Government civil cases begun in 1928 was 20,695, increasing each year until in 1931 the total was 25,332. Cases terminated during this period show that the judicial department has kept pace with the increase, but has been unable to reduce the congestion.

Bankruptcy Cases Increase.

The number of bankruptcy cases begun has increased from 53,000 to 1928 to 65,000 in 1931, with a steady increase in the number of cases undisposed of at the end of each year.

Criminal cases commenced have increased from 1928 to 1931, but the number pending shows a decrease from 30,400 at the end of 1928 to 27,900 at the end of 1931. In 1931 alone 4,000 more criminal cases were disposed of than commenced, showing a definite gain in this field. There has also been a steady improvement in the quality of the work of the prosecuting agencies. Despite an increase in the volume of criminal cases begun, there has been a steady reduction in the number left pending each year.

The results attained show a greater percentage of convictions and a lower ratio of dismissals and acquittals. In 1928, 78.3 per cent of criminal cases terminated were by verdict and plea of guilty, while in 1931 this ratio had increased to 84.2 per cent. In 1928, 21.7 per cent of criminal cases were terminated by dismissal or acquittal, while in 1931 this figure had fallen to 15.8 per cent.

Rise in Number in Prison.

Final results of the more effective work of the Federal agencies for enforcement of criminal laws are evidenced by increase of prisoners. The number of Federal convicts in prison institutions and on parole increased from 19,110 at the end of 1928 to 27,871 on June 30, 1931. During the same period the number on probation increased from 3,500 to 12,000. The total number of Federal convicts under some form of restraint was 39,900 on June 30, 1931, as compared with 22,600 on June 30, 1928.

The recent reorganization of the parole and probation systems not only has produced a humane result, but has relieved an otherwise impossible prison congestion. These gains in effectiveness have been the result mainly of improvement in personnel, of administrative effort and reorganization, and not of reforms in judicial procedure.

I commend to the attention of the Congress the recommendations of the judicial conference on the subject of increased personnel. Relief should be granted in those district where private litigants are suffering from delay, where civil and criminal dockets are seriously congested, and additional judges are needed.

Reform in Criminal Procedure.

The extent of crime is and must be a subject of increasing concern to the Government and to every well-disposed citizen. This increase is by no means confined to the violation of new criminal laws.

Some part of all crime is due to confidence of criminals in the delays of the law, and to their ability to avoid conviction and to delay penalties by misuse of the procedure and provisions of the law intended to assure fair trial. This is more manifest in procedure in the courts of some States than in the Federal courts.

Yet important reforms in the Federal establishment and in the Federal procedure are needed and must be undertaken. Aside from its direct result, the indirect result of high standards in the Federal courts is of Nation-wide influence.

Criminal Appeals.

The present procedure in criminal appeals to the United States circuit courts of appeal and the procedure in the United States district courts in preparation for appeals after verdicts of guilty lend themselves to delay and unnecessary expense. With the granting of bail and the stay of execution of the sentence, the convicted person loses all incentive to expedite his appeal.

No small part of the general criticism of the delay in criminal cases rises from the delays in the preparation and hearing of appeals after verdicts of guilty, and a reform in these particulars would be a long step in advance.

Respect for the law and the effect of convictions as a deterrent to crime are diminished if convicted persons are observed by their fellow citizens to be at large for long periods pending appeal. All steps subsequent to verdicts of guilty are involved in these processes. A statutory code of procedure on this subject would not be sufficiently flexible.

Uniform Rules of Practice.

I suggest that the Supreme Court of the United States be authorized to prescribe uniform rules of practice and procedure in criminal cases for all proceedings after verdicts in the district courts and for the circuit courts of appeal, including the courts of the District of Columbia.

The success of the Supreme Court in the prompt disposition of criminal cases brought before it gives confidence that it will deal effectively with this subject.

The objection heretofore advanced to authorizing the Supreme Court to establish uniform rules of procedure in civil cases, that such rules would destroy the conformity between practice in State and Federal courts, has no validity against the proposal for uniform procedure in criminal cases, in which no conformity exists.

Waiver of Indictments.

Legislation should be enacted to permit an accused person to waive the requirement of indictment by grand jury. Where the accused admits his guilt, preliminary hearings and grand jury proceedings are not necessary for his protection, they cause unnecessary expense and delay. In such cases the law should permit immediate plea and sentence upon the filing of an information.

That would allow the accused to begin immediate service of his sentence without languishing in jail to await action of a grand jury, and would reduce the expense of maintenance of prisoners, lessen the work of prosecutors, and tend to speed up disposing of criminal cases.

Ineligible Jurors.

There have been many instances, some recently in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, where indictments, returned after long and expensive hearings, have been invalidated by the discovery of the presence on the grand jury of a single ineligible juror. By law applicable to the United States district courts, including the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, it should be provided that if not less than 12 eligible grand jurors vote for an indictment it shall not be invalidated because of the presence of ineligible jurors.

Legislation should be enacted limiting the time for making motions to quash indictments because of disqualifications of grand jurors.

All the foregoing proposals relating to criminal procedure should be made applicable to the Supreme Court of the District. In addition, the statutes in force in the District respecting the qualifications of grand and petit jurymen and their selection should be thoroughly examined and overhauled. Grounds of ineligibility now exist which do not affect the availability or impartiality of jurymen.

The system now in operation in the District for preparing lists of persons qualified for jury service requires improvement.

Juvenile Delinquents.

Each year many juveniles charged with violation of law fall into the custody of the Federal authorities. In the interest of child welfare there should be legislation enabling the Attorney General to forego prosecution of children in the Federal courts and to return them to State authorities to be dealt with by juvenile courts and other State agencies equipped to deal with juvenile delinquents.

Jurisdiction based on diversity of citizenship.

The Constitution provides that the judicial power of the Federal courts shall extend to cases between citizens of different States and the judiciary acts have provided for the exercise of this jurisdiction. In its application, the courts have determined that a corporation shall be deemed a citizen of the State under whose law it is organized. Cases involving corporations, with jurisdiction based on diversity of citizenship, form a substantial part of the business of the Federal courts.

Against Abolition.

Legislation heretofore has been proposed to abolish entirely the jurisdiction of the Federal courts based on diversity of citizenship. I do not approve of such a measure.

The reasons which induced the constitutional grant to the Federal courts of jurisdiction over cases between citizens of different States still exist. To abolish that jurisdiction entirely would work to the detriment of those States which look to outside capital for the development of their business and commerce.

As applied to special types of cases, however, affecting corporations, the present law allows the Federal courts to exercise jurisdiction because of diversity of citizenship, in cases not within the real purpose and spirit of the constitutional provision referred to.

Modification Is Proposed.

I recommend the consideration by the Congress of a measure to modify this jurisdiction to a limited extent by providing that where a corporation, organized under the laws of one State, carries on business in another State, it shall be treated as a citizen of the State wherein it carries on business as respects suits brought within that State between it and the residents thereof and arising out of the business carried on in such State.

Such a change in the law would keep out of the Federal courts cases which do not really belong there and reduce the burdens of the Federal courts without impairing in any degree the diversity of citizenship jurisdiction which the framers of the Constitution had in mind.

I have hitherto recommended legislation effectively to supplement the prohibition law for the District of Columbia. The Attorney General has made recommendations as to the character of such legislation before the committees of the Congress. I again urge favorable action.

Bankruptcy.

The Federal Government is charged under the Constitution with the responsibility of providing the country with an adequate system for the administration of bankrupt estates.

The importance of such a system to the business life of the community is apparent. The number of cases in bankruptcy has steadily increased from 23,000 in the fiscal year 1921 to 53,000 in 1928 and to 65,000 in 1931. The liabilities involved have increased from $171,000,000 in 1921 to $830,000,000 in 1928 and to $1,008,000,000 in 1931, and the losses to creditors have increased from $144,000,000 in 1921 to $740,000,000 in 1928 and to $911,000,000 in 1931.

The increases are therefore obviously not due to the economic situation but to deeper causes.

A sound bankruptcy system should operate—

First, to relieve honest but unfortunate debtors of an overwhelming burden of debt;

Second, to effect a prompt and economical liquidation and distribution of insolvent estates; and Third, to discourage fraud and needless waste of assets by withholding relief from debtors in proper cases.

Had Conducted Inquiry.

For some time the prevailing opinion has been that our present bankruptcy act has failed in its purpose and needs thorough revision. During the past year the Department of Justice, with my approval, has conducted an investigation into the administration of bankrupt estates in the Federal courts.

Nation-wide in its scope, the inquiry has involved intensive study of the practical operation of the bankruptcy act under varying local conditions throughout the United States. Court records and special reports of referees have been analyzed. Organizations of business men and lawyers have assisted in gathering information not available through official channels. Judges, prosecuting officers, referees, merchants, bankers and others have made available their experience.

Data gathered by the Department of Commerce relating to causes of failure and the effect of bad debts upon business has been studied. The history of bankruptcy legislation and administration in this country, and in Great Britain, Canada, and other countries, has been reviewed.

Investigation Completed.

The inquiry has now been completed. Its result is embodied in a report which is transmitted herewith for the consideration of the Congress. Thorough and exhaustive in detail, it presents the information necessary to enable the Congress to determine the faults in the present law and to devise their cure.

The present bankruptcy act is defective in that it holds out every inducement for waste of assets long after business failure has become inevitable. It permits exploitation of its own process and wasteful administration by those who are neither truly representative of the creditor nor the bankrupt.

Except in rare cases it results in the grant of a full discharge of all debts without sufficient inquiry as to the conduct of the bankrupt or of the causes of failure. It discharges from their debts large numbers of persons who might have paid without hardship had the law discriminated between those overwhelmed by misfortune and those needing only temporary relief and the opportunity to deal fairly with the creditors.

Should Be Amended.

The bankruptcy act should be amended to provide remedial processes in voluntary proceedings under which debtors, unable to pay their debts in due course, may have the protection of the court without being adjudged bankrupt, for the purpose of composing or extending the maturity of their debts, or amortizing the payment of their debts out of future earnings, of procuring the liquidation of their property under voluntary assignment to a trustee; or, in the case of corporations, for the purpose of reorganization.

The act should be amended to require the examination of every bankrupt by a responsible official and a full disclosure of the cause of his failure and of his conduct in connection therewith for the consideration of the court in determining whether he should have his discharge.

The discretion of the courts in granting or refusing discharges should be broadened, and they should be authorized to postpone discharges for a time and require bankrupts, during the period of suspension, to make some satisfaction out of after-acquired property as a condition to the granting of a full discharge.

Choice of Personnel.

The choice of the liquidating personnel should be limited to competent individuals or organizations after careful consideration by the courts of their qualifications and ability to maintain an efficient and permanent staff for the conduct of the business.

Compensation for such services should be upon a scale which will attract trained business organizations. Competent officials should be continuously charged with the observance of the administration of the law and with the duty to suggest to the courts and to Congress methods for its improvement.

The present statute is susceptible of improvement to eliminate delay in its cumbersome processes, much of which results from a confusion of judicial and business functions.

The inquiry has not stopped with the collection of information and an expression of general conclusions. Its results have been embodied by the Attorney General in a bill for revision of the present bankruptcy act in order to present the proposals in concrete form.

I earnestly commend them to your consideration.

Conclusions.

Reform in judicial procedure is, for many reasons, a slow process. It is not to be brought about by any single measure. It can best be accomplished by dealing with the subject step by step, the sum of which, in the course of time, will result in definite improvement.

Taken together, the proposals above outlined offer an opportunity for substantial improvement in the administration of justice. They tend to decrease the burden on the public treasury and upon litigants. None of them requires consequential increase in expenditures. They would reduce crime.

In concluding, may I not say that important as these recommendations are we must all keep before us the thought that effective administration of law in a republic requires not only adequate and proper machinery, honest and capable officials, but above all a citizenry imbued with a spirit of respect for law.

HERBERT HOOVER.

PRESIDENT ASKS SEVERE LAW ON BANKRUPTCY IN MESSAGE

evitable," the White House summary of this report said. "It permits exploitation of its own process and wasteful administration by those who are neither truly representative of the creditor nor the bankrupt."

Model Bill Submitted.

A model bill, comprising some 125 pages of text, was submitted by the Justice Department. It provides for closer supervision of bankruptcy liquidations by the courts, to eliminate existing abuses, and suggests broader discretionary authority for district judges in fitting court orders to the conduct of the bankrupt in each case. Only through such discretionary authority, said the Justice Department's report, can the professional bankrupt racketeer be dealt with effectively.

The administration's bill was introduced in the Senate yesterday afternoon by Senator Hastings (Republican), Delaware.

A few hours after the President's message was presented in the House, Representative Sumners (Democrat), of Texas, chairman of the judiciary committee, announced hearings would begin within two weeks on a measure looking to "a complete overhauling of the bankruptcy laws."

"The general complaint is that too much of the assets of a bankrupt are eaten up in the administration of his affairs," Representative Sumners said.

Big Increase Noted.

The White House message emphasized the increase in Federal bankruptcy proceedings from 23,000 in the fiscal year, 1921, to 65,000 last year. Liabilities of bankrupts increased from $171,000,000 in 1921 to $1,008,000,000 last year.

"The act should be amended," the message continued, "to require the examination of every bankrupt by a responsible official and a full disclosure of the cause of his failure, and of his conduct in connection therewith, for the consideration of the court in determining whether he should have a discharge.

"The discretion of the courts in granting or refusing discharges should be broadened, and they should be authorized to postpone discharges for a time and require bankrupts, during the period of suspension, to make some satisfaction out of after-acquired property as a condition to the granting of a full discharge."

Heart of Abuses.

This is regarded generally as the vital provision of the new policy, for it strikes at the heart of prevailing abuses. Under the proposed law the mere process of going through bankruptcy would not absolve an individual of just debts if, in the opinion of the court, assets still were available to discharge them in whole or in part. It was this weakness in the existing law which led to the development of what is known in the legal profession as "the bankruptcy racket."

Specific reforms in criminal procedure suggested by the President included a waiver of indictments by those who wish to plead guilty; the elimination of obstructionist technicalities in criminal appeals; a more elastic Federal policy in dealing with juvenile delinquents; and an overhauling of the present law relating to "diversity of citizenship."

Under the proposed reform, corporations would be amenable to the laws of the States in which they operate, without regard to the State of incorporation. Yet the present diversity-of-citizenship jurisdiction of the Federal courts would be retained in cases involving litigants in different States.

President Hoover expressed unqualified opposition to proposals, now before the Senate judiciary committee, to abolish entirely the diversity-of-citizenship jurisdiction of the Federal bench.

The modification suggested, he said, would accomplish the desired results without impairing that essential jurisdiction "which the framers of the Constitution had in mind."

HOOVER GIVES PLAN TO IMPROVE LAWS

Tells Congress of Dry Act and Grand Jury Needs of District Code.

Need for legislation supplementing the prohibition law in the Capital, and a thorough overhaul of statutes governing selection of District jurymen, was urged upon Congress yesterday by President Hoover.

Incorporated in recommendations for strengthening the country's judicial procedure, the suggestions placed Mr. Hoover on record on two questions mooted in local legal circles and on Capitol Hill.

Legislation supplementing the prohibition law will be acted on Friday, when the Senate District committee votes on Senator Robert B. Howell's bill for tightening liquor law enforcement in the District.

The bill, however, contains search and seizure provisions objected to last year by the Attorney General, who submitted alternate proposals.

Mitchell Protested Changes.

"The Attorney General has made recommendations as to the character of such legislation before the committees of the Congress," President Hoover said in his message yesterday. "I again urge favorable action."

Legislation of this character was sent to Congress last session by Attorney General Mitchell, who said Senator Howell's bill "was, no doubt, prepared by him after seeing the draft made in this department." The Attorney General protested the changes made by Senator Howell.

"In my judgment," Mr. Mitchell said, "efforts to improve the enforcement of the national prohibition act may be better expended at least for the present in other directions than in an attempt to make more drastic the provisions for searching private dwellings—an attempt which would arouse controversy, with doubtful results."

Grand Jury Reforms.

The so-called "home-raid" provision is still in the bill, reintroduced by Senator Howell at the present session.

Practical suggestions were made by President Hoover for reforming local laws governing selection and procedure of grand juries.

By inference, the President referred to the recent grand jury inquiry into the Henry Harker beating case, where discovery of a Spanish-American was pensioner on the jury invalidated nineteen police indictments and cost the District approximately $15,000. A murder charge against Robert A. McPherson, jr., was quashed in 1929, when a pensioner was found on a District grand jury.

A bill was introduced at this session of Congress by Representative Howard W. Smith (Democrat), Virginia, to correct the situation. Representative Smith sought to remedy the abuse by removing qualifications that would in no way affect the guilt or innocense of the accused person—such as age and receipt of Government pay.

Gov. Cross Asks Mooney's Pardon.

San Francisco, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—The Tom Mooney Moulders' defense committee today announced Gov. Wilbur L. Cross, of Connecticut, had written Gov. James Rolph, jr., favoring a pardon for Mooney, serving a life sentence in connection with the bombing of the San Francisco preparedness day parade of 1916.

Labor Writ Curb Is Twice Amended

Norris Bill Altered to Permit Injunctions After Threats.

(Associated Press.)

The Norris bill to curb the use of injunctions in labor disputes was recommended to the Senate yesterday by Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, as "simple justice" to American labor.

The Senate yesterday neared a final vote on the bill, passage of which is virtually assured.

It adopted an amendment by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, to permit the issuance of injunctions on the basis of threats to violate the law, but qualified this by an amendment offered by Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, author of the bill.

Under this modification, which was agreed to by Walsh, the injunction could only be issued against the person making the threat, and not against a whole labor organization.

5,000 Garment Makers To Return After Strike

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Approximately 5,000 of the 25,000 striking garment workers will be back at their machines tomorrow morning after two weeks of wage negotiations.

Cutters and sample makers ratified a new working agreement today. The new contract calls for maintenance of the present wage scale, minor modifications of the agreement which expired February 1, and a basis of $1.10 an hour for piece work.

ARMISTICE AT SHANGHAI.

The people of the world learn with relief that an armistice has been agreed upon at Shanghai. It will be a matter of rejoicing if hostilities are even momentarily suspended. With vivid memories of the struggle of 1914-1918, humanity has had a yardstick with which to measure the tragedy in the Orient, and the universal reaction has been one of unmitigated horror. That the bloody business is to stop, even for a few days, is good news.

But it would be a mistake to assume that the armistice insures peace. The basic situation in China has not changed. Cessation of conflict does not imply anything more than the hope that a way will be found to avert war. Two armies are resting; neither is giving up the struggle.

The armistice will afford the less directly affected nations an opportunity to intervene. But the forces involved are so great, the stake is so large, and the subsidiary issues so complicated that too much must not be expected of the negotiations now to ensue.

The attitude of the United States is perfectly definite and clear. The State Department has served formal notice upon both Japan and China that the United States will not recognize any situation, treaty or agreement resulting from violation of the nine-power pact. Mr. Stimson has been forthright in his insistence that the territorial integrity and administrative entity of China must not be violated. He has left no loophole for diplomatic gymnastics. No so-called Manchurian republic, no secret understanding, no private arrangement between China and Japan, if made in defiance of the pact, will be recognized as valid.

China at this climax of her modern history has the sympathy of the world. The heroic defense of Chapei has commanded universal admiration. China's present rating in the judgment of the West is higher than ever before. This is a gain which China can not afford to lose. She must be loyal to the friends she has made.

Japan has gambled, and the game has been far less easy to win than her war lords had supposed. She has found China difficult to whip. And the adventure has cost her whatever respect she enjoyed in the opinion of other nations. The armistice gives her the opportunity to abandon her indefensible excursion into the Asiatic mainland. Such a decision she is not likely to embrace, but it would profit her if she were capable of making it.

The nations of Europe which, like the United States, have responsibilities in the Orient, will do well for the present at least to join hands with this Government in nullifying the fruits of aggression.

Is the armistice merely a lull between two phases of a single storm? The masses everywhere hope for peace; Statesmen will work for peace. But there can not be enduring peace, and the struggle will be resumed, unless the people of Japan can control the greed and ambition of the warlike elements now in charge of the destiny of the empire.

Whatever may happen at Shanghai, the invasion of Manchuria remains. Japan insists that the Manchurian question shall be adjusted directly with China, without the participation of any other government. But other powers are vitally affected, and one of them, the United States, will not consent to the tearing away of Manchuria from China by the exercise of either force or fraud. The nine-power treaty remains in full force and effect until it is ruptured by one or more of the signatories. If Japan should take the fatal step of violating that treaty, the armistice at Shanghai will soon be overshadowed by ominous clouds.

THE ROAD LOAN BILL.

The issue of Federal handouts for the States is again before Congress. After meager consideration the House passed a bill appropriating $132,500,000 as a loan to the States for the construction of roads. This measure has been widely misrepresented by its sponsors. More full discussion can be expected in the Senate, and if it is not there rejected a presidential veto is in prospect.

The first objection to the bill is that it wipes out the economies that have been effected by paring down appropriations for the departments. Secretary Hyde points out that the Democratic leaders in the House deducted, "with a parade of economy," $10,000,000 from the road building appropriation of the Department of Agriculture. Now they propose to spend $132,500,000 for the same purpose. Such legislative jugglery intended to deceive farmers and the unemployed can not go unchallenged.

A still more fundamental objection to this bill has been obscured in its trip through the House. Congress has already appropriated $250,000,000 to be used in 1932 and 1933 for road building in the States. Highway construction is fundamentally a function of State and local governments. Uncle Sam merely offers this generous sum of $125,000,000 annually to encourage them. Every dollar of it must be matched by an equal amount appropriated by the States. At present the States complain that they are having difficulty in securing funds to match Uncle Sam's generous allowance. Consequently, the House has passed a bill to lend them $132,500,000 to match the fund that has already been appropriated by Congress.

The method by which the Democratic leaders of the House propose to do this is a good example of modern "pork-barrel" legislation. The amount appropriated by the House bill would be deducted from the regular road building allowance to the States during the ten years following 1938. Before that time comes the money will all be spent and the States will have organized a new campaign for larger contributions from the Federal Treasury.

There is grave danger that this bill is merely a step toward a precedent that would require the Federal Government to furnish all the funds to build State highways. Even the practice of matching State funds on the 50-50 basis has led some States into extravagant projects that their people can not afford. Money furnished by one governmental unit and spent by another encourages waste, inefficiency and extravagance. If the States can not afford to match the funds already provided for road building they can not afford to have better roads.

Secretary Hyde does well to recall President Hoover's warning that "we can not squander ourselves into prosperity." It is absurd to talk of stimulating business and helping agriculture by adding $132,500,000 to the $1,241,000,000 additional revenue that must come out of the taxpayers' pockets. Let the Senate accord this measure the same sort of coup de grace that it administered to the La Follette dole bill.

"HINDENBURG OR CHAOS."

Germany is a seething caldron of politics. Seldom, if ever, since the revolution of 1918 has that country been agitated by such violent currents of public opinion as during the present campaign. All the bitterness that has been engendered by several years of depression and by the constant galling of the Versailles Treaty is being poured into this strange contest.

The people are confronted by a medley of contradictions. Paul von Hindenburg, close friend of the former kaiser and the most distinguished German veteran of the World War, is standing for another seven-year term despite his 84 years. Today he plays the role of savior of the republic, although he is a monarchist at heart. The people who supported him in 1925 are fighting him today, and the Socialists, who opposed him then, constitute his largest bloc of supporters now. In spite of the rebellion against him by radicals on both the left and the right, indications are that he will be reelected by an overwhelming vote.

Three candidates split the opposition to President von Hindenburg. Foremost among them is Adolf Hitler, leader of the National Socialists, who is sworn to overthrow the republic and set up a socialist dictatorship. The other candidates represent the German Nationalists and Steel Helmet organization and the Communists. In the Reichstag these incongruous elements are able to unite in opposition to Chancellor Breuning's moderate policy, but they have only one interest in common — the destruction of the republic. When it comes to selecting a presidential candidate there is no possibility of uniting their forces against von Hindenburg.

In allowing himself to be drawn into the presidential race Adolf Hitler made the greatest mistake of his career. He will be hopelessly defeated, and the prestige of his party in the Reichstag will doubtless undergo a considerable shrinkage. Many German observers believe that Hitler would gain sufficient strength to defeat Chancellor Bruening in the Reichstag after the election, but now that appears extremely doubtful. Germany may owe her salvation to the fate which drove the leader of the Nazis into the presidential campaign.

Hitler's citizenship is in question. Some Americans have fallen into the error of supposing that his appointment as chief of police in a small German village made him a citizen. The law does provide that citizenship is automatically bestowed upon one who is appointed to a civil position under the German government, but it must be a bona fide appointment and the person so appointed must actually serve in the office designated. Last week Hitler had himself appointed as attache of the Brunswick legation, but it is questionable whether that is valid unless he actually takes over the duties of the office.

In accepting the latter position Hitler swore allegiance to the constitution which he had already pledged himself to destroy. He thus places himself before the German electorate as a counterfeit and a fraud. His only purpose in seeking the office of president is to uproot the republic, embroil Germany with other European powers, and rule over the German people with a mailed fist. Chancellor Bruening was unquestionably right when he told the people that they must choose between President von Hindenburg and chaos.

THE RETURN TO GOLD.

Many irresponsible and inaccurate statements are heard during every period of unsettled conditions regarding gold and the gold standard. With the abandonment of gold redemption by Great Britain last September there were numerous prophesies to the effect that it would never be restored. The shock to British credit throughout the world, however, was a severe one, and the loss of confidence in the pound sterling has not been offset by the benefits derived from exports.

Now, with the first real improvement in England's financial position reports are equally numerous that the responsible interests of the nation look forward to a return to the gold standard. No less an authority than Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer, world renowned as an expert on banking and currency, asserts his belief that the nations of the world will gradually return to the gold standard when the present emergency has passed. Commodity prices, too, he predicts, will return to approximately what they were during the period from 1921 to 1929, when gold maintained a stable value.

The fall in the level of wholesale commodity prices during the last two years of nearly one-third has often been laid to a permanent shortage in the world's supply of gold, alleged to have been caused largely by the selfish policies of the United States and France in accumulating such large stocks of the yellow metal. No one has figured out exactly what proportion of the world's gold the United States is entitled to, but Dr. Kemmerer, estimating that American capitalized wealth represents about 40 per cent of the total held by nineteen leading nations, points out that this country's holding of the world's gold is in about the same proportion.

While not an advocate of the American tariff policy, Dr. Kemmerer says our tariff has very small influence on the world's distribution of gold, since two-thirds of our imports enter free of duty, and the average rate of duty is only 14 per cent. American imports grew steadily for sixteen years under a protective tariff. The interallied debt payments of Great Britain to the United States in 1929 were only 4½ per cent of her merchandise exports, while the total of such debts received by this country did not amount to 5 per cent of our merchandise imports.

Lack of confidence, not lack of money, has been the cause of business stagnation. With prices and volume of trade generally off one-third, there has been 17 per cent more money in circulation, which allowed for hoarded funds. Demand deposits that are not active are almost as useless as hoarded dollars. Dr. Kemmerer calls attention to the fact that recent departures from the gold standard have been under pressure from a great crisis, and not for the purpose of substituting some other standard in its place. He believes the world will return to it because the best prospects for a reasonably good monetary standard lie in the improvement of the gold standard rather than in any substitute for it that has been devised.

ICE-CREAM CONE IN WAR

From the Boston Transcript.

Most of us unsuspecting souls little dream how the military establishments of the world keep tabs on one another. You can't make a change in the shape of a shako or bring out a new-fangled cutlass or conceive a new evolution for the drill ground but the secret services of every government in Christendom are instantly a-buzz with the news.

So, just at present, in the chancelleries and mysterious Room Fortys of war departments abroad, there is tremendous curiosity to learn whether the Yankee sailor makes a first-rate fighting man on his allowance of ice-cream cones, which, in our Navy, takes the place of the grog ration issued to British tars. There are no precedents to go by. In the last war in which our Navy showed its prowess, the War with Spain, Commodore Dewey's sailors, before the battle of Manila, bolstered themselves up on coffee and hardtack. They had already been bereft of the rum which so mightily helped the men who fought under Farragut and Perry and Decatur and Paul Jones. But the ice-cream cone had not yet been invented, and it is only in recent years that this child's delight has usurped in the galleys of our warships the honored place which the cannikin so long occupied, and nobody knows whether in a pinch it will work as well as the rum of our fathers in providing a man with Dutch courage.

It is this lack of proof of the cone's efficacy that is keeping the British admiralty awake nights. For all they know to the contrary the ice-cream cone may be just the stuff to build up men of blood and iron. They have been quietly conducting experiments with the queer fighting ration, though in a half-hearted way. And now a report has got about that in the dock yards the ice-cream cone "is not a business proposition." In other words, the mariners of England insist on their tot of rum; they turn leery eyes on the frozen sweet as fit only for puling infants in their cradles. Better, they say, to succumb and go down with flags flying, their inwards all aglow with Mar's nectar, than to triumph over an enemy while their gizzards are gelid from a too copious intake of cones, sundaes, sherbets and banana splits. Britons never will be slaves, not even to frozen pudding or Roman punch.

UNDOING A COLLEGE EDUCATION.

One time there was a college boy, an honor student, too,
Who thought he ought to show the folks at home how much he knew.
With scorn for this and scorn for that, he filled his father's ear,
For having gathered knowledge, he had also learned to sneer.

The youngster went about the town with a most superior air,
He couldn't stand the manners of the old friends living there.
He hated this and hated that; with a frown upon his face,
He called the neighbors vulgar and their notions commonplace.

One evening as they sat alone his troubled father said:
"I sent you down to college to gain wisdom, but instead
Unto my sorrow and dismay I find on your return
You've merely picked up tricks of pride which any boor can learn.

"You needn't go to college to discover things to hate;
To sneer at human failings is an art not very great.
The faults of other people even ignorant men can find—
Now take this tip from father—any fool can be unkind."

The Best Governed Are Those Who Have No Amateur Saviors

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE average man wishes to do his duty. It is, therefore, quite inevitable that the vice of a republic should be the making of laws.

As a rule, the men elected as representatives of the people are average men, neither better nor worse than their fellow-citizens. Being average men, they wish to do their duty.

Their duty, obviously, is to run the business of the country. But the newly elected representative, filled with the zeal of a new broom, sees his duty as an obligation to correct existing evils and lay the foundation of Utopia.

What shall he do? The question answers itself. He has zeal and authority; there are faults to be corrected. He will make some laws to correct the faults.

Alas! He is neither a Solon nor a Solomon. His laws serve only to annoy and irritate. He makes bad matters worse. The net good he accomplishes is exactly none.

And the result is that the people are afraid of their representatives. They may enthuse about a man while he is a candidate, but when he takes office and is for the time being independent of them they begin to be uneasy and to watch him with dread.

Whatever this newly chosen representative may do in his efforts to save the country, he may count upon a following. But people find fault more readily than they praise, and an act that wins friends is almost certain to lose others. The more a representative does, the greater the probability that he will become unpopular.

How, then, shall he win popularity? Here, again, the answer is obvious. By doing nothing.

Sit quietly in a wood and the birds draw near. You win their confidence. The birds say to themselves: "We can trust him. He isn't going to do anything."

So the people, observing that their servant has no new panacea to force upon them, outgrow their doubts and fears and say: "He isn't going to do anything to us. Hurrah for him!"

The frogs were rather well fixed when their king was a log.

PRO AND CON

British Paper Explains.

Kansas City Times.

The Manchester (England) Guardian has performed a service by pointing out to its readers that the American policy against a general reduction of war debts under the existing circumstances may not be the product of crass ignorance of economic law, or of sheer brutality in the face of Europe's distress. Such service is rendered all the more valuable by the fact that the Guardian seems to be virtually alone in grasping the point of view of a large number of Americans. The common assumption abroad, undoubtedly, is that this country is both stupid and unfeeling in its present debt policy.

The Guardian, however, has taken the trouble to try to understand America's position without simply condemning the national character. After observing how unlikely it was that the American Government would take part in a new reparation conference, a recent editorial in the Guardian continues:

> But the Americans are not at all an ungenerous people. On the contrary, they are, when appealed to in the right way and for good reasons (witness the American relief funds after the war), perhaps the most generous people in the world. May it not be that their insistence that Europe shall pay her debts is based upon something more creditable than economic ignorance or national greed? Their assertion that, if Europe can pay for armaments she can pay for debts, represents a moral if not an economic truth.

The Guardian suggests that if the leading European states were to cut their expenditures upon armaments in half, their action would meet with an immediate response in the United States and would greatly facilitate a debt settlement. There are, of course, Americans who would oppose any further adjustment of war debts under any circumstances. But it is also true that a reasonable settlement of the whole debt problem would be much more likely if Europe were to strengthen her case by eliminating the scandal of extravagant military budgets.

A New Test for Roosevelt.

Kansas City Times.

Iowa Democrats, according to a newspaper poll, are by no means so solidly for Gov. Roosevelt as his supporters have claimed. This State's votes in the Chicago convention have been confidently carried in the list the Roosevelt managers have compiled to show the New York governor would lack fewer than a hundred votes short of the required two-thirds majority to nominate him.

But the poll shows Gov. Murray, of Oklahoma, is running right up with the New Yorker, and when votes for other Democratic candidates are considered—Smith, Ritchie, Garner and scattering—Mr. Roosevelt is shown to be in a considerable minority. As Iowa is one of the "progressive" States—at least it sent Mr. Brookhart to the Senate—it would appear those Democrats who regard themselves as progressive do not necessarily so regard Mr. Roosevelt.

American Open Door Policy.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Secretary Stimson's letter to Senator Borah concerning America's Far Eastern policy offers nothing new, but it is an admirable and forceful restatement of our historic policy, founded in John Hay's concept of the open door and formalized in the nine-power treaty of 1922. It not only lays out clearly the policy of this country, affirming the territorial integrity of China, but it exposes the underlying philosophy of that policy.

That philosophy is postulated in the right of the Chinese people to enjoy reasonable freedom from foreign pressure through the trying period of reconstruction that must follow a total revolution in politics and economics. It is built further on the equal rights of all nations to share in the opportunities for trade in China during that period of transition.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Commercial Advertising by Radio Disturbs and Disgusts the Coeur d'Alene Philosopher.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read with much satisfaction that Congress is taking steps to curb commercial advertising over the radio. Everybody reads newspapers and magazines, which are the legitimate media for advertising. Why should these business fellows resort to the radio, airplane, theater and every other agency under the sun to advertise their wares? Why should our religious and home joys, our meditations, our intellectual and esthetic pleasures and satisfactions, our finer instincts—in short, our whole life—be drowned in a muddy flood of commercial exploitation? "Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?" Does the advertising of some tawdry gimcrack over the radio afford us a thousandth part of the pleasure we feel when we hear one of Mozart's divine melodies?

Who that has a soul one size larger than that of a rat, takes as much pleasure in eating and drinking, in fine clothes and a handsome house, as he does in a kind thought, in a good impulse, in a quiet conscience, in good work well done, in beautiful music, in noble writing, in some soul-stirring inspiration whose home is not on earth? There is no money in any of these things; therefore they are not advertised much. But every man knows in the best part of his heart that without some of these mental and spiritual joys and satisfactions, life would not be worth living. They are the fences that separate the kingdom of men from the herds and hordes of animals.

Some one said that one good thing about radio is that it has helped to reintroduce people to their homes. But a home is a place where members of families enjoy loving and instructive communion with one another. This communion can not be enjoyed in an atmosphere of bank, factory and shop talk, in a blare of "jazz," cheap songs and cheap music, and the vaporings and gibberings of escaped imbeciles.

Traffic Murder Laid at Door of Traffic Authorities—Writer Suggests Plain-Clothes Traffic Cops.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The letter of J. O. Knott in protest against "butchery of human beings by reckless drivers and the law's neglect" is so timely and convincing that I came near writing one like it myself. He says, "We can kill by autos half as many people yearly as we lost in the Great War, and it seems impossible to arouse public sentiment to the enormity of our guilt." Indeed, it makes me almost believe that civilization is only skin deep.

Of course in a way the public is to blame. But the real blame is with the traffic experts, as they are called. I would call them speed-up-traffic experts. Too much speed rounding corners, too much speed across street-crossings, too much speed by drivers of unwieldy trucks, too much speed by motor morons. And there you are—a daily list of "unavoidable" accidents and fatalities in the papers. What I would say is that by a little sacrifice of speed the sacrifice of life could be reduced a good deal.

Maybe I am too slow-minded, but anyhow I don't think the traffic tinkers pay enough attention to the matter of safety. For one thing it is about time for them to start an intensive police drive against unlawful motoring. A little snooping by plain-clothes traffic cops would be excusable, considering the number of people who are killed and crippled every week by reckless drivers.

WILSON YOUNG.

Short Selling of Their Own Stock a Detrimental Practice Among Corporation Directors.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: President Whitney, of the stock exchange, appears again before a House committee to justify "short selling." Even should he be able to convince it that the cushion provided to a falling market by a short interest is of sufficient constructive and protective value to outweigh its destructive features, there is one form of short selling indulged in that is beyond all justification, and that is the reprehensible practice in recent years of corporate directors "going short of their own stock" while persisting in guiding the policies of these same corporations. If said director has, either through fear, misjudgment, or malice, "gone short" and may be hoping and waiting for the price of the shares to break down so that he may be able to repurchase them at lower levels, his subsequent guidance of the company's policies could readily become treasonable and detrimental to the actual stockholders and employes.

SAMUEL SEINIGER.

Ku Klux Klan Should Have No Place in Bicentennial Program, Says Doctor.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: You published a list of events celebrating the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. First upon that list was the "Burning of a Fiery Cross" by the Ku Klux Klan. Can this be taken as the true spirit of Americanism for which George Washington stood? Such a demonstration, coming from an organization of Americans, having as its purpose the fostering of hatred of fellow Americans upon racial and religious grounds, has no place in such a memorable celebration.

We know that many deeds of the Ku Klux Klan are committed in the name of patriotism. Such perverted and distorted patriotism should be despised and condemned by all right-thinking Americans.

KANN WILL LEAVES MUCH TO CHARITIES

Bequests Include $50,000 for Emergency Hospital Memorial Fund.

Simon Kahn, president of the S. Kann Sons Co., Inc., who died February 21, provided heavily in his will for Washington philanthropical organizations, the document, filed yesterday in the District Supreme Court, showed. The will was not accompanied by a petition for probate, and therefore the size of the estate was not given.

The will, dated January 16, 1928, and modified by an addition in March, 1930, gives $50,000 to Emergency Hospital for a fund to be known as the Simon Kann Memorial, to be used for indigent patients and for the outdoor department of the hospital; the United Hebrew Charities of Washington is given $20,000, and the Associated Jewish Charities of Baltimore is given $10,000.

The Associated Charities is given $5,000; the Florence Crittenden Home, $1,500; Children's Hospital and Garfield Hospital, $1,000 each, and $750 to each of the following: St. Vincent's Infant Asylum, St. Joseph's Male Orphan Asylum, Washington Orphan Asylum, Bell Home, Little Sisters of the Poor and the German Orphan Asylum.

The will gives $500 each to Homeopathic Hospital, Washington Home for Incurabies, Episcopal Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital, Washington Home for Foundlings, Gospel Mission, Central Union Mission, Washington Diet Kitchen Association, Christian and Eleanore Ruppert Home, Day Nursery, Sibley Hospital, Casualty Hospital and the Washington Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital.

Two nieces, Isabel K. Frank and Edna K. Horkheimer, are given $25,000 each; two nephews, B. Bernei Burgunder and Sol Kann, get 500 shares of the store stock each; the household and personal effects go to the widow, who is to have the income from the residue of the estate for life. The codicil provides that $100,000 trust funds be provided for the brothers and sisters of Mrs. Kann, and $2,500 each is given to Rena Fleishman and Simon Fleishman.

MRS. DAVID SMITH FUNERAL.

Widow of Naval Officer Will be Buried Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Mrs. David Smith, who died suddenly Sunday night in her residence at 1901 Columbia road northwest, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at St. Margaret's Episcopal Church, Connecticut avenue and Bancroft street. Interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Mrs. Smith was born in Salem, Mass., 1843 and was the widow of Rear Admiral David Smith, U. S. N. She had been a resident of this city since President Grant's administration. Her husband was a captain in the Navy when the Civil War started. She was the first regent of the Army and Navy Chapter, D. A. R., and was the author of "Fathers of Massachusetts Bay Colony," a geneological work.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Robert Shores, of this city; Mrs. Esther Phillips, of Annapolis, Md., and Mrs. Charles Wright, of Pittsfield, Mass.

CECIL F. HICKS DIES HERE.

Port Royal Business and Political Leader Heart-Attack Victim.

Stricken with a heart attack as he was preparing to catch a train back to his home in Port Royal, Va., Cecil Flippo Hicks, 64 years old, died about four hours later in Emergency Hospital. Mr. Hicks, prominent business and political leader in Caroline County, Va., had come to Washington yesterday on business.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Ennix Hicks; four daughters, Mrs. L. H. de Bruin, of Washington; Mrs. Joseph Owens and Miss Daisy Lee Hicks, both of Richmond; and Mrs. Charles Lynch, of Bowling Green; four sons, Dr. L. H. Hicks, of Rocky Mount, N. C.; Cecil Flippo Hicks, jr., of Rappahannock; Wirt Taylor, of Rappahannock Academy and Robert Allen, of Port Royal.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

CLIFFORD RICHARDSON DIES.

Former Capital Chemist and Harvard Graduate Succumbs in France.

Word has just been received of the death of Clifford Richardson, at Nice, France, on February 27. Mr. Richardson, after graduating from Harvard, came to Washington as an expert chemist in the Bureau of Agriculture and lived here for a number of years, leaving Washington to become connected with the Barber Asphalt Co.

He was for many years a member of the Metropolitan Club, was one of the original members of the Alibi Club, and was prominent socially. He married Miss Teresa Stoughton, a member of a well known Washington family. Mr. Richardson retired from business in 1921, and in recent years has been living in Nice.

Leap Year, Like Others, Great Year for Women

By JOHN J. DALY

As in the Ides of any March, the seventeenth is "a great day tonight for the Irish," so last night was a marvelous day for the women of Aurora, Ill.—where they celebrated Leap Year in a big way, and without men.

In Aurora, the entire town activities were turned over to the women—a woman mayor, a woman chief of police, women traffic officers, copettes, female city commissioners, and a woman fire marshal. As the lady assessor admitted, about the only thing the men did on Leap Year was to pay taxes.

The chamber of commerce, fostering the idea, topped off the day's activities with a banquet at which no men were present. The toastmistress, the oratresses, and the waitresses, all got together at the end of the festivities and sang their theme song, "Everybody Works But Father."

* * * *

FOUR years from now it is planned to extend the experiment to the State government, and after that to the National Capital—a woman President on Leap Year Day, a female Congress, House and Senate, women on the Supreme Court bench, and women in command of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps.

The American home is run by women, and as the Nation is said to be only a family grown large the girls may easily, in eight years, come to the point of assuming all governmental business. Certainly, they can not be much worse at it than their brothers, who still seem a little groggy from the ordeal.

Take Sparta, for instance, that ancient city of Greece founded by Lacedaemon and called after the name of his wife, the daughter of Eurotas. After that they always referred to Sparta, in the feminine form, and rightly so; for she subjugated the whole of Laconia, done with the assistance of the women folk, who were, undoubtedly the originators of the ladies' auxiliary.

* * * *

LIKE the ladies of Aurora, Ill., the Spartan women were not afraid to tackle a job. They may not actually have taken over the council, but they were the power behind the throne. The women kept the men busy in the field of battle, expanding Sparta till she extended to the east coast of the Peloponnesus. Her only rivals in the end were Argos and Arcadia—and if Arcadia is faithfully pictured by the historian, it, too, was a land where lovely ladies held sway. Arcadia and Aurora! History repeats itself.

There was, for a time, what was known as the Spartan overlordship, but only for a time. Later this came to be known among the intelligentsia, who knew a thing or two, as the Spartan overladyship.

So the whole affair, from Spartan supremacy down, is an old, old story. Women, from the very beginning, have permitted men to play with the tools of government. Eventually these are taken away from the boys, who are then allowed only to appear in what seems like the regalia of statesmanship, the high hat and the frock coat—but it is merely a costume, the Badge of the Stuffed Shirt. The women rule.

MRS. WALSH WILLS DAUGHTER ESTATE

Several Minor Bequests Are Also Made by Capital Social Leader.

Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, social leader of Washington for more than a score of years, made her daughter, Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, wife of Edward B. McLean, principal beneficiary of her estate, it was learned yesterday when Wilton J. Lambert, named as co-executor with Mrs. McLean of the estate, filed the will in District Supreme Court. The value of the estate was not disclosed.

After describing several minor bequests, Mrs. Walsh directed that the residue of her estate be given to Mrs. McLean, with the request that she provide for several life annuities. Mrs. John Allan Dougherty is given $1,000, and a like amount was bequeathed to Monroe Lee, of Hollywood, Calif. Mrs. Dougherty also is to get a monthly income of $150 in addition to the bequest.

Miss Virginia Mott, of Leesburg, Va., is given $600, and Miss Lillian Whiting, of Boston, Mass., $200. Frances Osborn, Coronado Beach, is to receive for life $150 a month; Jennie Krusemark, of Los Angeles, is given $100 a month for life and Mrs. Alice Campbell, of Denver, is directed to receive $50 a month for life.

Mrs. McLean, besides inheriting the greater portion of the estate, is to receive all of her mother's personal effects.

H. G. GODDARD RITES.

Mass to Be Said Tomorrow at St. Matthew's Church.

The funeral for H. Goldsborough Goddard, who died here Monday after an illness of three years, will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock at the W. W. Chambers' funeral home; thence to St. Matthew's Church, where mass will be said. Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Mr. Goddard was born here 71 years ago, the son of the late Andrew and Maria Goldsborough Goddard. He was connected with the W. B. Moses & Sons Co. for more than 40 years, but had to retire three years ago as the result of an accident. He was assistant manager at Moses at the time of his retirement. His home was at the Portner Apartments.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Estelle C. Goddard, and a sister, Miss L. Goddard.

Murray 'About Decided' To Forego Georgia Visit

Oklahoma City, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A decision to refrain from a Georgia campaign but to push for the Democratic presidential nomination in North Dakota, was indicated today by Gov. W. H. (Alfala Bill) Murray of Oklahoma.

On the eve of his departure for North Dakota, Gov. Murray announced he had "just about decided" not to visit Georgia. His preferential primary filing was rejected in the Southern State because it failed to arrive before a time limit expired.

Gribbon Guilty in Rum Case.

Los Angeles, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Eddie Gribbon, film comedian, and his wife, Loretta, were convicted in municipal court today of possession of liquor. Police raided the Gribbon home February 3 and said they confiscated several bottles of liquor. Gribbon and his wife will be sentenced tomorrow. They were acquitted of a charge of intoxication.

Butler Running Amuck Stabs One and Is Shot

A policeman finally shot and wounded the butler, whose name was given as Chester Starks. Starks was found by a policeman in a clump of bushes at the rear of the house. He was only half clothed and was reading a Bible. He charged the policeman with a knife and was shot in the hip and arm.

Airplane Monopoly Balked.

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A patent infringement suit, which if successful would have given a monopoly of the airplane "stick control" to Robert Esnault-Pelterie, French engineer and inventor, was dismissed today by Judge Maurice D. Campbell in Brooklyn Federal Court.

$100,000 Club Boat Is Seized in Dry Raid

Lake Charles, La., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Seizure of the $100,000 nightclub boat Harry Lee and the arrest of eleven people aboard in raids aimed at curbing violations of prohibition and gambling laws were disclosed today by Federal and State authorities.

Ten Federal agents and four deputy sheriffs of Jefferson Davis Parish participated in the raid early Saturday morning. Harry Lee is a river steamer remodeled into a dance hall. She had been operating along the Louisiana coast for several months.

Gov. Gardner to Speak To Democratic Women

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Gov. Gardner has accepted an invitation to speak to the National Woman's Democratic League in Washington, D. C., March 11.

The Age of FAT Need No Longer Be Feared

Soon after 30, multitudes of people gain excess fat. Many at earlier ages. A great reason lies in a weakened gland, which largely controls nutrition. Food that should create fuel and energy goes to fat.

Since this discovery, doctors the world over feed this gland factor to the over-fat. Slender figures all around you are due to this method now.

In Tablet Form

Marmola prescription tablets present this new-day method in ideal form. A famous laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen in every circle. Those slender figures, now so common, are not due to starving.

Every box contains the formula. So users know, and doctors know, just how Marmola acts. You are taking in Marmola what the best physicians use.

Fight fat in this modern way. Combat the cause. Take Marmola—four tablets daily—until weight comes down to normal. As the fat goes, watch your vim come back. Then tell your friends what did it. Don't wait longer—start this right way now.

NOW available to women everywhere at a price in tune with the times. Kotex—the original, the safe, tested sanitary protection!

No question mark hovers over Kotex. No incessant doubt as to how it was made, where, under what conditions.

Kotex is made and kept clean. Materials are tested and retested. Workers are uniformed. Factories are spotless. Even the air is washed.

Trained eyes inspect every single Kotex pad as it is machine-cut, folded, packed. For your safety and protection, ask for Kotex. You know this pad is safe. Doctors, nurses, know it, too. More than 24,000,000 Kotex pads were used in American hospitals alone last year.

Genuine Kotex—the best—now costs less

SOCIETY

Senator Carey to Move, To New Domicile.

Senator and Mrs. Robert D. Carey, of Wyoming, have given up their apartment and will move today to the house at 1752 Massachusetts avenue, which they have leased for the remainder of the season. The house is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hampson Gary, who sailed last week for Bermuda.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, who have occupied the house since their return to Washington in the autumn, are again in their own home at 1534 Twenty-eighth street, which has been leased to the Solicitor General and Mrs. Thomas Day Thacher for some time.

The Solicitor General and Mrs. Thacher have moved to 1647 Thirtieth street, which was the home for some years of Col. and Mrs. William Donovan when the former was assistant to the Attorney General in the Coolidge administration. The house was leased by Col. and Mrs. Donovan to the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, who had not taken possession of the house at the time of his death.

Mrs. Hamilton Fish, jr., wife of Representative Fish, of New York, who has been receiving on Tuesday afternoons, has discontinued her days at home for the season.

The First Secretary of the American Embassy in Paris and Mrs. Williamson S. Howell, jr., have returned to Paris from Gstaad, Switzerland, where their children attend school. They spent about two weeks there.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davidge are spending a few days in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Newbold Noyes are also in New York for a brief visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wise Garnett have gone to New York, where they will pass several days.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Conant have gone to Ormond Beach, where they will spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Trotter, of Montreal, Canada, are at Wardman Park Hotel until Saturday.

Mrs. Cabot Stevens at Home Informally Tomorrow.

Mrs. Cabot Stevens will be at home informally tomorrow afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock at her home, 1516 Webster street, for those who were not able to attend her recent reception.

Mrs. Perry Heath left yesterday for Louisville, Ky., to be with her brother, Mr. Edwin B. Conway, who is ill with pneumonia.

Judge Charles D. Lawrence, Assistant Attorney General in charge of customs, has arrived from New York City and is at the Carlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson McCarthy, of Salt Lake City, Utah, have taken up their residence at the Mayflower, the former having come here to assume his duties as one of the directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Their son, Dennis McCarthy, and his younger sisters, Kathleen, Patricia, Mary and Geraldine, are in school in Salt Lake City and are not expected here for the present.

Miss Mary Dawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Dawes, of Evanston, Ill., spent the week-end in Washington, en route to New York, where she will spend a day or two before joining her parents at their home.

Maj. Gen. George Leach and Mrs. Leach were the guests of honor at a tea given on Sunday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock by Col. and Mrs. John Vanderpool Richards, who entertained at their residence in Forest Hills. Mrs. Richards had among her assistants Mrs. Robert H. C. Kelton, Mrs. Louis Kunzig, Mrs. Francis E. Pope and Mrs. Junius W. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. George Canty, with their son, and Miss Gladys Hughes, of Washington, sister of Mrs. Canty, have gone from Paris to Berlin, where they will reside. Mr. Canty, who has been at the American Embassy in Paris for the past five years, has been assigned to duty at the American Embassy in Berlin as special trade commissioner for the Department of Commerce.

Miss Willa Semple, well known radio and concert pianist, who is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, was heard in recital at the clubrooms of the local branch of the American Association of University women yesterday afternoon, following a tea, at 4 o'clock. Miss Semple was presented in place of Mr. Barnard Parronchi, cellist of the National Symphony Orchestra, who has left the city, having resigned from that organization. The hostess of the occasion was Miss Evelyn Davis.

Mrs. Iranee du Pont motored to Washington from her home in Granogue, Del., and is at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. Howard to Entertain At "Rally Meeting."

Mrs. Beale R. Howard will entertain the members of the newly-formed Woman's Committee, of the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in her home on Woodland Drive. This will be a first "rally meeting" for the larger group of prominent women of Washington for which invitations have been sent out by Mrs. Tracy Dows, chairman.

There has been a spontaneous response to this larger appeal for personal interest in Washington's own orchestra. For some weeks the Executive Board of the Woman's Committee, composed of some two dozen women, has been meeting to formulate plans for the raising of funds for the National Symphony for next season. These plans will be given to the entire membership today.

Mr. Hans Kindler, conductor, who again is to lead the National Symphony; Mr. Walter Bruce Howe, chairman of the executive committee for the orchestra, and Mr. Gideon Lyon, are among those who will speak on the future of the orchestra and what it already means to Washington.

Next Saturday morning, at 11 o'clock, the last of the children's concerts of the orchestra will be given at Central Community Center. Next Sunday afternoon is the last of the popular priced Sunday concerts given at Constitution Hall, and on March 10 and 17 the two last concerts of the Thursday afternoon "symphony series" will close this first highly significant season of 24 symphony concerts, given by the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington under its conductor, Hans Kindler.

Breakfast Follows Dance Of New York Society.

SUPERLATIVE READY TO WEAR AND MADE TO ORDER

FIRST TOURNEY PLAY TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

"The Trying Time" Is Ready for Presentation as Part in Drama Series.

The first of the series of four preliminary contests incident to the annual District of Columbia one-act play tournament will take place tonight at East Washington Community Center, Seventeenth and East Capitol streets, sponsored by the community center department, with the cooperation of the Drama Guild of Washington.

In the opening play, "The Trying Time," which is laid in the winter of 1778, in a colonial home in the South, William Hayghe will appear as Judge Alden; Frances G. Donovan, as Janice Alden, his daughter; Helen Foley, as Penelope Lincare; Hummer Acton, as Capt. Forsythe, and Mynor McIntyre, as John Meredith. The play is written and directed by Frances Donovan.

The Women's City Club drama unit will present "The Rest Cure," by Gertrude Jennings, under the direction of Mrs. Blanche M. Foote, with a cast comprising Margaret Moorhouse Graham, as Muriel, servant in a nursing home; Ruth N. Snodgrass, as Alice Palmer, "dark cat;" Thelma Schmidt, as May Williams, "fair cat;" Howard Whitfield, as Clarence Reed; Violet Ann Hambleton, as Olive, his wife.

The Jewish Community Center Dramatic Society presents Alice Gerstenberg's "Overtones," with Dorothy Abrams as director, and a cast including Lillian R. Spector, as Harriet; Edythe Lazaroff, as Nettie, her overtone; Jan. Barnette, as Margaret; Billie A. Sachs, as Maggie, her overtone, and Pearl Abrams, as a maid.

The Woodlothians will offer "Deceivers," by William C. De Mille, directed by Robert Halstead, who will appear in the role of Amos Little, with Lucile Cohan as Flora Little and Brad W. Holmes as Phil, "the Mink."

Tickets may be obtained at the door for all preliminary contests, which will be held also on March 3, 8 and 10, with finals on March 15, at McKinley Auditorium, Second and T streets northeast. Reserved seats for the finals are available at the T. Arthur Smith Bureau, the A. A. A. and at the community center department in Franklin Administration Building, Thirteenth and K streets.

IN TOURNAMENT

LUCILE H. COHAN, of the Woodlothians, who will play the leading role in "Deceivers" which will be presented tonight at East Washington Community Center, at the opening contest of the one-act play tournament.

Masque 'Wakefield' Will Not Be Repeated

Owing to the continued and insistent demand for seats for the masque "Wakefield," the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission has felt it advisable to issue the statement that the folk-masque, by Percy MacKaye, which was performed three times at Constitution Hall last week, will not be repeated, because the high cost of production makes another showing impossible.

"We regret exceedingly," said Representative Sol Bloom, associate director of the commission, yesterday, "that any one in Washington was denied the privilege of witnessing this beautiful performance, but reassembling the hundreds of participants and the actual cost of the production, makes it impossible to give it again."

D.A.R. OPENS ANNUAL CONFERENCE TODAY

Bicentennial Program to Be Held This Evening With Mrs. Hobart Present.

The thirty-first annual meeting of the State conference of the District of Columbia Daughters of the American Revolution will open this evening with a Bicentennial program at Memorial Continental Hall and will continue through tomorrow.

Greetings from the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be brought tonight by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general. A gold medal, first prize in contest for the best essay on American history for the period from 1774 to 1788, will be presented to Miss Maude Hutchins, of George Washington University, by Mrs. David D. Caldwell, representing the District Daughters of the American Revolution.

The conference will be called to order by Miss Helen Harman, the State regent. William Tyler Page will recite the "American's Creed," of which he is author. Other features of the program will be Bicentennial music by the Eva Lovett Choral Club, dressed in colonial costume, and a playlet, entitled "Washington's Dream," to be presented by a patriotic education and Americanism department of the D. C. chapters.

Committee reports and the roll call will be features of the session, starting at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mrs. Hobart will make an address.

At the final session at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the resolutions committee will report. A report also will be received from Mrs. James Henry Harper, State director of the District Society Children of the American Revolution.

Episcopal Mission Pictures Exhibited

Roger Williams, Flier, In Reno to Get Divorce

Reno, Nev., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Roger Q. Williams, famous transatlantic airplane pilot, who arrived in Reno ten days ago, said here today that he will file suit within the next five weeks to divorce Carrie T. Williams, his wartime bride. He has already retained an attorney and will charge cruelty in his complaint, he said.

Williams' most famous exploit was a nonstop flight over the Atlantic from Old Orchard, Me., to Santander, Spain, on July 8 and 9, 1929. Last year he made the first nonstop flight between New York and Hamilton, Bermuda, and return.

Planters Must Cut Crop To Obtain U. S. Loans

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will deny loans for 1932 crops to all cotton and tobacco growers in Texas, Arizona and New Mexico who plant acreage to these crops in excess of 65 per cent of last year's acreage.

This announcement was made here today at a meeting of the Agricultural Club by Owen Sherrill, Georgetown, Tex., banker, who has been appointed manager of the regional agricultural loan branch of the corporation.

Farley's Larceny Trial Under Way

Ousted New York Sheriff Hears Jurors Quizzed About Politics.

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Thomas M. Farley, Tammany chieftain shorn by Gov. Roosevelt of his robes as county sheriff, listened with confident air today as attorneys sifted a jury panel of 150 persons for twelve to hear his trial for second degree larceny. Eight were chosen.

Appearing more jovial than when he attempted unsuccessfully to explain to the governor the source of large bank deposits in recent years, Farley heard politics injected vaguely into the case almost at its outset.

William M. K. Olcott, special prosecutor, made a special point of asking the first venireman called to what political party he belonged. Farley's counsel, Alfred J. Talley, protested at once, but Olcott explained his purpose as being "to get a totally unbiased jury, to see that the men serving are not active in party politics nor interested in a partisan way in them."

Noted French Astronomer Dies.

Paris, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Guillaume Bibourban, 80, noted astronomer and former president of the Academy of Sciences, died today. He was a director in the Paris Observatory and author of many works on astronomy and science.

'Smiling Joe' Extradited To Cleveland in Murder

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A New York robbery charge against Joseph (Smiling Joe) Filkowski was dismissed today, so that he could be returned to Cleveland where he is wanted for murder and listed as public enemy No. 1.

More Hoover Delegates Are Chosen in Kansas

Novelist Dies in Influenza Epidemic.

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—The death rate from the current outbreak in influenza here rose over the week-end and numbered among its victims Zoltan Ambrus, novelist, critic and former director of the National Theater. He was 71 years old.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ELMER TWITCHELL IS ACCUSED OF HOARDING.

"I'VE got my eyes on you," said the stranger to Elmer Twitchell, looking at him somewhat accusingly.

"What for?" asked Elmer.

"I think you're a hoarder," said the stranger with an air of authority.

"What makes you think so?" stammered Elmer, quite embarrassed by the sudden accusation.

"I can't just explain it, except to say that you have all the earmarks of a hoarder. Anyhow, if you're not a hoarder it's up to you to prove it."

"Every man is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty," said Elmer, by this time concluding that the stranger was a Government agent.

"That's only in criminal law. In hoarding, every man is presumed to be guilty until proven innocent," insisted the stranger. "There is something about you—I can't quite define it—that leads to the inescapable conclusion you are the sort of man who would put money under clocks, inside horse collars and behind umbrella stands. I once knew a fellow who buried bills in geranium boxes. He had a nose like you."

"Leave my nose out of this," warned Elmer. "As a matter of fact, you might leave YOUR nose out of it, too."

"Will you deny you have ever stowed money under a mattress, floor-board, rug or clock, or stuffed it into shoes, books, socks, et cetra?" demanded the stranger.

"I do!"

"Can you look me in the eye and say there is nothing in your socks that would incriminate or degrade you?"

"I can," said Elmer, after a moment's reflection.

"Would you be willing to let an inspector go through all your hose?" asked the stranger.

"I think not," said Elmer, suddenly rebelling against the whole idea.

"Ah, I thought not!" exclaimed the stranger.

"It's the principle of the thing," insisted Twitchell. "There is such a thing as personal liberty. Every citizen is guaranteed life, liberty and the privacy of his own footwear."

"That's the usual gag," sneered the stranger. "You're not playing fair with the President."

"If Mr. Hoover wants to look into my socks, it's all right. I am a good Republican," said Elmer.

"President Hoover can't go around the country looking into people's socks," said the stranger. "It wouldn't be dignified."

"My socks are an open book," insisted Elmer.

"Don't you realize that it is men like you who refuse to lay your socks before the world who are retarding prosperity?" demanded the stranger. "Don't you realize that you are preventing business turning the corner? Don't you realize that men who do not come clean in the matter of their stockings are blocking the return to boom times, making impossible the days of plenty, hurting the merchant, helping to keep the shadow of unhappiness over millions of homes, bringing pinched faces to starving children • • •"

"Stop!" said Elmer, quite overcome. "Enough. I can stand no more. Minnie! Minnie, dear!"

"Yes," answered Mrs. Twitchell from the top of the stairs.

"Get out all my socks!" ordered Elmer with an air of patriotic surrender. "The inspector is here!"

2 States Will Protest Proposed River Change

Lincoln, Nebr., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Nebraska and Wyoming State officials agreed today to protest at Washington against a proposal by Colorado to divert headwaters of the North Platte River.

At the direction of Gov. Bryan, R. H. Willis, of Bridgeport, Nebraska irragation commissioner, will go to Washington with State Engineer Whiting, of Wyoming, where they will appear before reclamation officials in opposition to the Waterman bill providing for the diversion of 200,000 acre feet of water.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

TESTS FOR POOR CIRCULATION.

IT is no longer necessary to take a patient's word for poor circulation, cold feet, susceptibility to drafts, and other symptoms of that great group of discomforts about which we talk so much and do so little. In times past when a patient went to a physician to pour out this line of woes, the doctor listened with a professional appearance of patience, but did little or nothing.

There are tests now through the use of which the physician can form a pretty good opinion as to how much of the symptons are due to the natural "complainingness" of the patient, and how much is justified by demonstrable conditions. What is more important still, these tests make it is possible for the physician to get needed information about the dangers of gangrene in diabetes, Buerger's disease, Raynaud's, and some others; also, as to where amputation should be done in these diseases, when amputation is necessary, and what are the conditions in milk-leg, phlebitis, varicose veins and varicose ulcers.

These tests are several. Among them are skin tests with histamine, the use of the oscillometer and of a delicate surface thermometer, and the reactions to hot and cold baths. This story deals with only one of these—the histamine skin test.

Histamine is one of that group of about twenty amines that combine to make what we know as protein albumin. This substance is used for more than one test purpose. For instance, physicians use it to test the capacity of the stomach to secrete digestive juices. The skin test is made somewhat after the fashion of vaccination. Many people know the method of skin testing that is called the Shick test, others know the Dick test, and still others know how skin testing is done in hay faver, asthma and nettlerash. The method of histamine testing is substantially the same as these.

By using this test on persons with Buerger's disease Dr. Geza De Takats has been able to amputate much lower down than he had planned before taking the test. In other cases he has been able to tell the patient that amputation was not necessary. Using the test, he has been able to advise diabetics as to how much danger they were in from gangrene and how strenuously they should carry out precautions to prevent it.

In varicose veins the circulation of the feet is very poor. The best proof of that is the frequency of varicose ulcers and the difficulty in curing these ulcers. The skin test is of service in guiding the physician in the service rendered in these cases.

These are matters that greatly interest physicians. The general run of people are more interested in learning certainly whether they have poor circulation, or is it that they only think they do?

BOY CIGARETTE SMOKER.

Mrs. A. B. writes: 1. My boy, 16, smokes cigarettes heavily and it does him harm. He wants to break the habit, but has not the will power by himself. Is there any medicine or anything you could prescribe for him? He will follow it faithfully.

2. The same boy contracted whooping cough last September and can not get rid of it. He travels in the street car, and he has to get off in one of those spasms of coughing to spit up all his meal. Also in the morning after breakfast he coughs and vomits it all up. Please tell me the best thing for him to take for relief and a cure.

REPLY.

1. If you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request we will send you a recipe for a mouth wash that will help him to break the habit. It will not suffice unless the boy is determined to quit.

2. A whooping cough with nausea sometimes persists for months. It is not contagious in the stage he is now in. The tendency is for the cough to stop, or to become like other coughs, but there is no medicine that will speed it up. A long palate and large tonsils sometimes cause these symptoms. They may require operation.

CANCER AND DIETING.

H. B. W. writes: Having recently heard a discussion as to whether cancer could be caused by certain foods, I am anxious to know if this is true. If so, what are the foods which might bring on the disease?

REPLY.

Were you to believe all you hear about food as the cause of cancer, and if you dieted accordingly, you would indulge in a perpetual and complete fast. In comparison, Dr. Tanner would be a glutton.

HAVE A MENTAL TEST.

M. A. G. writes: A child 5 years of age continually keeps the mouth open. Tonsils and adenoids have been removed. Physician pronounces the throat clean. Have you any suggestion?

REPLY.

Have a mental test made.

Jane Corbin INTERPRETS the MODE

Classical charm in a black crepe evening gown with white satin shoulders and bodice, and braided with a satin girdle. And tulle leaves framing a flower face above marble shoulders! (Seen in a New York gathering.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Be as patriotic as you will—but not at the expense of good taste! Now that America is having her "colonial" revival, following the French colonial interest of last year, period furniture, gowns, gestures and colors have much of the daily chatter.

Still, we must be warned about overdoing it. Red and white on navy blue, blue and red or blue and white on red, is always chic, and perhaps more so now. But red, white and blue on small accessories, is not chic.

All navy gloves worn with red and white, or with a red frock and a red, white and blue scarf, have possibilities. But it is death to chic to wear gloves, shoes, bag and scarf that each and every one have patriotic touches of colors; Rather does the elegant woman assemble her accessories into a tricolore combination, having each accessory be one of the colors itself.

If one is in all white, of course, one could carry a red bag, wear blue gloves and shoes, and a red, white and blue scarf, say, or belt. Or one could wear a navy blue frock with its touches of red and white on it—and wear red gloves, a white hat, and blue shoes. See it?

* * * *

Particularly popular for the younger generation is the red, white and blue sweater and beret set. The beret is usually one of the three colors, and the sweater achieves its patriotism in various ways.

* * * *

"DISTINGUE" is precisely what one would say of the truly unusual black crepe dress with its discreetly classical lines which I saw at a recent chic gathering, and simply had to sketch for you today. Everyone else who saw it felt as I did—that the dress was most unusually lovely, and most unusually appropriate to the wearer. She who moved in stately grace, whose hair was arranged in old Italian style which framed her oval face with jet black and shining locks, and who had the extremely artistic good taste to wear long black suede gloves instead of white, which never would have had the same effectiveness! And at the same gathering, one other outstanding frock which was particularly flattering to its wearer had shoulder sleeves in a petal effect made of tulle, which seemed to frame her face and shoulers in a way which caused them to emerge like a flower.

When I see the beauty and allure that some women achieve by dressing tastefully, it is a constant wonder to me that women can dress any other way!

THE HOMEMAKER

Veal Gateau for a Reader

IT seems hardly possible that Lent can be well upon us, but such is assuredly the case, for we find ourselves busily hunting about for egg, cheese, and vegetable dishes for fast days of this period. Thus it is that today, for tomorrow, we have planned an egg dish as a part of our menu, but, in addition, a corn and cheese souffle which you may find to your liking.

But before we embark upon our menu planning we have a word for Mme. X. Veal gateau is a French dish, and the word gateau is French meaning "cake." Veal gateau would seem to be a recipe taking liberties with its name, but such is the recipe nevertheless and contrary to your fear it's no trouble at all to give it to you in the column. It's always a pleasure to hear from our readers and to help them out when and where we may.

Veal Gateau.

(For Mme. X.)

1 cupful cooked ham—chopped
2 pound raw veal cutlet—sliced very thin.
¼ pound cooked ham—sliced very thin.
½ cupful pistachio nuts
1 cupful forcemeat
1 cupful white stock

Line a greased mold with the chopped ham and nuts. Cover with slices of veal, ham and forcemeat. Pour the stock over it. Cover the mold and bake in a moderate oven for two hours. Cool before turning out and serve cold.

Corn and Cheese Souffle.

cupful grated cheese
1 cupful grated corn
3 eggs—separated
1½ cupfuls milk
1 tablespoonful butter
4 tablespoons flour
½ green pepper—minced
¼ teaspoonful salt
Dash of paprika

Cook the green pepper in the butter until tender. Combine the flour and milk and stir into the green pepper. Add the cheese, corn and seasoning and cook for ten minutes. Add the well-beaten egg yolk and cook for two minutes longer. Remove from the fire and stir in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into deep buttered baking dish and set in a pan of water. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

WEDNESDAY'S DINNER.

Eggs a la King
Shoestring Potatoes
Macedoine of Vegetables
Rhubarb Meringue Pie
Coffee

8 eggs
2 cupfuls milk
4 tablespoonfuls butter
2 tablespoonfuls minced green pepper
1 cupful canned mushrooms
3 tablespoonfuls flour
Dash of paprika
Grating of nutmeg
1 teaspoonful of salt

Cook the minced green peppers and the mushrooms, cut in quarters, in the butter for a few minutes. Add the flour, paprika, salt, and nutmeg and stir until smooth. Then add the milk and stir until smooth and creamy. Slice the eggs and stir them carefully into the cream sauce to prevent further breaking. Serve on buttered toast garnished with parsley.

Macedoine of Vegetables.

2 cupfuls mixed vegetables—cooked
½ cupful water
½ cupful beef stock
2 tablespoonfuls butter
1 teaspoonful sugar
Salt and pepper to taste

Combine all the ingredients and cook over a hot fire for ten minutes, shaking the pan occasionally. Serve hot.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie.

2 cupfuls diced rhubarb
¾ cupful sugar
1 cupful milk
2 egg yolks
¼ cupful sugar
2 tablespoonfuls flour
¼ teaspoonful salt
1 teaspoonful lemon juice

Line a pie plate with pastry. Cook the rhubarb with the three-quarters cupful of sugar until soft. Cool and add the milk and the eggs which have been beaten with the one-quarter cupful of sugar, the flour and the salt. Add the lemon juice. Pour into pie plate and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for ten minutes, then in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 25 minutes. Cover with meringue made of the two egg whites, beaten stiff; four tablespoonfuls of sugar and one-quarter teaspoonful vanilla. Brown in a very slow oven for about fifteen minutes.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

These Tame Courtships

DEAR Frances McDonald: I read your column and enjoy it very much indeed. I think you give splendid advice and I want you to settle my difficulty and I promise to take your advice.

For the past two years I have been going pretty steady with a young man five years my senior. (I am 20.) I know he is very much in love with me and I admit I love him too. Up until last October I never went out with anyone else. But went on a trip and met quite a number of young men. Occasionaly after that I went out but said nothing of this.

Now before you judge me rashly let me explain a little about—Jack we'll call him. He is one of those rare men who can only see one girl. Loves his work, her and thinks of nothing else. I know for a true fact he has never gone out since we first met. With him it was love at first sight. I am not flattering myself because I have often wondered why he is so crazy about me. I know he is very talented and quite good looking. They say I have personality but I know I have not looks. Anyway, to tell him I went out with anyone else would break up everything. He is even jealous of my cousin who used to take me to dances.

About two months ago someone introduced me to a man about 27 years old who likes me very much. I have gone out with him on an average of once every week since—unknown to Jack. Now Miss MsDonald, Lord knows I don't mean to two-time Jack, because I really like him and he has asked me to marry him, but age and money have prevented us from even becoming engaged. Now this second young man—I really went with him first because of business. Of course I did like him but that was all. Now Miss McDonald he is in love with me and realizes there is something now to live for. He hasn't been out with girls in a long time, so I can readily see his sincerity. Also all his friends are telling me that they can't understand him. Not going with girls in four years and then this. Not that he hasn't met them. He's a business manager and comes in contact with many.

What I want from you is to tell me what I should do? They are both too nice really to hurt, and by going along with the second man knowing I won't get serious. I guess I'm leading him on, though I have not said anything. I do not drink, smoke or pet, so naturally I have not kissed him, but he isn't the kind to demand it. I cannot tell Jack because it would mean "end," so please don't tell me that, as I know him. Miss McDonald should I tell the second man that I have an understanding with someone, or is that not done?

Thank you so much for reading this and I shall appreciate it ever so much if you will answer soon.

"TWO-TIMER."

Never contemplate marriage with any man so constituted that you can not discuss freely with him any of the ordinary exigencies of life. This unimaginative soul you call Jack has sold you the idea that you are irrevocably his—just because he plans that some day you may be. He has a lot to learn about the uncertainties of love—and so have you.

If what you believe is actually a fact, that he would drop you if you went out with anyone else, then he would make about the worst of husbands. You are 20. How do you know that he is all your heart is going to ask in the way of high romance? He would fall far short of our requirements in that regard, and we believe that if he really satisfied you, you would never have started experimenting with what you call "two-timing."

Not only are we going to tell you to talk this all over with Jack, but we are going further and state that if he objects to your seeing other men until you have fully made up your mind, he is not the man for you and not in love with you. Above all else a woman must know that her man is a reasonable being to whom she can go with whatever happens to be troubling her. Any other type should stay single and save the cost of the divorce.

As to warning the second man that you have an "understanding" with his rival, that would be an awkward gesture and to such a man would mean nothing as he-men have little regard for the ones who have "understandings," life-long courtship, and like makeshift arrangements with women. The second man sounds the better bet to us and we have a sneaking suspicion that you feel the same about him, and wrote us because your conscience was bothering you. No need for any pangs of conscience whatever. Marriage lasts quite a while sometimes and is one grand nightmare when you have the wrong face across the breakfast table. Live your life. The men manage to live theirs!

A Romney fashion for a Miss important because its smartly furless collar ties fichu fashion, because the sleeves are tucked on the diagonal, because an exclusive dressmaker touch is achieved in the long row of buttons down one side. For a Miss, $49.50. Third Floor.

Culbertson on Contract

WHEN NOT TO FINESSE.

FINESSES should be taken only when there is no other method of playing the hand that promises to assure the result desired—that is, the completion of the contract. A finesse has only one chance in two of winning and frequently even this even balanced is overturned and the fruitless finesse brings a loss which would not be suffered by an average player because he has never yielded to the seductive lure of making two tricks grow where only one ordinarily appears.

The hand below, which was played at a contract of four hearts by South, furnishes the horrible example of taking a needless finesse and losing it.

The hand:

Both sides vulnerable.

South, in this particular instance, was a lady and incidentally a very good Bridge player, but she had been bitten by the finessing bug and after winning the Opening lead with the Ace of clubs, led a small heart from Dummy and finessed the Queen. West won with his King solo and the lady later succeeded in losing another heart trick to the Knave, the Ace of diamonds and a spade trick. She lamented her ill luck and bemoaned the fates which made her finesse fail when others found the cards located just where they wanted them. As a matter of fact, she had only herself to blame.

This was one of the many cases where a finesse in the trump suit should not be taken. After winning the first trick with the Ace of clubs, the lady should have led a small trump and played the Ace and as the cards lie, this would have made the distribution of the trump suit clear to her, so that she would have lost no tricks whatever in that suit.

This, some readers will say, is based on seeing all four hands, but as a matter of fact, it is not, but is what good Contract players call a "Safety Play." If three trumps to the K J lie to the left of the Declarer, then two trump tricks must be lost in any event. On the other hand, if the player to the right of the Declarer holds three trumps to the K J, the play of the Ace assures the loss of but a single trick in the trump suit and thus the making of the contract. Played thus, the lady should have made her contract if East had held not only three trumps, but four trumps to the K J and where there is a choice between a safe way of playing a contract and an unsafe way, the safe manner should always be chosen.

TODAY'S POINTER.

In playing a hand, always select the method that will secure you the result desired with the least possible risk. If, in order to make your contract, you must take risks, then plan them carefully, the risk always being commensurate with the gain. If there is a manner that assures you of winning, although it may reduce the number of over-tricks, then follow the principle of "Safety First."

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWER TO INQUIRIES

PLEASE tell me when to start seeds of annuals indoors.

MRS. JOSEPH T. E.

Germination is likely to be rather slow if the seeds are started in January or February. It is much better to sow the seed nearer the time of their natural germination. One month in advance of the time you want to transplant the seedlings to their natural quarters in the garden is the time to start your flats. When sown too early the seedlings are likely to become, as a result of lack of space and fresh air or too much heat, long and lanky and woody. Such plants never do as well as short, stocky, well-rooted seedlings.

I am starting a very small rose garden. I am away at certain times during the summer and want to plant roses which will bloom as much as possible when I am likely to be at home and can enjoy them. Please tell me if there is any definite time for the blooming of the hybrid perpetuals, hybrid teas, hardy climbing roses and those listed as briers.

MRS. EARL W. L.

Hybrid perpetual varieties bear their main crop of blooms in May and June, with a few cattered flowers during the summer and autumn. The Wichuraiana varieties bloom in June and July. Rugosa and hybrid roses flower nearly the whole summer. Hybrid teas and polyanths roses bloom continuously throughout the summer and autumn until frost. Hardy roses and briers flower during May and June.

Please tell me of five varieties of annuals which are suitable for rock garden use. My garden is in the sun, so I feel safe in adding some annuals. Also tell me when to plant the seed. MARIE W. P.

The following annuals will keep your garden quite gay until the hardy perennials are in bloom. If you are unfamiliar with these plants, look them up in the catalogues. Candytuft (iberis umbellata), eschscholtzia (California poppy), gypsophila muralis, lobelia various, mesembryanthemum tricolor and cheiranthus linifolium.

Last fall I followed your instruction and spaded up a plot of ground twenty feet by thirty feet for dahlias which I shall plant when the weather permits. Now I want to know about fertilizer. Please tell me the best kind of manure to use and suggest a substitute in case I cannot obtain the manure.

MRS. THOMAS F. E.

In early April or even in late March apply a liberal coating of well-rotted cow manure. Spread this evenly over the ground and then in a few days spade it under. If you cannot get well-rotted manure, the best substitute is pure bonemeal, which may be broadcast in the ratio of one pound to every ten square feet.

I have some hardy water lilies which have been planted for four years. They have done very well in the past, but I know that this year they will want some food. What should I give them and when?

MRS. CORNELIA S. K.

Give your lilies one-fourth of an inch of bonemeal covered with one-half inch of sand. This must be given to them when they start into growth. If your lilies are planted in a natural pond, broadcast the bonemeal on the surface of the water at the rate of one-half pound to every ten square feet of surface.

Please tell me when to prune a forsythia bush MRS. NANCY F.

Prune a forsythia as soon as possible after it has finished blooming.

Your Colds doubly dangerous NOW!

THIS is the season when pneumonia takes its heaviest toll. With an unusually large number of colds prevalent here and scattered cases of flu reported in many sections of the country, it is more than ever important to treat all colds promptly. Colds pull down body resistance and often pave the way for flu and pneumonia. Don't take chances. Double your protection with Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds."

1 To Prevent Many Colds: Whenever you feel yourself "catching cold"—that unmistakable stuffy, sneezy feeling—apply a few Vicks Nose Drops up each nostril. This will check many colds before they get beyond your nose and throat—where most colds start.

2 To Reduce the Severity of Colds: If a cold slips by these precautions . . . or strikes without warning . . . don't neglect it. At bed-time massage your throat and chest with Vicks VapoRub. During the day use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours for added comfort and relief. This gives you full 24-hour treatment.

Vicks Plan Doubles Your Defense Against Colds

STAGE CHILD HELD BETTER CARED FOR

Manager of National Theater Speaks for Passage of Capper-Norton Bill.

The stage child was defended as more intelligent than the average school child, better cared for and with morals more properly safeguarded, in a statement by S. E. Cochran, manager of the National Theater, before the legislative committee of the Board of Education yesterday.

Mr. Cochran appeared in support of the Capper-Norton bill to amend the District child labor law to permit the appearance in local theaters of girls under 18 years of age and of boys under 16, as late as 11 p. m.

Speaking from 27 years' connection with the theater, Mr. Cochran said he was "thoroughly satisfied that no more harm can come to the stage child, not as much in fact as to our own children, who in many cases are turned loose upon the streets after school hours to do as they please."

Fay Bentley, public schools attendance officer, appeared at the meeting in opposition to any change in the present law. Henry Gilligan, chairman of the committee, afterward announced the committee reached no decision on what recommendation it will make to the Board of Education.

Mr. Cochran told the committee he had seen such local "children" as Helen Hayes, Ina Claire, Ruth Chatterton, Mary Eaton and Kate Smith "go on to stardom."

"The stage child, as a rule, appears but briefly, has plenty of time for study and recreation, rarely works in summer, is better clothed, better fed, and their morals more properly safeguarded than the average child," he said. "In most cases the money they earn is saved by their parents until the maturity of the child."

The manager of the National declared the present law works a decided hardship on the theaters and operates to prevent presentation of such children's classics as "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," "Penrod," "Tom Sawyer," and "Dear Brutus."

"Why should responsible people of the theater be legislated against for the evils of the unscrupulous any more than reputable statesmen, judges, bankers, ministers, lawyers, and business men be judged by those who are impeached, abscond with bank deposits, or meet with public disgrace for acts not in keeping with their calling?" he asked the committee.

He said he was speaking only of the stage children who tour the representative theatrical chains, realizing that the high standard he set does not apply to the "mushroom" circuits or "honky-tonks" not represented in the District.

Watch Presented To Postal Foreman

After almost 42 years of service in the Post Office Department, Albert B. Clark, foreman of the lock department at the mail equipment shops, retired from active duty yesterday.

Mr. Clark lives at 454 Park road northwest. At his retiring ceremonies he was presented with an engraved watch and other gifts as tokens of esteem by his fellow employes. The presentations were made by John W. Philip, fourth assistant postmaster general.

Mr. Clark was a member of the original organization of the mail lock repair shop, having been appointed toolmaker on October 1, 1890. During all his years of service, he was never late on the job.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IN their arguments against the passage of the Capper-Norton bill, liberalizing the present child labor law of the District in the matter of theatrical appearances of girls under 18 years of age and boys under 16, the opponents of the proposed measure seem to have lost sight of an important consideration.

That is that their adverse attitude toward a piece of legislation that has been almost universally indorsed encompasses nothing of a constructive or remedial nature. Even if the present law, prohibiting the appearance of any juvenile player under the ages named upon the stage of any Washington theater after 7 p. m., is continued in force, that action will have no effect toward preventing the production of plays utilizing the services of children or the general presentation of those plays throughout the United States. Even if the restrictive laws now theoretically operative in seventeen States were faithfully and rigidly enforced—which they are not—there still remain thirty-one States with a sufficient total population to warrant the continuance on the part of producers of staging plays for their specific benefit.

The effect of the present law, in other words, is not to lessen the production of plays employing child actors but merely to subject the National Capital to a sort of ostracism, or boycott, that deprives it of the privilege of viewing some of the theater's greatest works and at the same time deprives the touring companies employing children of the privilege of seeking bookings in this city. The net result of the operation of the present law is purely negative. It benefits no one and inflicts inconvenience, if not hardship, on many.

The proposed Capper-Norton amendment will overcome this anomalous and obnoxious situation, at the same time safeguarding the physical, mental and moral welfare of the child actor to a degree considerably beyond the average of the public school child allowed to spend much of his time running loose in the streets.

In view of the added attractiveness of Washington with the Bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington in progress, such widespread interest has been manifested in the impending convention of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, to be held in the Mayflower Hotel for the three days beginning Monday, March 14, that the trunk line railroads have granted a special reduction in standard fares for this conclave.

It is expected that some 300 senators and representatives in Congress will be guests of the visiting theater owners and motion picture exhibitors at the banquet to be spread in the Mayflower on Tuesday evening, March 15.

Announcement is made from the office of A. Julian Brylawski that among the principal speakers to address the convention will be Louis Wiley, business manager of the New York Times.

Every motion picture theater owner and photoplay exhibitor in America has had business dealings with newspapers during the period of development of the cinema, spanning the last 20 years. Millions of dollars have been spent in newspaper advertising and millions of lines of praise and criticism of the pictures have been printed, but this is the first time within the recollection of the oldest member of the M. P. T. O. A. that the highest executive officer of one of the greatest newspapers in the United States has ever come face to face with the exhibitors of the Nation en masse to tell them what he thinks of them!

Mr. Wiley will outline the reciprocal relationship of the picture industry and the Fourth Estate during a comprehensive consideration of the topic of "News and Pictures."

It seems, after all, that Katharine Cornell, to appear here the week of March 7 in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," at the Belasco, has not committed herself definitely to appear in a screen version of the famous Rudolf Besier play for United Artists.

That United Artists has purchased the screen rights to the play is specifically corroborated, but the terms of the agreement relating to Miss Cornell's appearance in the role of Elizabeth Barrett, which she has elevated to the rank of a classic on the stage, provide only that if she decides to play the part for the cameras and microphones, U. A. will be only too glad to accord her that privilege under financial arrangements mutually satisfactory.

If, on the other hand, Miss Cornell should, upon the conclusion of her present tour in the play in Detroit in May, decide not to undertake the cinematographic version, other disposition of the play will be made by United Artists.

It is a highly laudatory view that Charles M. Schwab takes of the present economic situation in an interview in the current issue of the Fox Movietone News upon the occasion of his seventieth birthday.

Asked to point a lesson from his experience of the past 70 years, Mr. Schwab tosses the opportunity aside and suggests instead that the 70 years ahead be contemplated as a source of possible accomplishment and world betterment.

"Forget the past 70 years and the present period of stress through which we are passing and look to the 70 years before us," says Mr. Schwab in effect.

A very fine thought, but just exactly how do you go about that forgetting business?

Yesterday afternoon, El Brendel, here for a week of personal appearances at the Fox, brought a little cheer to the boys who can not get around much by putting on a special show for their benefit out at the Naval Hospital at Mount Alto. This afternoon he will cheer up the boys out at Walter Reed in similar manner. He is accompanied, of course, by Mrs. Brendel, professionally known as Flo Bert, who appears with him in his stage act.

Mr. Jimmy Lake is a smart showman. Following next week's engagement of Mrs. Jack ("Legs") Diamond at the Gayety, he now announces Marian "Kiki" Roberts, Miss Roberts, former Ziegfeld show girl, is the young woman whose name was linked with Master Diamond's perhaps more than any other for the several months preceding the racketeer's deletion during which the boys were indulging in frequent but comparatively ineffectual target practice.

By the way, that crazy plum tree out in the back yard—garden to you, city feller—broke into full bloom yesterday morning, for no reason at all.

150 New Members Initiated by Eagles

Class Taken In by Capital Aerie Sets Record; 2d Group Looms.

One of the largest classes of candidates ever initiated in Washington Aerie, No. 125, Fraternal Order of Eagles, was that of last night, when 150 new members were welcomed into the order in an impressive ceremonial, with more than 50 visiting members from Baltimore and Alexandria, Va., and several grand aerie officials assisting in the induction.

Judge Robert E. Mattingly was the presiding officer, with eight past presidents of the local aerie conducting the initiation. They were P. J. Callan, J. Rinehart, Louis Wege, Elmer Mobray, Gus Backenheimer, T. Furnary, Fred J. Knessi and W. E. Brown.

An address on "Fraternalism" by Edmund F. Cooke, member of the United States House of Representatives from Buffalo, N. Y., featured the entertainment following the ceremonial. Another class to be known as the George Washington Bicentennial class will be initiated on March 28, according to announcement by Worthy President Mattingly, and at this time Judge J. C. Canty, of Texas, grand worthy president of the Order of Eagles, will make an official visit and participate in the Bicentennial exercises.

Man Wins Suit as Firm Forgets Directed Verdict

The failure of the Concrete Oil Tank Co. to ask for a directed verdict at the close of a suit brought against it by Moffett M. Menefee, who had been hurt when rigging used in building a tank collapsed on him, cost it the case, the Court of Appeals said yesterday.

The company asked for a directed verdict at the close of Menefee's testimony, and when that was denied, it put in evidence and failed to ask for a directed verdict at the conclusion of the case. Menefee was charged with contributory negligence. The higher court said that by "introducing evidence in its own behalf and failing to move for a directed verdict at the close of all the evidence the company acquiesced in the submission of the case to the jury." The verdict for Menefee was affirmed.

Maj. Davison Gets Army Duty Order

Departure Marks Loss of Third Assistant Engineer Head Recently.

The District Engineer Department on June 30 will lose its Third Assistant Engineer Commissioner within a few months as a result of the transfer of Maj. D. A. Davison, acting Engineer Commissioner, to the United States Army Engineer School at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. Orders for the transfer were issued yesterday by the War Department.

Maj. Davison has been Acting Engineer Commissioner since last June, when Maj. Gotwals took an indefinite leave from the District service on account of illness. While he has been recuperating gradually, his retirement is expected. The Army retiring and relief board has held a hearing and made a report. No announcement is expected for another month.

Maj. Davison on June 30 will have completed his full four-year term as Assistant Engineer Commissioner, as he was appointed on July 1, 1928.

LIGHT OPERA TROUPE DEBUT IS APPLAUDED

"The Gondoliers," All Civic Effort, Presages Heavier Scores in Future.

The Washington Light Opera Company ventured into its first public flight last evening at the Belasco, when the colorful Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "The Gondoliers," was presented before an enthusiastic audience. Like all fledgelings, however, the company opened its performance not entirely sure of itself, but as the evening progressed the members of the cast entered more and more into the spirit of the rollicking burlesque of royalty. At the final curtain the company has proved its worth, not only as an organization well capable of admirably presenting the lighter musical plays, but also as the nucleus of a larger organization of the future for the production of grand opera.

Though infrequently sung—in comparison with "H. M. S. Pinafore" and "The Mikado"—"The Gondoliers" is by no means a stranger, the sparkling narrative of two gondoliers, one of whom was supposed to have been as a baby wedded to the equally infantile Casilda, daughter of the Duke of Plaza-Toro, and the viscissitudes of their short but eventful reign are too well known for further elaboration.

In fact, words are but feeble vehicles to describe all that W. S. Gilbert wrote into his homely philosophy and gently biting sarcasm, which has been so completely interpreted in the lilting score of Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Entirely Local Affair.

Entirely a local affair, this production deserves all the more commendation for its excellence, in performance as well as mounting. During the first act the cast was apparently ill at ease and it was, accordingly, impossible to appreciate the full quality of the voices or the histrionic capacity of the personnel. But the second act more than redeemed the first, and brought the whole to a delightful and rousing finish. As the two gondoliers of prime importance are Kroom Bagranoff and Henry Nestor, opposite whom Hasseltine Dunn and Beverly O'Brien play the dutiful, though somewhat shirked (by necessity), spouses.

The Duke of Plazo-Toro, of whose magnanimity and nobility he held "no plausible, possible doubt" was jauntily played by Edward Stock, jr., while his high degree of self-esteem was partly dampened by Rita Reyos, the duchess. Their charming daughter, the queen about to claim, belatedly, her husband, was played by Nina Norman, with Raymond Pigott as the lucky one, who by a queer turn of fate (not entirely unlike the "baby farming" episode of "Pinafore,") turns out to be the king.

Great Potentialities.

Harriet Gunderson has a small bit as Inez, whose testimony makes a king. Ira Philip Myer does the Grand Inquisitor, Don Alhambra Del Bolero, in grand style.

Washington may well be proud of its Civic Opera Company, the members of the acting company and the indefatigable and altruistic efforts of the executive staff.

The initial offering in any line of endeavor can seldom be held as attaining the full power, and last evening's performance was no exception. But, this company did demonstrate its potentialities, vocally and histrionically, and with encouragement it will go far toward consummating the desires that Washington, the only great national capital without one, shall have its own opera company.

W. A. WHITNEY.

GAYETY

"INNOCENT MAIDS." Columbia burlesque, with Lillian Dixon, Marcella Newberry, Madellon La Varen, Charles Cole, George Murray and Bob Startzman. Guest star, Nora Ford. Reviewed by W. L. Wright.

This show rings the bell with its sure-fire burlesque entertainment. It abounds in excellent comedy and pretty girls, who respond generously to many encores.

Lack of training is very evident in many of the numbers by the chorus, but this minor defect can easily be overlooked when the side-splitting antics of the three comedians, Charlie Cole, George Murray and Bob Startzman are under way. Their best and funniest skits are "The Red Mill" and "A Hollywood Apartment."

Harry Beasley, who plays the straight parts, teams well with Murray in a novelty dance number, while the blackface, quick change act by Startzman, is the hit of the show.

Marcella Newberry, a ravishing blonde, displays a nifty figure in several scenes, while a beautiful brunette, Miss Evelyn DuBoise, leads the chorus in song and dance specialties.

An added attraction is Miss Nora Ford, blues singer extraordinary, from the Southland. Since her last appearance in this theater Miss Ford has improved her already nearly perfect act. The Ford "shiver," new and hot, scored a big hit last night.

Rounding out an excellent show, Manager Lake has several colored performers doing fancy dance steps to the very evident enjoyment of those present.

$150 Robbery Follows Man's Refusal of Loan

William Wolfley, of 1428 R street northwest, reported to police yesterday that three men came to his home Sunday morning and robbed him of $100 in cash and a watch valued at $50.

According to Wolfley, the three men told him that a friend of his in Florida had given them his name and after introducing themselves asked him to loan them $100, which he refused to do. They then held him up with a pistol and a knife and rifled his pockets. He furnished police with a description of the robbers.

U. S. Drive Against Capone Makes Gangsters Pay Tax

(Associated Press.)

Gangsters, frightened by the Internal Revenue Bureau's drive against Al Capone, have voluntarily paid hundreds of thousands of dollars in income taxes due the Government.

The story of how they have been filing delinquent tax returns was told last night for the first time by David Burnet, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in a radio interview.

Mr. Burnet said that the Government realized the additional revenue after "it was apparent that this activity had pricked the conscience of many taxpayers who had failed to file returns or make honest returns."

"Since the first publicity relating to these cases," he continued, "the Government income from taxes has been increased by hundreds of thousands of dollars which came from delinquent and amended returns from taxpayers, many of whom were engaged in gambling and various other businesses of an illegal nature."

Commenting on the fact that the Government collects taxes derived from illegal incomes, the commissioner defended the policy.

"If we failed to collect taxes in cases of this kind," he said, "we would be establishing a class of tax exempt citizens. In theory, of course, a business should not be conducted in violation of State or Federal laws. If so conducted, and at a profit, the revenue laws tax this profit, notwithstanding its source."

TUESDAY MARCH 1, 1932 SPORTS

POST'S DISTRICT A. A. U. TOURNEY OPENS TONIGHT

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Biloxi, Miss., Feb. 29.

THE major league career of Louis Babcock started and ended today. The wandering rookie who ambled into the Nats' hotel yesterday and described himself as an outfielder who hit .425 in a Detroit sandlot league was given a uniform and a tryout this afternoon, and this evening he was on his way back to Detroit, disillusioned.

The tryout consisted of a dozen futile swings at the pitching of young Bud Thomas, the veriest of the rookie hurlers, and a half-dozen self-defense catches in the outfield. He was kindly informed by Coach Al Schacht, his sponsor of yesterday, that the Detroit sandlots was a far cry from the big leagues and that in the interest of his own welfare it would be best to forget, for the time being, his major league aspirations.

Young Babcock sauntered into the hotel late Sunday and announced himself to Manager Johnson as the youth who had been invited to try out with the Nats in Detroit last summer. Johnson failed to recall the invitation, but consented to the trial and he was turned over to the good offices of Al Schacht.

Schacht made the discovery that the wandering rookie had arrived with none of the coin of the realm in his pockets and none of the food of the realm in his stomach. A collection was hurriedly taken and staunchly refused by the visitor, until it was actually forced upon him by Schacht's pleadings and the pangs of hunger.

Babcock spent the first half hour at the ball park today learning the intricacies of a big league uniform but finally bedecked himself in the conventional gray flannel with a huge No. 36 adorning his back. He took his turn at the plate and the doom of his ambition was sealed. He had none of the action of a ball player and was waved into the outfield where he was able to get under the flies that came his way only after doing a butterfly flutter in the act. It fell to the unhappy lot of Schacht to inform him of his failure and dismissal.

Not in the memory of Clark Griffith's 43 years in baseball had an uninvited rookie ever made the grade with a big league team, the Nats' owner declared in commenting on the case of Babcock.

The bulk of them don't even look good, said Griffith, although each season a half hundred of these tyros walk in upon the team in every city in the circuit and plead for tryouts. None is overlooked, and the uniforms that have been issued these tyros during Griffith's tenure would clothe the Ninth Route Chinese army, but not a single prospect has been unearthed by this method.

Uninvited rookies are the lowest caliber of ball players, Griffith has discovered in his long experience. Usually they are moved by 90 per cent ambition and 10 per cent ability to seek these tryouts.

Griffith draws the distinction between uninvited rookies and rookies who have been recommended even though they be sandlotters. The case of young Bud Thomas, who played in Post's Capital City League last year, is in point. Old baseball men urged Griffith to give Thomas a tryout, and, though he had no more experience than young Babcock, he at least has all the actions of a ball player besides possessing a deal of native ability.

There is not a good ball player in the United States who has not at some time come under the eye of some competent baseball man, Griffith contends, and any youth who has no recommendation behind him stands no chance whatsoever to make the grade. Rookies have come up from the sandlots, of course, but in each case in Griffith's memory they were sent upon the big league trail by competent baseball men who knew their ivory.

George Uhle, a star for a decade with the Cleveland Indians, is the most notable example of the sandlot graduate in recent big league history, but Uhle didn't walk into the Cleveland camp unannounced. He won the acclaim of Indian scouts long before he joined the club.

Rivals Reach Compromise of 12 Rounds for Bout in Garden Ring.

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Billy Petrolle, the Fargo veteran, and Christopher (Bat) Battalino, of Hartford, Conn., former featherweight champion, were matched today to fight twelve rounds in Madison Square Garden March 11. The match was made at 140 pounds.

Negotiations for a Petrolle-Battalino match have been going on for some days, but Petrolle asked for ten rounds and Battalino insisted on fifteen. A compromise at twelve rounds was reached today.

Gelb Awarded Decision Over Welsh Before 3,000 Fans at Ritchie Coliseum

Lawson and Jallos Triumph; Schwartz-Powell Draw.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

MIKI GELB, an expressionless young man who was bantamweight champion of Hungary not far back, won a listless eight-round decision over Dick Welsh last night while a crowd of 3,000 reached for its tophats and capes, its caps and tattered sweaters, and sought the clear fresh air outside of Ritchie Coliseum.

Gelb won about as unspectacularly as is possible when two hard-hitting men, living by the dynamite in their fists, are sic'ed on each other in a fight ring. The decision was unanimous, and the oft-referred-to Washington Post scoresheet showed Gelb distinctly superior in the third, fifth, sixth and seventh, with the third and eighth tied, and the first a clean victory for Welsh.

The fighters turned out to be boxers from the start. They showed little willingness to know each other, except by sight, as they both backed around the round. It was Gelb, with a record of 37 victories out of 38 starts, who stopped the relentless tramp of people walking out on them, and the maddening clap, clap, clap of many hands, with a bristling offensive in the fifth round that rocked Norfolk Dick on the hindmost tips of his heels, and turned his handsome brown face into something that resembled an accident.

Welsh Stages Retreat.

Welsh was dangerously cut up in the fifth, retreating before a venomous attack by Gelb. The whole turning point of the bout—that is, the turning point which led to Welsh's staying out the fight—cropped up in the sixth. Gelb continued drilling in, nailing his man with punishing short blows that rattled Welsh's head about like a punching bag ricocheting off the elbow, wrist, and fist of a personal-appearance vaudeville champion.

Bloody and seeming a perfect foil for a few solid and well-chosen taps, Welsh jutted out his jaw at the startled Hungarian and fairly spat at him through the rain of blows. "Come on, ——, and fight!"

Gelb and Welsh finished in a waltz.

But if their performance fell short of the garrulous prefight predictions, the chief two preliminaries stood the crowd on ear. In the third bout of the night, after the coliseum had begun to tan with unheard of cigar smoke, Eric Lawson, a story-book fighter, threw a buckshot charge of gloves at the stolid bull-like rushes of Vince Forgione, Philadelphia middleweight, to win an 8-round decision and a great ovation.

Forgione, his face a replica of a relief map of the map, struck the blonde Newport News lad a series of much too low blows near the end, and the eventual winner was by far the weaker as the gong ended a great exhibition of boxing and an almost as great display of unremitting heart and glass-eyed subconscious charging.

Lawson Graceful Fighter.

As fast and graceful at a gazelle, and with little more punching power, Lawson made life miserable for his thick-eared heavy opponent, tricking him repeatedly, leaning contemptuously out of way of blows that would have sprung a leak in a brass fireplug and slicing his man into a ribbon counter. Once a fog had been beaten into his head, Forgione seemed to improve. He won the sixth round, aided by three questionable blows, and easily held his own near the end. Lawson did not like the body beating he got near the end, but the memory of that classical early round tap-tap-tap-splash remained poignant in the mind of the judges, and it was Lawson's fight.

Lou Jallos, peppery little Golden Gloves bantam champion, redeemed himself against Bobby Burns, Baltimore bull terrier, in the semiwindup. Burns must have used mirrors to hold him up in the fifth and eighth, but he made a beautiful fight of it against a more clever man.

The show opened with a four-round full-speed bantam bout between and among Joey Schwartz and Pete Powell. It was a draw.

Billy Strickler, local middleweight, was given a strange decision over Al Trainor, Philly 160-pounder, in the first 8-rounder of the evening.

Strickler won the last round, on superior aggression, but Trainor had an edge in the remaining seven. The bout had one great moment. With the end five seconds away, Trainor missed a vicious right, the weight of which spun him around near the ropes. For one burning moment his red chin stood out in crying relief against the black of the night around the ring. He was off balance. Strickler fought to clear his head, to tap that chin and send Trainor out on the hard court below.

He missed.

Buddy Myer Signs His 1932 Contract

Biloxi, Miss., Feb. 29.—Buddy Myer tonight signed his 1932 contract with the Nats after a half-hour parley with President Clark Griffith in his hotel room.

Griffith refused to divulge the terms, but the belief is that the second baseman accepted a salary reduction in line with the general wage-cutting policy of the big league magnates.

Myer's act reduced to three the list of unsigned players. They are Heinie Manush, Sam West and Joe Judge, who are not required to sign until they report March 6.

Coach Al Schacht is as yet unsigned and terms himself a semi-holdout. He is in receipt of 11 ultimatums from Griffith.

HOME TOWN PAYS HONOR TO VENZKE

20,000 Greet Youth Who Set 2 World Indoor Records.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 29. (A.P.). They placed a floral wreath on the tousled black hair of a local boy who made good, perched him atop an automobile and paraded him up High street tonight while four bands played, red torches flared and at least half of the 20,000 inhabitants rendered him vocal homage.

It was Pottstown's reception to Gene Venzke, 23-year-old high school boy who twice ran a mile indoors faster than it ever had been run before, and also lowered the 1,500-meter mark.

The American Legion with its band and drill team, the police band, the whole fire department with their sirens screeching, prominent citizens in some 200 automobiles and a long procession of schoolmates formed the parade.

Gene's mother, Mrs. Martha Venzke, and his two sisters, Lenore and Alice, rode in an automobile behind the smiling athlete.

Leading Matmen On Turner Card

Kotsonaros, Undefeated in D. C., Faces Steele; 4 More Bouts.

Wrestling will return to the Washington Auditorium with a gala card of outstanding hefties Thursday night with the usual ladies free and the unusual Ray Steele meeting George Kotsonaros in a bout which brings together a couple of toughies thoroughly experienced in the gentle art of buckling bones.

Steele's exploits in rassling have been pretty well exposed at this late date, but Kotsonaros, unbeaten here, is just beginning to be looked upon as something out of the ordinary line of matmen. He holds frequent decisions over Sandor Szabo and other worthies—in fact, has lost but twice in more than a year, and both times, of course, to J. Londos.

The other bouts on Matchmaker Turner's card are largely provided by reformed football players, a quartet of bruising gridmen who have won wide fame in the ringed mat. Tiny Roebuck meets Frank Spear in the semiwindup, Dock Wilson tackles Paul Harper, Benny Ginsburg meets George McLeod, and Fred Grobmeier, the leg scissors man from Figure Four, Tex., meets Cy Williams.

K. C. Marathon Team Stages Practice Run

The first of a series of training runs will be staged by the Knights of Columbus marathon team Sunday at 10:30. The run will start at the K. of C. Hall, 920 Tenth street northwest, and will cover approximately six miles. Bus Nicholson, who finished third in the three-mile run at the Catholic University games Saturday night; Jimmy Montague, Mike Lynch, Haskell Clarke and Jerry Looney will be among those to start.

A. A. U. TEAMS, NOTICE.

The following teams are requested to get in immediate touch with registration authorities at the Boys Club, National 3809 or Third and C streets: Levitan Clothiers, Northern Preps (unlimited), Sport Mart, St. John's Victors (130), Central "C" Club, Mount Rainier, Northwesterns, Potomac Boat Club, Christ Church, Ross Jewelers, St. Stephen's De Molay, A. G. O. War Department, Aloha Lites and United Typewriter Grays.

Carnera Extended to Defeat Charles on Ten-Round Decision

PARIS, Feb. 29 (U.P.).—Primo Carnera, Italian "man-mountain," won a ten-round decision over Pierre Charles, of Belgium, former European heavyweight champion, tonight at Palais des Sports.

Although outweighing the Belgian by 49 pounds, Carnera met with unexpectedly stiff opposition. Charles forced the fighting and clearly won at least three rounds—the fifth, sixth, and ninth. There were no knockdowns. Carnera's weight and a 4-inch height advantage enabled him to land the harder blows and take the decision.

Carnera weighed 264 pounds; Charles, 215.

The majority of critics had predicted that Charles would be knocked out before the seventh round. His excellent showing against the giant Italian made a favorable impression with fight fans.

Reynolds Arrives at Training Camp; Pleased With Chance to Play for Nats

Outfielder Expects to Regain His Best Form at Bat.

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 29.—Carl Reynolds, 6 feet, 194 pounds of outfielder, the former sock of the White Sox, arrived at the Washington Club's training camp late this evening and was the chief object of curiosity as he shouldered his big bulk about the lobby of the hotel after dinner.

Of course Reynolds is delighted at the trade which sent him to the Nats with Johnny Kerr in exchange for Pitchers Bump Hadley and Sam Jones, and of course he is tickled to death to play ball for Walter Johnson, to say nothing of the fact that he has always wanted to play ball for Washington and thinks Clark Griffith is one of the finest fellows extant.

The same speech is delivered by every tradee and by this time Hadley and Jones have gone on record in the White Sox camp at San Antonio as being delighted at the trade which sent them to Chicago, tickled to death to play ball for Lou Fonseca, to say nothing of the fact that they always liked Chicago as a city and think Charles Comiskey, jr., is a great guy.

Speech Rings Genuine.

But Reynolds' speech had a genuine ring and he went on to say that it was not the mere matter of transferring from an eighth place club to a third place club, but the possibility that he would be with a pennant winner, for he regards the Nats as the team most likely to knock the Athletics off the pennant perch with the possibility this season not so remote.

"Washington plays the smartest baseball in the league and has done so for several seasons," Reynolds declared. "It seems to me that the Nats have the stuff to give the Athletics and the Yankees a great fight and there are several ways of looking at it and seeing a chance for Washington to come out on top.

"I'm not afraid that Washington won't hit. Joe Cronin, Heinie Manush, Sammy West and a couple of others ought to be able to carry most any club along. I won't be any drawback in there, and, if I have a good season, I'll be lots of help to the team. Defensively, I like the club the best in the league, and with me it's all a question of pitching. If we get the pitching, we'll be up there from the start and may be at the finish."

Reynolds took the occasion to explode a few myths about his base running and was pained to learn that extra precautions were being taken in regard to his sliding, which had been described as little short of atrocious and resulting in the frequent injuries which laid him low last year.

"I can slide into the bases as easy as any man in the league," he declared, "but with the White Sox I was in a tough spot. The team was always behind, being in eighth place, and I had to take all kinds of chances to bring a run home.

"Another thing, I was in there busting up the man who covered second base all the time. That wasn't sliding; it was line plunging. If I didn't spill him, there was a sure double play on ground balls. I had big Smead Jolley, a slow man, hitting behind me in every game and I had to get the man who covered second and dump him or there always would be two outs. Those are the plays that hurt me.

"My batting average slumped last year, but I wasn't in shape half the time after I tore a leg muscle early in the scene. But they kept me in the line-up. I finally had to walk out on Donie Bush and go home. I was in such poor shape. The year before I hit .355 and I'd have done better last year if I hadn't been hurt.

Reynolds is slated to succeed Sam Rice as the Nats' regular right fielder. With the White Sox he played in every outfield sector, but he prefers to play right. He likes the Washington park and has parked several home runs into the left field bleachers, besides hitting the right field fence, a prodigious wallop for a right-handed hitter. He has no choice as to right and left handed pitching. He is fast on his feet, having been a 10-second man in college. He was a four-letter athlete at Southwestern University, Texas, and spent only two months in the minors before joining the White Sox in 1927.

Buddy Myer and Bobby Burke joined the rubber-shirted brigade consisting of Fred Marberry and Howard Maple today. It was their first workout and brought the squad now here to a total of 18.

Trainer Mike Martin became exasperated with Burke's lethargy during the workout and threatened dire consequences unless the tall left-hander of no-hit fame started hustling.

Burke, the enigma of medical science heretofore by his inability to put on weight, reported with an additional five pounds, traced to the fact that he underwent an intestinal operation during the winter.

With the arrival of Mrs. Buddy Myer, who accompanied the second baseman here, the contingent of wives was brought to four with Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Lloyd Brown and Mrs. Carl Fischer already here. Mrs. Fred Marberry, Mrs. Sam Rice and Mrs. Sammy West are due to arrive during the week.

Jack Hayes Listed As Chisox Regular

Mineral Wells, Tex., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—No one had an idea at this stage of training last year, what combination would start the season as the Chicago White Sox infield, but things look different this season.

La Blue is regarded as a fixture at first base, Minter Hayes, obtained from Washington, is expected to start at second, with Bill Cissell and Carey Selph at shortstop and third, respectively. This leaves Luke Appling and Billy Sullivan, among others, to fight for utility positions.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 29 (A.P.). Led by the twin monarchs of home run slugging, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the New York Yankees put on their first full spring drill today for the benefit of some 5,000 nonpaying fans, a full battalion of photographers and a corps of experts. The experts consider this expensive outfit the one most likely to dislodge the Athletics from the American League peak this year.

Just to make the opening ceremonies official, Ruth, in uniform for the first time, almost punctured the high water tower with a foul ball, pounded one of his typical home run balls into the palm trees bordering the lake beyond center field and easily dominated the whole affair.

"That's the hardest work I've done this year," puffed the Babe after he had run around the bases half a dozen times. Whereupon he retired to rest and express his approval of the rookie stars performing under the direction of Manager Joe McCarthy and First Lieut. Jimmy Burke.

The Yankee holdout ranks were further reduced when another Pacific Coast youngster, Jesse Hill, who used to do some fancy broad jumping before turning to baseball, reported and signed his contract. Hill is an outfielder.

Ruth and Tony Lazzeri are now the only unsigned players. All that stands between Ruth and the ceremony of affixing his signature to a document calling for $70,000 per year is a conference with Col. Jacob Ruppert. This is expected to take place next week in time for Ruth to play in the Yankee's first exhibition contest with the Boston Braves, March 12. The Babe wants a two-year contract, but so far Col. Ruppert has offered only one.

Palo Alto, Calif., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Dale Alexander shattered a Stanford University tradition and gave the Detroit Tigers' spring training season an auspicious opening today by twice driving the ball from home plate over the left field fence at the university baseball field today.

The fence is 460 feet from the plate and Stanford athletic authorities said the feat never before had been accomplished. It was the Tigers' first drill. The advance guard of 21 players ar-

Jaffee, Olympic Champion, Seeks $600 for Expenses, Paper Says

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—The Globe-Democrat says tonight that Irving Jaffee, of New York, winner of the 5,000 and 10,000 meter races in the 1932 ice races will not be among the contestants in a skate carnival here Sunday because $600 in expense money was demanded for Jaffee and his trainer, whereas officials of the ice meet considered $250 sufficient to cover expenses.

The Globe-Democrat publishes a statement by Joseph Forshaw, one of the officials in charge of the forthcoming carnival here, in which he says $600 expense money was demanded by "one Julian T. Abeles, of New York, purporting to represent Jaffee as his attorney," and that the matter was "put up to the president of the Amateur Skating Union of the United States, Joseph K. Savage, of New York." Savage informed Forshaw, the newspaper says, that Jaffee denied Abeles was his agent.

Ruling Keeps Marines' Five Out of Tourney

The Quantico Marines, strong entrant in the unlimited division of District A. A. U. basket ball championship, were ruled out of play by local officials of the local amateur union, who based their action on that fact that the National A. A. U. forbids them to hold sovereignty over more than a 15-mile radius from Washington.

N. CAROLINA, GEORGIA IN FINALS.

Tarheels Rout Auburn, 52 to 31; Duke Is Beaten, 43-32.

ATLANTA, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—North Carolina, whose teams swept to Southern Conference basket ball championships in 1924-25-26, and Georgia, a finalist, but once before, will battle for the 1932 cage crown here tomorrow night.

These quintets earned the right to decide this year's court supremacy by winning semifinal engagements tonight from Auburn and Duke. The Carolina Tarheels beat Auburn, 52 to 31, while Georgia eliminated the other up-country team—Duke—43 to 32.

Georgia has gone to the semifinals in five of the eight tournaments here, but lost to Vanderbilt, 46 to 44, in its only appearance as a finalist in 1927.

Both finalists employ the man-to-man defense and a similar offense, featuring the key man near the foul line on the attack.

Carolina Surprises Auburn.

Carolina's margin over Auburn, last of the seeded teams, was surprising even to those who anticipated a Tarheel victory.

Carolina's short passes worked smoothly and their sharpshooters were ringing baskets from all corners.

Duke conceded every tip-off to Georgia, and once in possession, the Bulldogs quickly jockeyed into scoring position, firing successfully from almost every angle. Bill Strickland, Georgia's center, held a several-inch height advantage over Alpert, of Duke.

Leonard Impresses In Comeback Victory

New York, Feb. 29 (U.P.).—Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, passed his first genuine test in his comeback campaign tonight when he won a ten-round decision over Billy McMahon, rugged New York welter, before 4,000 fans at St. Nicholas Arena.

At times the semibald Leonard appeared like the master boxer of eight years ago. He bobbed and weaved under McMahon's wild swings, and countered with stiff jabs which kept the younger opponent off balance.

Mihills Again Heads Indian Spring Club

At the annual meeting of the Indian Spring Club last night, which was largely attended, Herbert A. Mihills was elected president for the fourth consecutive year and H. P. Brown was chosen vice president. William M. Smith and H. H. Shinnick were, respectively, reelected treasurer and secretary.

Eleven members were nominated for six positions on the board of governors, the nominees receiving the highest number of votes being as follows: Dr. George A. Baker, Thomas M. Belshe, C. F. Brookes, William J. Harvey, jr., Frank Kennedy, Dr. George W. Maxfield, D. M. Neale, Charles F. O'Connell, William H. Pattison, Forrest Thompson and Fred Walen.

Dr. Havenner Throws First Ball; Shipleys Play Sport Mart.

Bliss and Ross Fives Clash; K. of C. to Meet Crescents.

DR. GEORGE C. HAVENNER, executive vice president of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, will open the sixth and greatest of all District A. A. U. basket ball championships tonight at Tech High Gymnasium before one of the greatest crowds of the year. As Dr. Havenner tosses up the first ball, flashlights will boom, lens will click and the scramble for seven district championships will be undertaken by 100 teams.

Three games make up tonight's gala card, starting at 8 o'clock when the Shipleys, an aggregation of Hyattsville High players, scholastic champions of Prince Georges County, engage the Sport Mart five in a 130-pound battle.

At 9 o'clock the Bliss Electrical School's Varsity Team, undisputed champions of the Washington Collegiate Conference, starts out on its long drive for the championship of the unlimited division, by meeting the Ross Jewelers. It will be this game that Dr. Havenner, assisted by officials high in public life, will send into action.

Caseys and Crescents Battle.

The third game at 10 o'clock looms as one of the greatest battles of the whole month-long tournament, for it matches the Knights of Columbus and the Crescents, two crack clubs, both of whom have supporters to win the championship.

In other columns in today's Post are printed a complete list of eligible players. A number of names have been omitted, either through failure to weigh in or obtain new A. A. U. cards. These players are asked to call at the Boys' Club today.

With a Bicentennial background, supervision by The Washington Post, and the greatest array of basket ball teams ever gathered in a tournament east of Chicago, the tournament stands tonight as the beginning of a great period in local basket ball. Approximately 1,000 players are vitally concerned over the draw printed in another section of The Post, for it holds their fate in the tournament.

Shipleys and Bliss Favorites.

The Shipleys and Bliss are narrow favorites to come through victorious and enter the second round of play tonight, but it would take a hardy prognosticator to pass an opinion on the outcome of the Casey-Crescent game. The Knights have one of their greatest teams in years, with courtmen of the caliber of John Hickey, Tommy Nolan, Ted Anderson, Leo Gubisch and Earle Webb. The Crescents have Wilbur Cross, former Central all-high player; Tom Wilson, Lynn Woodward and others.

Harry Fiddesop, well known local trainer, will be in charge of the dressing rooms at Tech High School during the A. A. U. tournament. He will administer first aid to injured players, and look after their welfare during the games.

Howard U. Defeats Smith University, 55-24

"Pegs" Pinn, Bison freshman center, put the game on ice last night for the Howard University quint on their home court, when they defeated the Golden Bull five from Johnson C. Smith University, of Charlotte, N. C., 55-24. He outjumped and outreached everybody on the floor, and gave the Bisons the opportunity to demonstrate their scoring ability when signals are working.

Browning Shows At Bolling Field

Meets Martin on Program of Bowser Chain on Monday Night.

Jim Browning, one of the three leading wrestlers in the Paul Bowser chain gang of matmen, yesterday was added to the preliminary card of grappling matches to be staged Monday night at Bolling Field under the auspices of the Bolling Field Athletic Association.

Browning will meet the venerable and belligerent "Booooool" Martin, who was the composite Chief White Feather, Tiger Nelson and Nick Nestor of the local mat game several years back. The Martin man is reputed tougher than ever.

Karl Pojello, who earned much fame on Matchmaker Joe Turner's bills last summer, when he was a paid up member of the Curley mastodons, holds the center of the spotlight on the Bowser card, meeting Dudy Laditzi. Billy Bartush and Tommy Texis meet in the other feature bout.

Sam Cordovano, former Hilltop gridman, tackles Danny Winters and Charley Strack tangles with George Harben in the other bouts. Women, accompanied by escorts, will be admitted free.

VIC'S-SAKS SCRIMMAGE.

Vic's Sport Shop will scrimmage Saks tonight at 9:30 o'clock at Central. Players of both teams are requested to report promptly.

ULUNIU IS WINNER AS TROPICAL PARK RESUMES RACING

Feature Won In Blanket Finish

Banner Crowd, Ideal Conditions Greet 2d Session.

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A banner crowd enjoying ideal weather, welcomed the ponies back to the Gables Racing Association's picturesque course here today. With the season still in bloom, plenty of horses on the grounds and the new plant freshly prepared for the second session of eighteen racing days, President-Manager Frank Bruen anticipated a meeting more successful, financially and artistically, than the last one.

The Gables Handicap, a test of 1 mile for 3-year-olds and upward, featured the inaugural card, and favorite players received many a thrill before their choice, Mrs. R. Pollard's Uluniu took the purse by a neck in a blanket finish. Waterway saved the place by a nose from Full Dress. Uluniu paid $4.60 for $2 and ran the distince in 1:38 3-5.

Lady Broadcast Never Contender.

It was a live betting race with the winner, Lady Broadcast and Waterway all receiving a heavy play. Lady Broadcast broke sluggishly from the outside and racing wide, never could get up under a rather weak ride.

Full Dress and Uluniu sped to the first turn closely aligned, but Buddy Hanford wisely took back slightly in the back stretch and let the Man o' War horse show the way. Thais showed good speed and as the field sailed around the bend, the Whitney filly was racing right with Full Dress and Uluniu on the outside. Uluniu responded to hard urging and coming through the middle, gradually forged to the front after straightening out. Waterway closed like a demon, but his rush was too late. Thais quit under pressure.

Jockey Hank Mills, who proved such a sensation the first meeting of the local track in his Florida debut, got right back into the limelight when he brought Light Nun home a longshot winner of the opening six-furlong dash. The filly beat Estin by a head with Timour a length away in third place.

Mills Rides Day's First Two Winners.

Dedicate was a strong favorite, but after racing up to the leaders around the bend the gelding stopped. Light Nun took an early lead and held on gamely when Estin and Timour challenged through the short stretch. The winner paid $21.90. Mills made it two in a row when he guided Hieover, $4.50 for $2 shot, to a driving victory in the second contest.

New Orleans Feature To Walter D.

New Orleans, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Making the second start of his career, Walter D., a 3-year-old owned by W. Hebold, today won the six-furlong feature at the Fair Grounds. In his only other start, four days ago, the son of Dress Parade finished third.

With McCoy in the saddle, Walter D. set the pace from the rise of the barrier, running the six panels in 1:13 1-5 to beat A. B. Leteller's Green Wave by a length. Frank Seremba's Heifer finished third—the first time she had been in the money this year.

On the basis of his previous effort Walter D. was well supported, paying $3 for $2 in the mutuels.

Grakle 17-2 Choice In Grand National

London, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—A wide open race in the Grand National Steeplechase, which will be run over the historic Aintree Course at Liverpool, March 18, was indicated today by the call-over betting odds at the Victoria Club.

C. R. Taylor's Grakle, winner of last year's gruelling four-mile test in record time, ruled the slight favorite over the 49 other candidates. The 10-year-old jumper was quoted at 17 to 2, as compared with his winning price of 100 to 6, in 1931.

Mrs. C. S. Bird, jr.'s Heartbreak Hill was made the chief hope of the American contingent of 14 horses, gaining second place in the call-over with A. E. Berry's Remus and Mrs. L. A. Gemmel's Gregalach, winner in 1929 and runner up to Grakle last year. Each was held at 100 to 9. Gregalach has been assigned the top weight of 175 pounds as compared with 120 for Heartbreak Hill, and 149 for Remus.

John Hay Whitney's Dusty Foot was the only other American horse to rank near the top. Together with L. D. Cherry-Downes' Hand, the American jumper was quoted at 25 to 1.

Palfrey Sisters Bow In Bermuda Tourney

Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, of England, defeated Sarah and Mianne Palfrey, of Boston, 6—2, 6—3, in the final round of women's doubles in the Bermuda tennis championships today.

Miss Nuthall, staging a comeback after her defeat by Sarah Palfrey in the women's singles finals last week, played faultlessly despite a rain-soaked, slippery court. She was the dominant figure of the match although she was given good support by Mrs. Whittingstall.

—Tropical Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

TROPICAL PARK, Miami, Fla., Feb. 29.—Tropical Park, endeavoring by its second meeting to recoup some of the losses of the first session, was encouraged by the large crowd at the opening, and seems to have enough horses on hand for well-filled programs. For tomorrow, the Miami Shores Handicap is the headliner and has a speedy field for the 5½-furlong sprint.

JAZ AGE appears to be a standout in the feature, and in his last start was beaten narrowly at a mile in 1:38 by Royal Ruffin, but this was beyond his distance. The shorter route tomorrow seems to almost assure victory. The contender should be PENNATE, which will have strong opposition for place money by the improved DOUBLE HEART. The last named was beaten only a head by General A. recently and has won several races this winter. The distance best suits JAZ AGE.

FIRST RACE—There is little or no class in the large field, but WOCO, which ran some good races at the first meeting at this track, having finished second to Helios in one test, appears the best here. DARK WAR should be considered. Most any of the lot can get show money, with PRINCESS VAL having an outside chance for the short end.

SECOND RACE—NORWALK is selected. He probably will be favorite. MARABOU has had a long rest, and won his last start, which was at the first meeting at this course. He may be ready. CHIANTI is another sleeper and should cut a figure in this dash. The race is an open one.

THIRD RACE—PRETTY PENNY, scratched Saturday, but having shown good form in several races, should win. CRACK PLAY, after a rest of five weeks, is rated the contender. TEACH ME may improve. Change of tracks scrambles the form.

FIFTH RACE—CAPTAIN ED should repeat in the fifth race at six furlongs. He beat a better field than this last week. DON ROMIRO, a victor in 1:06 Saturday, should be a keen contender. He beat MORON by a neck, coming from behind on the outside, wisely ridden by M. Lewis. MAE SWEEP is a show possibility, fast but outclassed.

SIXTH RACE—They put BILL SOUTHAM over last time at better than 15 to 1. This Bradley-bred horse has been ready for the right spot for a month, and as his form has been exposed, he is expected to come right back and win the sixth. PHANTOM ROCK will make it a hard race for him and hold the others safe. ZEGOR was third to BILL SOUTHAM last out and should be a contender for place money.

SEVENTH RACE—DRUGGIST and CHICSU should fight it out with the first named, on present form having slightly the best of it. CHICSU will hold the balance of the field safe, but PUTTER should get third money.

Two-dollair mutuels paid—LIGHT NUN, $21.90, $8.30, $4.70; ESTIN, $8.70, $5.90; TIMOUR, $4.30.

LIGHT NUN broke fast and went to the front, raced JALPUR into submission and had enough left to stall off determined challenge from ESTIN. Latter, outrun first half, closed with a rush. He would have won in another stride. TIMOUR broke slowly and was unable to get through on back stretch. He was jumped on and knocked off his stride at top of stretch just as he was making his run. JALPUR tired badly.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:04. Off at 3:06. Winner, Mrs. V. Bellew's br. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—HIEOVER, $4.50, $2.50, $2.50; MISS AVONDALE, $2.50, $2.30; MERRY WINDSOR, $3.80.

HIEOVER, outrun in early stages, moved up with a burst of speed rounding the far turn, came wide entering home stretch and finished strong. MISS AVONDALE, a forward contender most of the journey, outlasted MERRY WINDSOR in final drive. MERRY WINDSOR had lot taken out of her racing NONANA into submission. Latter saved ground at stretch turn, where she drew away, but tired last sixteenth.

THIRD RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $600; claiming. Coral Way Purse. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:31½. Off at 3:34. Winner, J. O. Keen's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PANCHO LOPEZ, $9.90, $4.80, $2.70; FAIR JACK, $14.50, $6.00; CLAREMONT, $2.40.

PANCHO LOPEZ went to the front with a rush going to the half-mile pole. Lewis then took him in hand and hugged the rail remainder of journey. He hung on well in final drive. FAIR JACK began moving up rounding the far turn, but bore out some entering home stretch. He came again when straightened out. CLAREMONT began slowly, but finished going strong. BACCIOCCO could never get up.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,000. Gables Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:04. Off at 4:06½. Winner, Mrs. R. Pollard's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ULUNIU, $4.60, $2.80, $2.40; WATERWAY, $3.00, $2.70; FULL DRESS, $2.90.

ULUNIU broke fast, saved ground at first turn. He was taken in hand on back stretch and moved up in between FULL DRESS and THAIS rounding turn into home stretch, finished courageously under punishment and was up first at finish. WATERWAY, outrun to stretch turn, closed with a rush, but hung when put to a drive. LADY BROADCAST broke outside the stalls from the extreme outside, went wide going to first turn. RIP VAN WINKLE saved ground all the way.

FIFTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:43. Off at 4:45½. Winner, Mrs. H. E. Chapman's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CALGARY KAY, $6.10, $5.70, $4.00; BATTLING ON, $9.20, $5.70; BOB'S PLAY, $4.20.

CALGARY KAY, outrun in early stages, moved up on the outside rounding the far turn, was carried wide by BATTLING ON entering home stretch, but closed strong when straightened out. He was going away at end. BATTLING ON, a forward contender all the way, hung in final drive. BOB'S PLAY, hustled along all the way, was bumped at top of home stretch and tired badly at end. BROOKSIE showed early speed.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:15½. Off at 5:23. Winner, J. C. Fletcher's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SIR BYRON, $18.30, $7.10, $4.80; TANTALIZING, $6.10, $4.60; TIGER PRINCE, $2.70.

SIR BYRON, rated off the pacemakers in run down the back stretch, moved up stoutly rounding the far turn, went to the front with a rush at top of home stretch and drew away without effort. TANTALIZING, used up racing JIMMIE L. into submission, weakened when challenged. TIGER PRINCE saved ground rounding the far turn. LORD CONCORD closed strong. TOP HATTIE was in close quarters most of the journey. The last four were as good as left at the post.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:55. Off at 5:58. Winner, A. Zimmer's br. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MUFF, $5.20, $3.90, $3.10; BRAGGADOCCIO, $3.20, $3.10; BIG BO, $3.80.

MUFF outbroke her field from the outside, was perfectly rated in front, saved ground and held BRAGGADOCCIO safe in mild drive. BRAGGADOCCIO raced forwardly and closed gamely under strong urging. BIG BO, always up, hung in last furlong. BO BALLOT, off slow, closed big esp. MONTGOMERY MAID stopped very suddenly after showing early foot.

SAINTS BEAT G. U. PREPS, 33 TO 15

Scheele Leads Cadets in Third Clash Between Rivals.

EXHIBITING a whirlwind attack that swept everything before it, St. John's convinced the most skeptical doubter of its right to the prep school championship, which it recently acquired in The Post's tournament, by running wild against Georgetown Prep in the Vermont avenue gym yesterday, winning by a score of 33-15. It was the deciding game of the series between the two.

Only last week the Cadets had pulled the decisive game of the prep school tournament out of the fire with a thrilling rally in the final three minutes of play. Georgetown Prep was their opponent, and there were many who left thinking the Garrett Parkers the equal of the Johnnies. Yesterday's game left the winners high and dry with their title.

Baby-faced Fred Scheele, as handsome a lad as ever laid foot on the court, was the splinter in the eye of the Prepmen. He left his guard waiting at the altar on numerous occasions while he hustled down and shoved the ball through the netting for the eventual winners. Eleven points in all were credited to him. McCarthy and Scanlon also played well for the winners. St. John's led by a substantial margin throughout the fray.

Tonight the Vermont Avenue quintet will oppose Calver Hall, Baltimore scholastic champions, at 8 o'clock at St. John's.

Cyril Walker Hurts Hand, Quits Tourney

Miami, Fla., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Cyril Walker, Saddle River, N. J., today announced his withdrawal from the pairing list of the $5,000 international four-ball matches, to start here Sunday, because of an injured hand.

Walker's fingers were mashed when he accidentally shut an automobile door on them recently and have not sufficiently recovered to permit his usual game of golf, he said.

He was paired with Harry Hampton, veteran Chicago golfer.

Tournament officials telegraphed invitations today to Abe Espinosa, Chicago, and Clarence Clark, Bloomfield, N. J., named as alternates in the entries. The first to accept will be paired wtih Ralph Kingsrud, Fargo, N. Dak., while Neil McIntyre, Kingsrud's former partner will be paired with Hampton.

C. U. BOXERS TRIUMPH, 6 TO 2

Pyne Winner By K. O. in First

Loyola Mittmen Are Outclassed; Stines in Victory.

Gearty, Flynn and Thibadeau Win Matches.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 29.—Catholic University brought a boxing team to Evergreen tonight that had too much in its repertoire for the new Loyola College battlers. The result was a 6-to-2 triumph for the Washington Collegians, and there was not a murmur of dissent over the decisions, until the last bout.

In the contest, a heavyweight encounter between Flynn, of the Catholic contingent and Cullen, the fans cut loose a hearty chorus of boos when the verdict was given to the visitor. Cullen appeared to have won the first and third rounds by sufficient margin at least to offset the damage done to him in the second session. At any rate, he was entitled to a draw, the spectators thought.

Pyne Wins in Short Time.

Though he appeared for less than a minute, Danny Payne, ace of the invading team, easily was the outstanding fighter. In scoring a speedy technical knockout over Bruce Biggs, in the 165-pound class, Pyne studied his man for a few seconds behind raised gloves, and then went to work with both hands. He required only 40 seconds of the initial round to find an opening for a short, jolting right that floored Biggs for the count.

One other bout ended before the standard three rounds had been completed. In the 135-pound division, Thibadeau, of Catholic University outclassed Piotczyk and downed him twice in the initial session. The first time Piotczyk rose at the count of two and when he hit the canvas again within a few seconds, he arose so groggy that he stumbled to his corner and the referee halted the hostilities. A minute and three quarters of the round had passed when the end came.

Stines in Easy Victory.

Stines, the visiting captain, battered Rehkopf, making his first start as Loyola welterweight. The latter weathered the full 6 minutes, however, and proved game, though overmatched.

155-POUND CLASS—Maraglia (Loyola) defeated Singleton, decision, three rounds.

Referee—Buck Alexander.

Hitting The Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

THE National Capital League franchise of the National Pale Drys was adjudged vacant at a meeting of the directors of the league held last night. It was immediately taken up by the Northeast Hupmobile team which will finish out the schedule.

The withdrawal of Louis Hopfenmeier from the league comes as no surprise to bowlers, as it was known that he was contemplating such a move some time ago. Maxie Rosenberg, one of the foremost duckpinners of the city, will assume charge of the team, which is leading the league by a seven-game margin and is a safe bet to win the championship. Maxie will have practically the same team under him that competed for the Pale Drys.

We have a communication from Catherine Crawley announcing the third annual Brother and Sister tournament to be held at the Mount Rainier Alleys the week of March 14. The entry fee will be $3.50 per couple, including the cost of games. Matches may be rolled during the day, before 8 p. m. in the evening, and after 10 p. m. Boss Ackman and Frank Fague won the tournament last year and will probably defend their title. Hugh is helping his sister with arrangements for the affair.

With Miss Kirk knocking the pins topsy turvy for a game of 125 and set of 318, Meyer Davis took the odd one from the John Blicks in the Ladies' District League at Arcadia. The winners' high game of 509 helped considerably in building up a 1,497 set.

Harbin's 150 and 364 scores were the cow's moo in the Engineering Reproduction League at Arcadia. Photos apparently made use of a double exposure to win the team honors with 528 and 1,469.

Herbie McProuty, the old maestro, marched off with the individual honors in the Merchants League at Convention Hall when he rattled the tenpins for a game of 146 and set of 389. His work was largely instrumental in the fine showing of the Southern Dairies, which rolled a 598 game and 1,768 set to top the teams.

When "Maple" Woody slams the Maplewoods he usually does a good job of it. Last night he bowled over the bottles for a game of 146 and set of 379. Commerce bagged the team prizes with a game of 610 and set of 1,717.

Mayne Fleharty's 128 game and 324 total were the best scores recorded in the women's division of the same loop. Live Stock's 467 and Inter-Division's 1,370 were be for the teams.

Lincoln Forfeits Game to Howard

Colored Athletic Body Suspends University; Reverses Football Score.

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 29.—Lincoln University was suspended by the Colored Intercollegiate Athletic Association for violation of the rules at a special meeting of the executive committee of the association held here today. The committee also voted to forfeit the football game, which the suspended school won from Howard last fall, to the latter as a penalty for using an ineligible player.

Lincoln used a player by the name of Wilbur Lamar, who decided the issue in his team's favor by dropkicking the point after touchdown. Under the I. C. A. A. code he was ineligible to participate in sports because of delinquency in studies.

As further grounds for suspending the Philadelphia institution, the committee quoted an admission of Prof. H. F. Grim, chairman of the Lincoln University committee on athletics, that Lincoln teams had played against clubs and college teams that did not subscribe to the C. I. A. A. code or one equivalent to the same. The suspension is for an indefinite period, and during that time Lincoln will be barred for playing teams affiliated with the association.

BUDGET IN FAIRFAX TO COME UP TODAY

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 186.

The board of supervisors of Fairfax County will hold a special meeting this morning at 10 o'clock, in the county courthouse at Fairfax. At this time the taxpayers will be given an opportunity to express their views for or against any item in the proposed county budget for next year.

The tentative budget, as prepared by County Manager F. N. Larkin, shows the estimated amounts needed as compared with actual expenditures for the present fiscal year and the previous fiscal year. It appears from the tentative budget that the tax rate on each $100 property valuation for next year will include 45 cents for general county purposes, 90 cents for schools and 80 cents for roads, which is 10 cents less than was paid this year. The levy for bond issues and interest funds, which varies in the six magisterial districts, will be added to the county levy.

There is some speculation as to whether a county road levy will be made this year because of the uncertainty occasioned by the Byrd road bill, which has been passed by the Virginia House of Delegates and is now pending before the State Senate, and it is said, with a high degree of certainty, that the bill will become a law.

A local option clause in the bill provides that on a petition signed by 15 per cent of the voters in the county prior to July 1 the Circuit Court will order an election on the question whether or not the county will vote to be excluded from its provisions.

With the passage of the bill county officials will be in a dilemma as to what to do. It would mean the suspension of all county road activities immediately, waiting for the State to take over the county roads on July 1. If the petition is presented to the court by that time an election could not be held until August with an uncertain outcome. This would cause the suspension of all activities until at least in September or October.

The estimated total county budget for 1932-33, to be considered this morning, including both county and district expenditures, shows a reduction, with $512,945.94 for next year, compared to $517,436.25 for the current year and $533,265.76 for 1931.

Smith Denies Reid Shirked Duty on Memorial Highway

Virginia Representative Declares Delegate and He Appeared Before Budget Officers and Obtained Inclusion of $25,000 Item for Road.

Charges that Hugh Reid, Arlington County delegate to the Virginia General Assembly, had failed to seek funds for development of the George Washington Memorial highway, were declared "unreasonable and unfair" yesterday by Representative Howard W. Smith (Democrat), of Virginia.

"Both Hugh Reid and myself appeared before Virginia budget officers in support of the $25,0000 appropriation required as the State's contribution toward the project," he said.

"As a result the $25,000 item is now in the budget. The bill, as drawn, has already passed the House and is about to be reported out of the Senate committee. No separate bill is necessary, as charged by Hugh Lee Kirby."

Under the Capper-Crampton act, Virginia must raise $50,000 for the George Washington Memorial Parkway. Half of the sum would be contributed by Arlington and Fairfax Counties and the City of Alexandria.

Mr. Kirby is circulating a petition through the latter three sections urging the General Assembly to ratify the Capper-Crampton act. He charges that Delegate Reid failed to seek the $25,000 necessary as the State's contribution.

Kensington Elects Chamber Leaders

New Directors Are Chosen; W. I. Cleveland Begins Term as President.

A new board of directors was elected at the meeting of the Kensington Chamber of Commerce last night at Kensington School. They are D. D. Bohanan, R. H. Chappell, R. P. Green, J. T. Lewis, Harry M. Martin, H. W. McGinniss, Wilson L. Townsend and William A. Wagner. Officers had already been elected.

The meeting had been postponed from the previous Monday night. The chamber directed the secretary to send letters thanking the 26 organizations which copperated in the Kensington Bicentennial celebration February 21 and to the George Washington University Glee Club and the Maryland University Band and the various speakers for their part.

The chamber went on record as indorsing the rezoning of Connecticut avenue from the Chevy Chase Firehouse to the Jones Bridge road so that business enterprises and apartment houses can be erected. W. I. Cleveland served for the first time last night in his office of president.

Executives of Clubs to Meet.

The executive board of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs will meet this morning at 10 o'clock at the Central Methodist Church, St. Elmo avenue, Bethesda, Md. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock.

Mother of Mooney Arrives Tomorrow

Plans to See Congress and President About Pardon for Imprisoned Son.

The 84-year-old mother of Tom Mooney will reach Washington tomorrow to seek the unconditional pardon of her son.

Although feeble from age and warned that the journey might mean her death, Mrs. Mooney came from California to attend demonstration meetings in New York.

"For 15 long years I have been waiting and hoping that my son would be released," she said. "I hope in Washington to be able to tell about this thing to the workers, to members of Congress and to the President."

She will be welcomed at a mass meeting on Friday night at the Arcade Hall.

70 Pure-Bred Cattle Die in Dawsonville Fire

Damage of about $15,000 was caused yesterday by a fire in the barn of John Windolph, near Dawsonville, Md., which destroyed about 70 pure-bred young Hereford cattle. A herd of approximately 75 cattle of the same breed in an adjoining yard was saved when an employe who discovered the fire knocked down a fence and drove them into a nearby field.

STOCK PRICES LOSE SLIGHTLY AT CLOSE

Sales Are 879,930 Shares; Ford Statement Fails to Aid Autos.

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Stocks continued to wear the earmarks of a professional market today. Until the late hour prices held a fair balance of gains over Saturday's final quotations, but in the late trading these advances were mostly exchanged for small net losses.

Traders had to contend with pronounced dullness. They stirred up a little enthusiasm among the automobile equipment issues on the strength of the Ford announcement, and picked out a few other stocks that figured in news or gossip, although, on the whole, movements were insignificant. Volume fell to 879,930 shares.

Pennsylvania's warning to shareholders concerning the possibility of a dividend omission brought out considerable stock, and the issue's loss approximated a point.

Rumors Bolster Stock.

Canadian Pacific, on the other hand, was bolstered by vague rumors that the Dominion Railroad Commission would recommend its consolidation with Canadian National, in which case it would assume the Government would undertake to guarantee part of Canadian Pacific's debt.

Santa Fe, whose February car loadings were larger than January's chiefly because grain shippers anticipated higher freight rates, was off 1½, and Nw York Central, one of the several roads getting loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, sagged fractionally.

Stocks like Electric Auto-Lite, Murray, Briggs, Borg, Warner and Mullins firmed a point or so before the advance was checked.

Ford's Effect on Autos.

Shares of motor car makers, however, found less stimulation in the Ford news, perhaps because of competitive considerations involved. Pivotal industrials followed a narrow path, so, in the main, did the utilities.

Fractional net losses in U. S. Steel, American Can, Du Pont, Allied Chemical and General Electric were exceeded in American Telephone, North American and Western Union.

Auburn converted an extreme rise of 5½ into a small decline. General Asphalt, which lost its royalty suit in England, was heavy, but Royal Dutch, other party to the action, firmed. Lambert recovered a large part of Saturday's drop.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Indications that unofficial estimates tomorrow on farm reserve domestic supplies of grain would make a bearish exhibit tended to pull cereals downward today, especially wheat.

An increase of 850,000 bushels in the United States total wheat supply total placed an additional weight on values. Export buying of North American wheat was desultory, recent large purchases having apparently satisfied overseas demand for at least the present.

Wheat closed unsteady at almost the day's bottom level, ½-⅞ under Saturday's finish; corn at ⅛ decline to ⅛ advance; oats ⅛-¼ off, and provisions unchanged to 13 cents up.

From the outset rather free selling of wheat took place, prompted in part by lower quotations at Liverpool, where enlarged stocks of breadstuff had a bearish effect. Some of the selling of wheat futures in Chicago was ascribed to forfeiters hedging against purchases of Argentine and Australian wheat. Meanwhile hopes of improved demand for North American wheat suffered a fadeout.

Assertions that Soviet agents in London were endeavoring to dump Russian wheat from British millers failed to promote any important rallies, and so likewise did dust storms in southern Alberta and Saskatchewan, Canada, as well as a sudden cold wave overspreading European continental countries. The amount of wheat on ocean passage increased 430,000 bushels for the week, but remained at about the same volume a year ago. The week's North American clearances were small, 4,437,000 bushels, but domestic clearances totaled 450,000, all from the Gulf of Mexico.

Corn derived relative strength from the fact that country offerings were not as heavy as of late. Some Illinois reports said selling had stopped, and that farmers were busy in the fields. Oats averaged lower with other grains.

Provisions were responsive to upturns in hog values.

JAPAN'S BONDS LEAD MARKET'S ADVANCE

Argentina's Loans Also Rise, as Britons Top Another New High Level.

New York, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Domestic securities stood on the bond market sidelines today and watched the listed foreign loans stage a buoyant performance.

Reports of Sino-Japanese peace negotiations sent the loans of Nippon up from 1 to around 5 points, and most of them retained the majority of their gains at the end of the session. Liens in the Argentine section advanced from 2 to 3 points and British 5½s continued their upward movement for another new year's high.

The railroads, utilities and industrials were generally firm, although prices followed a narrow range in extremely dull trading. Sales totaled $8,458,000, and the average for 60 corporate mortgages gained 1-10th of a point.

Practically all of the United States Government loans finished the day with fractional gains, although there were some soft spots noticed in this list at various times, due, it was believed, to flurries of profit taking.

In the Japanese department heaviest gains were recorded by Oriental Development 6s and the government 6½s. The former advanced 5¼ and the latter 4 points. Taiwan Electric Powers 5½s, Tokkyo City 5½s, Tokyo Electric Light 6s and Yokohama City 6s were up more than 3 points. All of these loans had been under pressure during the past few weeks.

Dutch East Indies 6s added from 2¾ to 3½ points to their previous gains. Most of the German obligations exhibited strength, as did some of the bonds of Colombia, Finland, France, Nord Railway, Peru, Poland, Sao Paulo State and Leipzig City.

ECONOMY MAY HALT CITY CENTER WORK

Indefinite Postponement Is Foreseen; Architects May Be Dropped May 1.

Indefinite postponement in the construction of the ambitious Municipal Center looms if Congress eliminates items for its continuance from the 1932 appropriations. Reports circulated in the District Building yesterday that about 30 members of the architectural drafting force now designing the structure will be laid off May 1 if the appropriation is withheld, which appears likely.

The 1933 budget of the District calls for $900,000 for purchase of additional land, $600,000 for changing the grades of streets and relocating sewers, water mains and public utility conduits, and $1,500,000 for actual construction. Altough the District has on hand $1,378,000 for the first unit, which would cost about $5,500,000, it is not believed that the Commissioners would let a partial building contract. Morsover, they would have not available enough money to prepare the site for the construction.

Municipal Architect A. L. Harris declined to comment on the report yesterday. For the last year he has been in charge of the special detail of architects at work on the Municipal Center design. The force moved to the Ford Building several months ago and has devoted its entire time to the project.

The monthly pay roll of this drafting force is $10,000. It is divided into three groups as follows: Architectural, with Arvid L. Kundzin in charge; structural, V. T. Givotovsky, and mechanical, B. J. Colvin.

10 Firemen Overcome In Big Buffalo Blaze

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Ten firemen were overcome by smoke during a fire which, driven by a stiff wind, swept through an entire business and apartment block here this afternoon. Owners of the block estimated damage to the buildings alone at more than $80,000. All tenants of the apartments got out without difficulty.

Four stores, a branch bank, a dental office and four apartments were in the block. The interior was ruined, although the walls remained standing.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 208

IN 1906 John F. Stowell organized an all-around athletic club comprised of graduates of Tech and Central High schools who wished to stay in athletics. The club was disbanded in 1915.

The above picture was taken in 1911 and shows, from left to right, back row: Harry Fiddlesop, D. Johnson, name of next man not known, Gordon Holland, George Recker, Harry Davis, who died in the influenza epidemic during the World War, and Gordon Hullfish. Front row, stooping, left to right: J. F. Stowell, president of the club; Wilson Hullfish, name of next man not known, H. Dickinson and M. E. Groome. Sitting in front is H. E. French.

The name of the club was the Washington Cross Country Club and it participated in athletic events in this section of the country. The group won the South Atlantic athletic championship. The club was comprised of between 40 and 50 members and some of the best athletes of the two schools were members.

WASHINGTON LAUDED AT SESSION HELD BY NORTH CAPITOL BODY

Second Bicentennial Week Is Featured by Celebration at McKinley High.

THREE RECENT STORIES CHALLENGED BY BLOOM

Several Other Speakers Are Heard and Program of Music Is Given.

Opening the second week of the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration, the North Capital Citizens Association held exercises last night at McKinley High School, at which Representative Sol Bloom, associate director of the Bicentennial commission; William Tyler Page, secretary of the commission, and Dr. George C. Havenner, executive director of the District commission, spoke.

Also on the program were Canon D. Freeland Peter, of the Washington Cathedral, a great-great-great-grandson of Mrs. George Washington, and Tefft Johnson, official impersonator of George Washington of the National Bicentennial. Will P. Kennedy, president of the North Capitol Citizens Association, who presided, used the historic gavel with which Speaker Garner opened the official Bicentennial celebration in the House on February 22. Mr. Page recited "The American's Creed," of which he is author, while Canon Peter gave the benediction.

Daniel Welcomes Gathering.

Frank C. Daniel, principal of McKinley High School, opened the exercises with an address of welcome to the 1,500 persons present. Henry Gilligan, past president of the association, led the gathering in the singing of "Pro Patria," and two solos were rendered by Miss Mary O'Donoghue, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Thomaides. A number of selections were played by the McKinley High School Orchestra under the direction of Prof. Dore Walton.

William T. Pierson, a resident of the North Capitol section, and composer of "Sons of America" and "Washington," sang his latest composition, "Bicentennial Toast." Organ selections were given by Miss Lillie P. Bailey.

Representative Bloom, in his address, took exception to three recently published stories concerning George Washington, one regarding the date of his birth, another purporting that he was not the first President and a third in a magazine which claimed that if Washington were living today and did all the things he is reputed to have done while alive, that he would be in jail.

Hopes to Refute Claims.

Mr. Bloom dismissed the last charge with the comment that "the magazine couldn't have known what it was doing." He said that the Bicentennial Commission is taking great pains to refute the first two claims, and furthermore will prove the stories untrue, he added. Mr. Bloom opened his address with a compliment to the McKinley Auditorium, declaring it the most completely equipped school hall he had ever seen.

Dr. Havenner told of the high points on the year's program of the District Bicentennial celebration.

Department Unveils Tablet to 69 Employes Killed in World Conflict.

A tablet of sculptured marble, bearing the names of 69 employes of the United States Department of Agriculture who gave their lives for their country in the World War, was unveiled yesterday afternoon in the central court of the administration building of the department.

The unveiling was the central feature of a ceremony attended by a large gathering, composed of families of the honored men, veterans and employes of the Department of Agriculture, who contributed toward the memorial.

Ambassador Paul Claudel, of France, and John Flanagan, New York sculptor, who created the memorial, were among the distinguished guests on the platform.

Hyde Accepts Memorial.

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, in accepting the memorial for the United States Government, declared that it should serve as a daily inspiration to the employes.

Members of the United States Marine Corps and the Coast Guard participated in the ceremony, presenting and retiring the colors under the command of Maj. George O. Wold. A concert of music was given by the United States Marine Band orchestra.

Robert M. Reese opened the ceremony with an address of welcome. He also read a report of Walter C. Henderson, chairman of the memorial committee, in which it was shown that 3,000 members of the Department of Agriculture joined the colors.

Unveiled by Veteran's Kin.

The tablet, about 8 feet in height and 4 feet wide, showing the figures of a soldier and sailor at attention on either side of the list of names, was unveiled by Doris Demaree, daughter of a World War veteran in the Department of Agriculture.

Immediately preceding the unveiling, Miss Anne L. Wilson sang "There Is No Death." The memorial was presented to Secretary Hyde by Mr. Reese. Following the presentation, the roll call of the 69 men was read. This was followed by the sounding of taps by Sergt. Frank Witchey, Third Cavalry, U. S. A. Chaplain Victor O. Anderson, of the District Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, gave the invocation and benediction.

$128 Worth of Furs Stolen From Company

Some thief evidently has a penchant for furs, according to the report made to police yesterday by Hubert Guggenheim, manager of the Milton Hoppenmier Hide Co., of 3300 K street northwest, who claimed that $128.70 worth of hides were stolen from the company over the week-end.

The list of stolen hides given police contained 101 muskrat, 15 opposum, 20 raccoon, 2 red fox, 1 grey fox, 20 skunk, and 4 brown mink hides. Entrance was gained by forcing a front window on the first floor.

Cruelty Laid to Jailed Husband.

Charged with having assulted his wife, Lewis H. Stumpner, 21 years old, yesterday was sent to jail for 45 days by Judge John P. McMahon. Mrs. Claire Stumpner, the wife, said that her husband pinched her and otherwise maltreated her.

N'Gi Voluntarily Drinks Milk, Increasing Hopes

For the first time since he has been sick N'Gi drank nearly a pint of milk voluntarily yesterday, thereby further convincing the attending doctors that he is on the road to recovery.

The baby gorilla's serious illness has caused more interest than threat of death to many a nationally known person, and mail from all sections of the country is still pouring into the Zoo office and the home of Dr. Mann, Zoo director.

N'Gi yesterday ate a pear, two bananas, part of an apple, and a tomato and drank two cups of water. The doctors have daily prepared an appetizing dish of fruit in an endeavor to make the rare 6-year-old anthropoid eat and build up his resistance.

Dr. John Eckhart, pediatrician, and Dr. David E. Buckingham, veterinarian, are still in constant attendance, and yesterday were so encouraged that they termed N'Gi as convalescent.

7TH FLOOR BLAZE DAMAGES OFFICES

Dentist's Equipment Lost in Spectacular Flames Downtown.

A stubborn blaze, which for a time threatened to spread to other parts of the building, last night damaged the dental offices of Dr. Lindell L. Leathers, on the seventh floor of the District National Bank Building, Fourteenth and G streets northwest, attracted a crowd of several hundred persons and tied up downtown traffic for more than an hour.

Before fire apparatus arrived the flames leaped high in the air from the windows of the office and could be seen for several blocks. Angelo Rinaldi, 14-year-old newsboy, of 624 Third street northwest, was the first to see the blaze, and sounded an alarm from a fire box on the corner.

Dr. Leathers, who happened to be downtown, followed the speeding fire engines and reached the scene to find the fire in his own offices. Disregarding the thick smoke, which filled the hallways of the structure, he entered the burning rooms with firemen.

Some difficulty was experienced in reaching the blaze with lines of hose. It was necessary to run them up the outside of the building, as no ladders would reach the seventh floor. Firemen, who reached the burning office by elevator and stairway, found that there were no extinguishers on the entire floor.

Dr. Leathers declared all his equipment, with the exception of that in the operating room, was destroyed. He carried no insurance. The origin of the fire was not determined.

Lecture on Lost Tribes Of Israel Is Announced

How ten lost tribes of Israel were found after 2,600 years will be related in a lecture and motion picture by George M. Lamsa, at the Parish House of the Church of the Covenant tonight.

ARCHBISHOP CURLEY ASSAILS CORRUPTION

Catholic Prelate Denounces Business and Politics in Sodality Talk.

Denouncing American business as dirty, corrupt and nonethical, and American politics as filthy, Archbishop Michael J. Curley, of Baltimore, last night urged members of the Sodality Union to carry their faith into those lines of endeavor.

Speaking at the Gonzaga Auditorium, the Catholic churchman denounced the Nation's social structure. He said "there must be something wrong with our social structure when 75 per cent of the wealth is in the hands of a handful of men."

If Catholic action had taken Christ into business, he said, there would be no crisis at the present. "Ethics, as far as justice is in business, are nonexistent, he declared. Not honesty and integrity rule our commerce, but the spirit of "doing the other fellow before he does you" forms the basis of modern affairs," he said.

Christ Held Needed Force.

Christ was described as the only force which can clean the "filth" from the high and low estates of politics. He described political methods as corrupt and said that most persons in power were careless of the public welfare.

"But, in taking religion into politics I do not mean that we should reject a man because he is not of the Catholic faith," the archbishop said.

In closing his address he brought to the attention of the audience the high ideal of Washington and the fact that he brought his faith in God, the dominant trait of his life, into his political affairs.

Sodality Mass Meeting Held.

The annual Sodality mass meeting was presided over by President Mary Mattingly. The address of welcome was made by the Rev. Joseph V. Buckley, pastor of St. Francis Xavier's Church, who is the spiritual advisor of the group. He urged the making of closed retreats.

The Very Rev. Charles E. Roach, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Bryantown, Md., described his work in the country parish, toward which many of the Sodality contributions go.

The Sodality chorus sang Cohan's Bicentennial song, "Father of the Land We Love." Announcement was made of the annual card party at the Willard Hotel on May 19 and of the convention which is to be held at Gonzaga Hall on April 10.

Illness of Mrs. Gann Found to Be Not Serious

Mrs. Edward E. Gann, Vice President Curtis' sister, is confined to her home by an attack of bronchitis.

Her physician, Dr. George W. Calver, said last night that her condition was not serious, but that she would be kept within her home for a few days.

Boy Leaves Home, Promising To Return If Trouble Brews

A 13-year-old boy decided that it was time he was "on his own," and ran away from his home at 2737 Devonshire place northwest, yesterday. Last night his mother waited anxiously as police lookouts were broadcast for him and a boy, two years older, who is believed to be the guiding spirit in the runaway adventure.

The mother of William B. Thomas, a student at Gordon Junior High School, believed him to be safe in school until she found the following note shortly after school time:

"Dear Dad: I ran away, but please let me go. It will teach me a lesson. It is time I was on my own. If I get in trouble, I will come right back home.

"Bundles of love and kisses,

"BILLY."

Mrs. Thomas said last night she believed her son was in company with Edward Smith, 15 years old, who also lives at the Woodley Park Towers, 2737 Devonshire place. She said young Smith ran away last August and went to Tennessee. Several of William's young friends told her, she said, that Edward and Billy had discussed another runaway trip Sunday night.

William had only 35 cents in his pocket when he left home.

WILLIAM B. THOMAS.

Lenten Service Addressed By West Virginia Bishop

"In these days it's the fashion to say there is no such thing as sin," the Right Rev. Robert E. L. Strider, Bishop Coadjutor of West Virginia, said from the pulpit of the Church of the Epiphany, at the noonday Lenten services, in the first of a series of sermons he will deliver this week.

"The church," the bishop said, "believes that there is sin, and that the worst sins may be unconscious, just as the worst diseases may be unsuspected. The relation between sin and the individual conscience is that conscience is a trustworthy, moral guide only if it is attuned to the mind of Jesus Christ.

"The relation of sin to the prevailing moral code is that the moral codes are trustworthy guides only when they tend to produce characters like that of Jesus Christ, and the relation of sin to moral choice is that sin is wider than moral choice.

"The only cure for sin is to live in close personal relation with Jesus Christ. Repentence means exchanging one's own mind for the mind of Jesus Christ. Sin like a wild animal lies at the door of men's desire, but Christ also stands at the door and knocks."

POLICE SPREAD NET FOR YEGGS IN SAFE DEPOSIT ROBBERY

$22,000 BONDS AND GOLD LOST BY TWO PATRONS

Cracksmen Worked Methodically in Burning Way to Treasure.

Descriptions of three men who were observed acting in a suspicious manner in the vicinity of the Washington Savings Bank, 719 Tenth street northwest, which was robbed over the week-end, were broadcast last night by the police in the belief that they may have had some connection with the robbery.

Bank officials were unable to give any estimate last night of the losses suffered by the holders of the 50 safe deposit boxes which were broken into by the safe crackers. However, the bank officials said, the loss is covered by insurance. One of the box renters is reputed to have lost $20,000 in negotiable bonds, and another $2,000 in gold.

Police late last night sent out a supplemental message giving serial numbers of seven Federal Land Bank bonds, face value of $1,000 apiece, taken from the bank. Banks and other agencies were warned to look out for these bonds.

Attempts to trace the tanks of oxygen and acetylene which were used by the cracksmen to cut through the door of the vault were unsuccessful. The robbers, who rigged a buzzer signal system from the vault to an adjoining store, were evidently adept at their work, police said.

Money Vault Untouched.

No attempt was made by the robbers to break into the vault where the depositors' cash is kept, police said. The money vault is on the first floor of the building, while the safe deposit vault is in the cellar.

The robbery was discovered early yesterday by Wesley Wheller, colored janitor, who went to the building to clean the offices. The robbers had entered the bank through a hole broken through the wall between the bank and the Standard Typewriter Co. The typewriter store was formerly used as part of the bank, but several months ago it was rented, and a door, which connected the two places, was plastered over.

The men broke through this. Then they rigged up the alarm system from the typewriter store to the vault. While one stayed in the typewriter shop as a guard the others burned through the cellar vault and opened 50 of the 266 safe deposit boxes. They scattered jewelry and bonds about the floor of the vault, apparently intent upon taking only cash.

Lookout Looked and Smoked.

The post of the lookout was behind a partition in the typewriter store. The robbers had covered windows and doors with oilcloth so none could look into the store. While his accomplices worked on the vault, the lookout smoked a cigar and left the butt behind when he left.

A thorough search of the place was made for fingerprints, but none were found. Detective Sergt. Larry O'Dea found a pair of cheap working gloves, which had evidently been used by the cracksmen. They also left behind acetylene and oxygen tanks and a hack saw.

Several box holders called at the bank yesterday and reported that their holdings were undisturbed. One man told Thomas E. Jarrell, the president, that the thieves had left untouched three diamond rings in his safe deposit box. Other box holders reported their jewelry and bonds were untouched.

R. J. Earnshaw, the treasurer of the bank, gave police a description of a man who visited the bank recently and asked to see a safe deposit box. After examining the vault the man said the box was for his employer and said his employer would call to see the vault, Mr. Earnshaw said.

Senators Will Consider Taxicab Liability Bill

Companies operating taxicabs would be required to furnish proof of their ability to satisfy damages under a bill to be taken up tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Senator Arthur Capper's Senate District committee.

The bill, proposed by Senator Capper, provides that taxi operators "satisfy the authorities of their ability to discharge any claims for damages adjudged against them by filing with the commission a bond, policy or policies of insurance of such amount or amounts as may be required by the commission."

POLICE CHIEF SAMPLES FOOD

CITIZENS BACK BILL FOR STAGE MINORS

Midcity Group Makes Attack on Marathon Dances and Disciplinary Board.

At a lengthy meeting at which considerable District legislation came in for both criticism and praise, the Midcity Citizens Association last night indorsed the Capper bill which would permit girls under 18 and boys under 16 to appear on the professional stage.

Directing their ire on another phase of public entertainment, the association members condemned marathon dances and decided to send a request to Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, for a record of all arrests made while the recent dance marathon was in progress here.

Stressing the need for economy and avoidance of "unnecessary" expenditures, the association disapproved measures providing for a discipline board in place of the Police Trial Board and for a school for police men and women.

The association decided to ask the Traffic Department for lights on M street between Seventh and Thirteenth streets northwest, and urged widening of Thirteenth street from Massachusetts avenue to Iowa circle northwest.

Approval was given the following District bills: To permit the secretary of the board of District Commissioners to sign officially documents approved by the board; to extend the period during which owners of real estate property sold for taxes may be redeemed to three years; to provide licenses for employment agencies in the District. The latter bill was indorsed with the recommendation that the fee for licenses be reduced from $100, as provided in the bill, to $50.

Hyattsville Group Airs Gas Rate Cut

Establishment of Central Incinerating Plant Is Recommended.

Trash disposal in Prince Georges County, lower gas rates, change in the telephone service in College Park and a business promotion campaign were discussed last night at a meeting of the Hyattsville Chamber of Commerce.

Daniel Cox Fahey, jr., reported he had considered the proposal to establish dumps in the county, but believed this to be impracticable. Wherever such dumps would be established, he said, there would be complaints from persons living in the vicinity. He recommended establishment of a central incinerating plant, which was suggested to him by T. Howard Duckett, chairman of the suburban sanitary commission.

William T. Jennings said he had been informed that new rates for gas used for appliances were being studied by the Washington Suburban Gas Co. in the Hyattsville area. These rates would be submitted to the Public Service Commission, he said. If a majority of the residents of College Park want their phones listed on the Hyattsville exchange, the telephone company will make the change, according to a report by M. T. May, chairman of the public utilities committee of the chamber.

Harmonica Expert Plays In Walter Reed Wards

Wounded and ill veterans at Walter Reed Hospital were entertained for two hours last night by George Kelting, harmonica virtuoso, actor and radio entertainer. He was to play at Hospital Hall, but it was under repairs, so he played in the wards. Tonight he will give another concert for the soldiers.

Blair Citizens to Meet Tonight.

The Blair Citizens Association will meet tonight at the Takoma-Silver Spring High School for the discussion of community affairs.

CITY HEADS TO FIGHT CURB GASOLINE SALE

Special Committee's Study Opposes Street Vending on Several Grounds.

Another attempt to prohibit the street sales of gasoline from tank wagons is expected to be made by the District Commissioners as the result of a report received yesterday from a special committee named to make a study of the practice.

The report revives an issue that was postponed temporarily several months ago following a hearing held by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, after which the Commissioners withdrew a ban on such sales.

The committee, composed of Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of highways; William A. Van Duzer, traffic director, and Calvin G. Lauber, fire marshal, made six recommendations based on its findings.

Among its conclusions were that the practice constitutes a potential fire hazard, that it is forbidden in 24 cities queried, that it brings about double parking and otherwise obstructs traffic, that the transportation of gasoline in open vessels is dangerous, that "the practice is annoying and discomforting to private business," that it results in unfair competition as sales are permitted to the hucksters in certain areas where the same right is denied private property owners by the zoning laws.

The committee recommended not only that the practice be prohibited but that permits for street venders be limited to food stuffs "and the so-called necessities of life." It further proposed that all such permits "plainly state the conditions and areas under and in which they will be allowed to operate" and "that all classes be banned from the congested area, arterial highways and boulevards, and flow side of restricted streets."

Woman, 64, Falls Dead While in Front Yard

Mrs. Clara Spangler, 64 years old, of 4521 Canal road northwest, was found lying in the front yard of her home by Ernest Stanley and Elias B. Worton, both of 604 F street northwest, yesterday afternoon as they were passing the house.

She was removed to Georgetown University Hospital by the Rescue Squad where she was pronounced dead from heart failure.

Drawing of Auto Needed at Display

Contrasting forms of transportation used in 1732 and 1932 may be displayed on an old livery stable wall at 1616 L street if the George Washington Bicentennial Commission of the District can find some one to do a mural painting of an automobile gratis.

The District Commissioners yesterday approved a proposal that a painting of a Pole Victoria on one side of the wall be retouched and that the picture of a present-day automobile be painted on the opposite side, providing there is no cost attached.

B. K. Robertson made the suggestion to Dr. George C. Havenner, executive vice chairman of the commission, who in turn submitted it to the Commissioners. Mr. Robertson said that the vehicle on the sole remaining wall is that of a tallyho, but T. F. Roche, assistant District building inspector, reported that it is of a Pole Victoria, which is of an earlier period than a tallyho.

Girls Lead in 13 Leap Year Babies Born in Washington

Girls outnumbered boys in the thirteen "leap year babies" born yesterday in hospitals throughout the city, but only by a slight margin. There were seven girls and six boys born, who four years hence will celebrate their first birthdays.

A girl was born into the household of Mr. and Mrs. Navitt Gessford, of 3608 Perry street, Mount Rainier, at Sibley Hospital as the clock registered 2:05 a. m., leading a baby boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woolsender, of 1735 Bay street southeast, by three minutes for the honor of first greeting the 29th day of February.

Other babies born at Sibley in the morning were a girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Berger, of 1630 Lincoln road northeast, at 4:35 a. m., a girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Barber, of 1316 Irving street northwest, at 9:20 a. m.

At 2:40 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Dickinson, of 2849 Twenty-ninth street northwest, became the proud parents of a girl born in Garfield Hospital. The stork brought a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Maloney, of 3710 Military road, at Providence Hospital, and a girl to Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson, colored, of 345 K street southwest, at Gallinger Hospital.

CAPITAL CAMPAIGN TO CREATE JOBS IS OFF TO GOOD START

150 Groups Are Represented at Meeting in Which Needs Are Stressed.

CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE EXPRESSED IN SPEECHES

Graham, Atwood, Col. Bliss and Tumulty Address Work Conference.

Washington's work-creation campaign got away to a flying start last night with a meeting of representatives of about 150 local organizations at the United States Chamber of Commerce Building under auspices of the work-creation committee, of which Col. E. G. Bliss is chairman. Speakers on the program included Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the District Board of Commissioners; E. C. Graham, chairman of the District committee on employment; Albert W. Atwood, noted economist and magazine writer; Joseph P. Tumulty and Col. Bliss.

Mr. Graham called attention to the work done by the committee on employment, declaring that it would have to stop on April 1 because no more funds would be available. He pointed out that the Community Chest campaign had combed the city for money and that while it has raised a wonderful amount, considering conditions, there was not enough to finance the employment committee beyond its regular allotment of $250,000. The only solution, Mr. Graham declared, is for the people of Washington to enlist in the work-creation campaign and have done now any work that would be necessary during the year, thus furnishing jobs for these men who have been laboring on "made" work.

Because of Washington's situation to date, Mr. Graham said, there are many people who think the city had no unemployment problems. He said there were 14,000 people listed with the United States Employment Bureau last spring, 18,000 last fall, and 20,000 at present, showing the increase in unemployment more clearly than words. He also pointed out that relief agencies in the Community Chest, which figured on an increase of about 30 per cent in relief demands for this winter, are finding themselves faced with increases of approximately 100 per cent, and the end is not yet.

Decrease in Bank Failures.

Albert W. Atwood cited the distinct slowing up of bank failures during the last month, a gradual cessation in the decline of prices, not only of stocks and bonds, but of retail commodities as well, avoidance of serious railroad troubles and predictions of statisticians at a recent meeting in New York of an upturn in the prices of silver, live stock, and other trade barometers in the near future as possible evidence that the depression has about reached the turning point.

The speakers referred to an editorial in The Washington Post in regard to the part a rise in prices plays in influencing the retailer. The editorial, he said, points out that the retailer, when prices are falling, is afraid to buy and his stock becomes depleted, but at the first sign of a rise he rushes to restock those empty shelves, and this acts as a stimulant right up the entire line, causing the manufacturer to resume operations and in turn employ the idle men and women.

Not Only Serious Aspect.

Unemployment is not the only serious aspect of the situation, he said. Although serious, and perhaps subject to yet further increase, it is only one of the things that include bank failures, hoarding and contracted business, that have served to imbue the people with a terrible fear. This must be fought by a display of courage and faith, he said.

Col. Bliss outlined plans for getting the question of creating work before all the people of Washington. He spoke of the splendid cooperation given and promised by the newspapers and declared that it is Washington's job, because "at least half of the 20,000 unemployed listed at the United States Employment Bureau are Washingtonians."

Joseph P. Tumulty said that it was all right to encourage the employers to in turn encourage their employes, but said he thought it would be well to encourage higher-ups as well mentioning the bankers in particular, who, he said, are too logical.

Trinidad Citizens Seek Mount Vernon Purchase

A resolution was adopted by the Trinidad Citizens Association last night at a meeting held at the Wheatley School, in favor of the Government's acquiring Mount Vernon and making it a national shrine, open free to the public.

They also indorsed a resolution favoring pending legislation to provide old-age security for persons over 60 years old residing in the District. They cited the fact that seventeen States have adopted this policy.

Candidates Today Begin Final West Point Tests

Final entrance examinations for the class to enter the Military Academy in July, will start today at the Army Medical Center and continue throughout the week.

A total of 174 candidates, 12 of them enlisted men of the Regular Army, and others congressional appointees from all parts of the East, have been directed to report for the tests. Col. Theodore A. Baldwin, of the Air Corps, is president of the examining board which is composed of 14 officers.

BLISS, K. C., SPORT MART WIN AS TOURNEY OPENS

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Biloxi, Miss., March 1.

MUTINY in a mild form has invaded the Nats' training camp here. Coach Al Schacht is stomping about the lobby in rebellion against the neglect he is meeting in his salary demands of President Clark Griffith. Schacht terms himself a semiholdout, a hybrid form of recalcitrant, which Al explains is neither a confirmed holdout nor a willing signer.

Great gobs of silence have greeted Schacht's attempts to negotiate with Griffith. He has cornered the Old Fox in the dining room, brought the matter up on the ball field, teed him in the lobby, and even mentioned the item of salary in his George Washington birthday speech before the Biloxi Lions Club last week, but Griffith's only reply has been a deep and disgusting "hmph."

The act is continuous on the Washington Club. No sooner has Schacht signed his yearly contract than he starts campaigning for a raise next season. He has attempted to embarrass Griffith in the most select company by injecting the salary business into the conversation and is not quailed by the threats of the Nats' boss to give him his unconditional release. He refuses to be fired.

Schacht doesn't want to sign immediately. He is merely laying the ground work for his salary speech later in the spring. He never signs until the day before the season opens. He has a reason.

"I'd be a fool to sign now," says Schacht. "There's no telling what might happen before the season starts. Suppose the market should go up and prosperity finally gets around that corner. Suppose it suddenly begins to look like a great year for baseball, then I'd be in a position to make better demands. You can't be too hasty about this contract business. My contract speech will really start when I see Griffith the day before the season opens. Here's what I'll tell him.

"Listen, Griff, I've gotta get more money. You know I'm an important man on this club. It's a dirty job I've got, coaching at third base where you're always the goat with none of the credit and all the responsibility. There's where the club wins games, at third base. I tell you I'm a valuable man to this team.

"Griff, I've given my life to baseball, my youth. I've been in this game for 22 years, since I was 15, and the best part of my life has been in your service. You can't turn me down now, or the wrath of Jehovah will be upon you. That oughta get him."

Griffith listens and laughs. "I've been trying to get rid of that guy Schacht since 1911 when he first popped into Cincinnati when I was managing the Reds," says the Nats' owner. "But he always shows up. He trailed me to Washington after I moved there in 1912. I've fired him a dozen times but he won't believe it.

"I give him a half dozen ultimatums every season and eight or ten last and positively final offers, but he doesn't pay any attention to 'em. You've gotta be firm with a guy like that, but it doesn't get you anywhere. What are you going to do about it?

"He always manages to borrow a coupla hundred during the season and I've got to keep him if I expect to get paid back. Then he argues that he can't pay me back unless he gets a raise. How are you going to beat a man like that? He's too smart, that's all."

One item in Schacht's speech was gospel, however. It's a dirty job that he has coaching at third base. Close ball games are surely won and lost at his station and snap judgment is required. A moment of hesitation by Schacht and the runner on second is out at home. If he's safe, the runner gets the credit. If he's out, Schacht gets the blame.

Managers steer clear of that third base job. You don't see many of 'em down that way. It's too much responsibility. The coaches get those jobs. The club manager likes to coach at first base where the view from the stand is just as good and the responsibility nil.

Baltimore Mermen Beat Central Team

Virginia Van Wie Florida Medalist

Tops East Coast Field by Five Strokes With Fine Card of 75.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 1 (A.P.). Meeting her old rivals, Helen Hicks and Maureen Orcutt, for the first time this winter, Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, was five strokes better than the field today and won the medal in the qualifying round of the Florida East Coast golf tournament.

Miss Hicks, the national champion, had to compare her 80 with Miss Van Wie's 75, a performance exceeded only once on St. Augustine links. Two years ago Glenna Collett shot a 74.

Nats Rely on Speed-Ball Pitching for Success in Coming Pennant Struggle

Griffith's Chances of Gaining Place With Nats Good.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

BILOXI, Miss., March 1.—The opposition is slated to gaze chiefly upon fast ball pitching when the Washington pitchers are serving 'em up in the pennant race, according to the make-up of the Nats' hurling staff, which numbers only two twirlers able to throw curves and get by with them.

Lloyd Brown has successfully mixed his fast ball with an assortment of southpaw hooks, and Monte Weaver, the Baltimore sensation, has a fast-breaking curve reminiscent of Lefty Grove's, but the remainder of the corps, including the rookies, are fast-ball specialists.

The lone member of the staff who dares dabble with knuckle balls and other slow stuff is Alvin Crowder, but with his curve little more than the round-house variety, Crowder falls back usually on his fast one. The Nats lost another hook and slow-ball artist when they traded Sam Jones to the White Sox in company with Bump Hadley, another strictly fast baller.

Fischer Speediest Pitcher.

Carl Fischer, the southpaw whom Walter Johnson brought with him from Newark two seasons ago, is the kingpin of the fast-ball pitchers with the team, having supplanted Fred Marberry in that respect, although there is none to say that Fischer is faster than Marberry at his best.

Marberry's fast ball returned to him last season after a strange absence in 1930 when he was pounded unmercifully throughout the season. He had his same speed, he contends, but he didn't have the hop on the ball at the finish that carries it past the batters and makes the difference between a solid hit and a weak bingle or a strike-out. Marberry's hop, like the hop on all fast balls, is generated by the spin he is able to impart and this spin was not a part of his repertoire in 1930.

Frank Ragland, the husky Chattanooga recruit who is slated to do a deal of relief pitching for the Nats this season, will bring to the team a clever forkball which he uncoils from behind his forefinger and middle finger, but control is his weakness and Clark Griffith himself is attempting to set Ragland aright in this respect with some personal instruction.

Another young giant who doubtless will earn himself a berth on the pitching staff is Lynn Griffith, also a Chattanooga recruit, who has the physique to propel the ball over the plate with tremendous force. Griffith is content to rely on his fast-ball when he is right.

Griffith Shows Ambition.

Griffith is the most ambitious youth in camp, a trait that he showed while with Chattanooga last year. He objected strenuously last spring when Clark Griffith sent him to the Look-outs after a tryout here, contending that he was ready for the majors, his meager experience notwithstanding. Joe Engel, Chattanooga boss, found little work for Griffith at the start of the Southern Association season and the big pitcher wrote the Nats' owner several times, pleading to be sent to a club where he might pitch regularly.

He got his chance at Chattanooga late in the season, however, and finished with a record of seven wins and eight defeats, after winning a reputation as the "hard-luck" pitcher of the league.

Even the second flight of the rookie twirlers, Bud Thomas, Johnny Friederich, Johnny Boyle, and Mike Delaney are fast-ball specialists. Young Thomas, who is the property of the Chattanooga Club as the result of the rule prohibiting major league teams from signing players direct from the sandlots, is a Capital City League graduate who has impressed Johnson and Griffith with his ability to cut loose when asked.

Johnny Boyle, fashioned on the lines of a right-handed Lefty Grove, will not be cut adrift despite the fact that he has had no experience in organized baseball. Griffith, particularly has been impressed by his native agility and earnestness and a term with Chattanooga is the likely result of his efforts here.

Sam Rice was an arrival in camp tonight with Mrs. Rice and Assistant Secretary Billy Smith. He will join the squad for his first workout tomorrow.

Carl Reynolds spent half of the morning posing for the photographers with his trusty war club and took a few turns at the plate, displaying a grand swing but a dull eye. He hasn't seen a baseball for five months.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1 (U. P.).—Tony Lazzeri today agreed to sign his 1932 New York Yankee player contract. Babe Ruth is now left as the only Yankee who has not agreed to terms. Lazzeri, veteran second baseman, is expected to report at the end of the week. A routine batting and fielding drill was held today.

Brown, Nekola, Murphy, Wells, Rhodes and Buffing took turns pitching to the hitters. Crossetti and Lary split the shortstop detail, with Saltzgaver and Farrell alternating at second.. Joey Sewell played third with both combinations.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1 (A.P.). Manager Bill McKechnie set up his batting cage today and the Boston Braves spent two hours hammering the offerings of six rookie pitchers to all quarters of Waterfront Park.

Rabbit Maranville, Randy Moore, Bill Urbanski, Bill Walters and Red Hargrave reached camp during the day and all but Maranville and Hargrave, who arrived too late, took part in the workout. Maranville, who appeared in great shape, was excused until tomorrow. There were but two absentes, Earl Clark, who was expected tomorrow, and Bill Sherdel, who was detained by illness in his family.

Savannah, Ga., March 1 (A.P.).—The Boston Red Sox battery candidates, saddened by the wounding of big Ed Morris, opened their spring training season today in listless fashion. Manager John Collins ordered all hands to jog about the park and then permitted the pitchers to toss up slow balls for an hour.

Hod Lisenbee, veteran right-hanger, missed the opening session. He cut his right foot on a piece of glass in the dressing room and will be out of action for several days.

Santa Catalina Island, Calif., March 1 (A.P.).—The actions in training of Pat Malone, husky right-handed hurler, who is a sort of "comeback" candidate, are winning approval from Manager Rogers Hornsby, of the Cubs.

Malone turned in sixteen victories last season, but his behavior was not the best at times, and he finished the season in the bad graces of the management. He came into camp in good trim, however, and rapidly is getting into shape to cut loose.

Mineral Wells, Tex., March 1 (A.P.). Ted Lyons, who is expected to be the head man of the White Sox pitching staff, today became the club's first casualty, although not a serious one.

Lyons suffered a badly blistered toe, an infection developing He will be permitted to choose his own exercise while recovering. Only two more days of the club's stay at Mineral Wells remains and San Antonio will be its address starting Thursday.

Clearwater, Fla., March 1 (U.P.).—Outfielder Dennis Southern arrived at the Brooklyn Dodgers camp today and was believed ready to sign his contract. Five players were still missing from the camp. They are Hack Wilson, Babe Herman, Lefty O'Doul, Johnny Frederick, and Ernest Lombardi. All absentees have signed or accepted terms, with the exception of Herman.

Bradenton, Fla., March 1 (U.P.).—Frankie Frisch, Cardinals' second baseman, quit the ranks of holdouts today, Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Club, announced. Frisch will report on Saturday. Frisch had said he would not sign his contract until he was paid the $2,000 he says was withheld from him last season for having reported tardily. It was understood that a compromise was made.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1 (U.P.). Award the olive sprig to the Boston Braves; give them the Nobel Peace Prize. The Braves are swinging smoothly along in spring training without a single holdout, a singular occurrence in the season of salary slashes and skirmishes between players and club officials.

Palo, Alto, Calif., March 1 (A.P.).—Ray Fritz, recruit first baseman from Beaumont, Tex., served notice with a lusty wallop over the right field fence today that he is after Dale Alexander's job with the Detroit Tigers. Alex socked the ball twice over the left field wall in the first drill of the season yesterday.

George (Dutch) Ruether, once a big time pitcher, but now a free agent, worked out with the Tigers today, but Manager Bucky Harris said his appearance was without significance.

Tampa, Fla., March 1 (A.P.).—Estil Crabtree, weak hitting but fast ground coverer of the Cincinnati Reds, has the first call on the left field job, Manager Dan Howley said today. Crabby was sought during the winter by several clubs, but President Sidney Weil turned down all trade offers. Howley is revamping Crabtree's "swing from the grass" batting style into a Lloyd Waner fashion. Crabtree can get to first with the fastest men in the league and his throwing arm ranks among the best. He hit only .262 last year.

BICENTENNIAL OFFICIAL STARTS TITLE GAMES

The A. A. U. Championship tournament of the District of Columbia Association, sponsored by The Washington Post, officially opened last night at Tech High when George C. MIAMI AIMS TO DEPORT TURFMAN

Owner of Aknahton May Be Sent Back to Scotland.

MIAMI, Fla., March 1 (A.P.).—Miami police today said deportation proceedings will be started against Peter Christian Barrie, 32, owner of the horse, Aknahton, which ran in a recent Hialeah Park race as Gallmont.

Barrie, a native of Scotland, was arrested here with J. F. Tavenner, a trainer, by private detectives.

Barrie and Tavenner, with three other men, recently were suspended from Hialeah Park racing, after stewards satisfied themselves that the horse listed as Gallmont was Aknahton, the same horse that was barred from Havre de Grace track last fall after being masqueraded as Shem.

Capt. E. J. Weiss, who arrested Barrie, quoted him today as admitting that he dyed Aknahtor and as saying that he could see no crime in the act.

What was believed to be a Nation-wide betting coup failed when the horse listed as Gallmont broke down and ran eleventh in a field of fourteen. Hialeah Park officials said approximately $7,000 was bet at the last minute on Gallmont. The horse won when he ran at Havre de Grace under the name of Shem.

Weiss said Barrie served a 3-year prison sentence in London on a similar charge.

Baer, Hurt, Rejects Four Schaaf Bouts

San Francisco, March 1 (A.P.).—Ancil Hoffman, a representative of Max Baer, boxer, said today the fighter has been forced to pass up four offers to box Ernie Schaaf, of Boston, because of injuries he received in a bout with Tom Heeney here February 22. Baer won a close decision over the veteran Heeney.

Hoffman said his charge had been offered bouts with Schaaf in New York, Chicago, Boston and Minneapolis. Schaaf won a decision over Baer last year.

Maryland U. Adds To Dixie Grid Foes

Florida and Louisiana Are to Be Added to Schedule in 1933 and 1934.

Maryland University is dickering with the Universities of Florida and Louisiana with a view to adding these outstanding Southern Conference teams to the football schedule of the Old Liners for 1933 and 1934.

Under present plans, Florida would be played a two-game series, the first game to be played December 2, 1933, at Jacksonville, Fla., and the 1934 game at a field to be designated by Maryland—either College Park, Griffith Staduim or Baltimore Stadium.

Curley Byrd, director of athletics at Maryland, has tentatively arranged a Louisiana-Maryland home game for 1933, with another to be played in Baton Rouge the following year. Georgia Tech may appear on the Maryland schedule in '34.

The disappearance of Western Maryland after next year from the December 2 spot on the Maryland schedule seems certain with the scheduling of Florida. The Green Terrors probably will be worked in earlier on the season's program.

Morgan Again Holdout; Fails to Join Indians

New Orleans, La., March 1 (A. P.).—Eddie Morgan returned to his role of holdout today by failing to show up at Cleveland training camp at the appointed hour. Last year Morgan threatened to quit baseball for the box business and wasted half the training season before changing his mind.

On hand, however, was Bruce Connatser, who is slated to start at Eddie's old first base position this season while the hard-hitting Morgan goes to fight it out for an outfield post. Morgan, hitting third in the league but fielding miserably, is one of the Indian management's greatest problems.

LEFTY GROVE SIGNS HIS CONTRACT

Pitcher Is 'Satisfied'; Walberg Remains Out of Fold.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 1 (A. P.).—A two-year contract at $25,000 a season, drug store chatter had it, was the document Lefty Grove signed today. Both the pitcher and Manager Connie Mack, however, declined to verify the report as to the amount.

The Athletic manager made the important announcement that Grove had signed in a depreciatory manner at the ball park today. There was no fanfare or ceremony to the signing.

"Grove has signed," Connie said, and then spoke about the weather.

"Everything is fixed," said Grove. "I'm satisfied and I'll probably go out to practice tomorrow morning."

Phar Lap Hurts Foot; Odds Rise to 4 to 1

Agua, Caliente, Mexico, March 1 (A.P.).—A stone-bruised hoof did not interfere with Phar Lap's regular early morning gallop today, although it may have had something to do with raising the odds to 4 to 1 on the great Australian thoroughbred in the Agua Caliente Handicap future books.

The odds quoted by Zeke Caress today were the highest offered on the big red gelding since the future books opened in preparation for the $50,000 race, March 20. Dr. Freeland, Benny Creech's star, continued the favorite in the betting, despite his failure to win last Sunday. His odds were quoted at 3 to 1, as against 2½ to 1 quoted on him last week, when Phar Lap was quoted 3 to 1.

BROOKLAND B. C. COPS.

The Brookland Boys Club last night defeated the Laurel Guards in an Intercity League game played in Laurel Armory. The Boys Club five was in front, 10 to 7, at the end of the third quarter, when a free-for-all developed. The referee awarded the verdict to the Brooklanders.

MORRIS, RED SOX HURLER, STABBED

Near Death Following Fight at Party in His Honor.

BREWTON, Ala., March 1 (A.P.).—A farewell fish fry given in honor of Big Ed Morris broke up with a fist fight last night, and the veteran pitcher for the Boston Red Sox was hurried to a hospital at Century, Fla., with serious knife wounds.

He was stabbed twice in the chest, the knife blade barely missing his heart. Doctors say he has only a slight chance to recover.

Friends who organized the fish fry on the eve of his contemplated departure for the Red Sox training camp, at Savannah, Ga., said the stabbing climaxed an argument between him and Joe White, a member of the party.

Morris Floored White.

Morris, a strapping fellow, towering 6 feet 2, knocked White down and in doing so tripped and fell. While they were lying on the ground, witnesses said, White whipped out his knife and plunged it into Morris' chest.

A native of Foshee, Ala., Morris broke into baseball with the Florida League. He is a right-hander, tips the scales at 185 pounds, and is 33 years old.

After one season with Bradentown he spent two years with Chattanooga, of the Southern Association. He played one season with the Chicago Cubs, in the National League, and returned in 1923 to the Southern Association. He has been with the Red Sox for the last three years.

White was held without charges pending a change in Morris' condition.

Crisler, at Princeton, Attacks Nonscouting

Princeton, N. J., March 1 (U.P.).—Herbert O. "Fritz" Crisler, Princeton University's new football coach, attacked the nonscouting football agreement between Yale and Princeton in his first address following his arrival today from Minnesota.

Crisler declared "such a system creates auspicion and should be abolished for the good of the game."

The new coach spoke at a luncheon given in his honor by the Princeton Athletic Association. It was attended by Princeton officials and by many Eastern sportswriters.

Third Extra Period Gives 130-Pounders 21-19 Victory.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

Unlimited—Bliss Electrical School, 44; Ross Jewelers, 16.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

FITTINGLY introduced with two extra-period games, one of them undecided until the third appended period, the gigantic District Association A. A. U. Basket Ball tournament sponsored by The Post, swung thrillingly into action last night at Tech High. The honor of sending the machinery into operation fell to Dr. George C. Havenner, executive vice president of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

Victories were recorded by Bliss Electrical School, the Knights of Columbus and the Sport Mart teams. The vanquished clubs were, in order, the Ross Jewelers, Crescents and the Shipleys.

It is doubtful if the tournament officials could have chosen a more thrilling brace of games to start and wind up the night's activities. In the initial game of the night, the Sport Mart team, a well-trained 130-pound aggregation, beat the Shipleys of Hyattsville High, 21 to 19, after three extra periods. Bliss swept the Ross Jewelers into discard at 44 to 16 in the second game, but in the third of the night's tussles, the Knights of Columbus stepped out valiantly in the extra period to beat the Crescents 40 to 37, in a game that will live long in the memories of those who witnessed it.

Crescents Drop Thriller.

Battling neck and neck, the Caseys and the Crescents roared down the home stretch after going into the second half with the score 19 to 16 in favor of the K. of C. The Caseys opened daylight between the teams about six minutes from the end, leading by 26 to 20, but a beautiful Crescent drive, featured by the shooting of Cross and Thompson, evened it up at 26 to 26. The Crescents went out to 30 to 26 before the Caseys began the comeback that eventually won for them the game.

Webb, K. of C. guard, individually attended to tying up the score at 30 to 30 with two fine shots, but with but a single minute left of the regular time, Woodward, Crescent center, put his side ahead, 32 to 30, and just before the gun sounded "Eggie" Anderson won the esteem of his brotherhood by sinking two foul shots.

Caspar, Nolan, and Cross banged shots through the loops with dismaying speed at the start of the extra period. Tommy Nolan was a flash of fire, here, there, and everywhere on the floor, and the real difference between the teams.

Bliss Displays Smooth Team.

Bliss had entirely too much team consciousness for the Ross Jewelers. The Electricians, undisturbed champions of the Washington Collegiate Conference, showed how and why they are with a smooth passing and shooting attack that was at all times bewildering to the ambitious Jewelers.

Bliss raced to 14 to 0 before Compton came to the rescue of his team and sank a foul shot. Bliss pulled up at the half on top of a 20-to-6 score. But, seeming to fear that the Jewelers would suddenly summon their forces and create an insurrection, Bliss kept going at full speed until the end, exhibiting, in Minniec, Burke and Cassassa a trio of basket ball marksmen who threaten to carry their club to an unlimited championship.

It would have been impossible to find two more evenly matched teams than Sport Mart and the Shipleys. The score was tied, 8-8, at the half. Sport Mart led, 13 to 12, at the end of the third period.

Shipleys Appear Winners.

The teams alternated the advantage until the Shipleys appeared to have the game won with a 17-to-15 score, but while the timekeeper was brandishing a gun, John Frye, Sport Mart center, came through with a long shot to tie the game.

PINETZKI IS WINNER.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Leo Pinetzki, giant Polish wrestler, threw Vanka Zelesniak, of Russia, with a half Nelson and body slam after 18 minutes 48 seconds of wrestling at the New York Coliseum tonight. Pinetzki weighed 276, Zelesniak, 216. A crowd of 4,000 saw the show.

Other results: Sammy Stein, 200, Newark, threw Jim Corrigan, 210, California, in 25:06; Fritz Kler, 212, Germany, threw Gene Bruce, 200, Finland, in 9:28; Renato Gardini, 202, Italy, threw Anton Peterson, 225, California, in 23:31.

Georgia Defeats N. C. to Win Title

Carolina Bows, 26-24, in Thrilling Finals of Conference Play.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 1 (U.P.).—The finishing upset to a whole tournament of reversals was provided tonight when Georgia's Bulldogs defeated University of North Carolina, 26 to 24, for the 1932 Southern Conference basket ball championship.

The score at half time was 18 to 16. North Carolina had been a slight favorite to win because of brilliant and unexpected victories over Kentucky, the pretourney leader, and Auburn, seeded No. 4 in the ratings. Auburn's elimination last night had removed the last seeded team from the race.

Battalino Surrenders His Claim to Crown

New York, March 1 (U.P.).—Bat Battalino, Hartford, Conn., former featherweight champion, formally surrendered his claim to the title, in a notice given to the New York State Boxing Commission today. Battalino twice failed to "make weight" for championship bouts.

Battalino, who had been under suspension in this State, was reinstated and will act as his own manager. Hy Malley, suspended as manager of Battalino, was not reinstated.

TECH STARS TO BATTLE SWANNS

St. Martin's Will Play Palace in A. A. U. Games Tonight.

THE long grind for seven District A. A. U. basket ball championships will get going in earnest tonight with four games scheduled to be played, and the same number tomorrow night.

Dominating tonight's card will be the initial appearance of the Maroon Scholastics in the tournament. The Scholastics are the same club that represented Tech High in the high school series. At their head is Everett Russell, captain of the all-High team, and rated the greatest young player in the city. The Scholastics will find a big experienced team against them in Swann's Service. This game will be at 9 o'clock.

The night's activities will be begun by a 145-pound game between the Olmsted Grill and the hefty Centennials. The latter club is rated one of the dark horses in this section, and is led by Charlie Tortorice. Olmsted Grill has Harold Ticer and Ed Wills.

A bang-up fray is scheduled for 8 o'clock. The Shade Shop, with most of last year's strong Boys' Club Big Five in the line-up, meets the Northwesterns. This also is a 145-pound affair.

North Capitol Street will tangle with Southwest in the 10 o'clock game, for St. Martin's plays the Palace A. C. Both are strong clubs and there seems little to choose between them.

Leonard Comeback, at 36, May Succeed, Experts Say

By STUART CAMERON.

The once great lightweight champion, off at the age of 36 to a successful start in his second comeback attempt, is confident his skill has been unaffected by his long absence from the ring.

If Benny comes back he will be a miracle of sports and a mighty popular one. Leonard has more friends in the metropolitan area than any boxer. Tommy Loughran is popular. So is Jimmy McLarnin. But "Bennah" Leonard—well, that's something else again.

Just for example: Leonard slipped and fell during his bout with Billy McMahon last night. A photographer closed in and snapped the prostrate Leonard. Leonard enthusiasts nearly mobbed him and almost broke his camera. Police intervened.

Smart boxing men will tell you Leonard may be the exception. He

Trainor Fights Finazzo On Godwin-Barry Card

AL TRAINOR, who lost an unpopular decision to Billy Strickler at Ritchie Coliseum Monday night, and Joe Finazzo, slugging Baltimore middleweight, will meet in the semiwindup Tuesday night at Portner's Arena, where "Reds" Barry and Bog Godwin are to throw fists in the windup.

Both boys are slam-bang fighters who are active every minute. Finazzo has twice beaten Henry Irving.

Young Van, rising young local middleweight, and Fighting Dick, a Philadelphia boy, are to wage war in one of the four-round preliminaries. Van has stopped two opponents in two starts as a professional.

Billy Essinger, the customer's choice when it comes to slugging, has drawn George Esrick, conqueror of Billy Hooe, in another four-rounder.

An opponent for Danny London, former Metropolitan bantam champ, is being sought.

The Alexandria Day Nursery announced last night that Billy Strickler and Billy Schwartz have been matched to meet within the near future in a semifinal bout for the light-heavyweight leadership of this district.

GREAT FINISH BRINGS TROPICAL PARK VICTORY TO JAZ AGE

DoubleHeart, Choice, Is Third

Threat Near Finish Barely Fails to Materialize.

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., March 1 (A.P.).—Jaz Age, under 118 pounds, came sailing through the short stretch like a March wind to get up and win the Miami Shores Claiming Handicap, 5½-furlong feature of the card here this afternoon. Well-played at $7.50 for $2, the bearer of J. Parmelee's silks beat J. L. Johnston's Chatford by a head, with C. Leroy King's even-money favorite, Double Heart, a mere nose behind in third place.

It was the fourth straight close finish of the day and had the big crowd in an uproar. Jaz Age completed his trip in 1:06 flat. Double Heart had no apparent excuse, except that he was on the inside, where the footing is slightly slower. He was outfooted away from the barrier. Flag Bearer, coupled with Jack Collins, had the early speed and showed the way, while Jaz Age forced the pace.

Turning for home Chatford came around the leaders as Flag Bearer wilted. Jaz Age was whipped hard by Buddy Hanford and responded gamely in the closing stages to assume command and hold Chatford at bay. Double Heart reached the leaders but hung in the drive to the wire.

Jockey Willie Carroll received a 3-day suspension from the stewards for crossing over with Jack Howe after the start of the third race.

Dick Morris' Win Streak Broken at Eight.

New Orleans, March 1 (A.P.).—A string of eight successive victories was broken today when C. V. Whitney's Chimney Sweep led Dick Morris home in the 6-furlong feature at the Fair Grounds.

Dick Morris, a 4-year-old, racing for Knebelkamp and Morris, entered the race with an unbroken string of eight victories, but could do no better than second, after leading for the greater part of the distance. Chimney Sweep ran the six panels in 1:12 2-5, to beat Dick a length, with E. R. Bradley's Broad Meadows third.

Step Six Wins Feature At Havana.

Havana, Cuba, March 1 (A.P.).—A 5-furlong sprint, which attracted a well-balanced lot was the feature offering at Oriental Park this afternoon. Seven started and the winner turned up in C. S. Sprague's Step Six, ridden by A. Gaither.

Step Six showed the way to J. E. Smallman's Blue Day, while third went to George Collins' Racketeer. There was a short delay at the post and when the break came Step Six moved into command at once. She displayed a high flight of speed and opened up a safe advantage.

G. U. Prep-Gonzaga Game Today Canceled

The scheduled game this afternoon, between Georgetown Prep and Gonzaga High, has been canceled upon the request of Georgetown Prep, four of whose players are down with heavy colds.

The game was to have concluded the schedule of Georgetown Prep, whose successful season is now at an end.

Gonzaga will wind up its year Friday night, at Gonzaga, when the school's traditional rival, St. John's, is met at 8 o'clock.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LADY SUNBEAM, $11.90, $5.70, $3.90; DARK WAR, $6.60, $4.50; WANDEROO, $3.00.

LADY SUNBEAM broke with the leaders and was a forward contender to stretch turns, hung on with determination in final drive and outgamed DARK WAR. Latter broke from the extreme outside and was carried wide by the leaders making turn into home stretch. WANDEROO got a step at it. Workman hugged the rail all the way, but WANDEROO weakened under punishment. SUPER PURCHASE hung on well.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:07. Off at 3:10. Winner, G. L. Arvin's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GAN LEE, $42.90, $11.60, $5.50; NORWALK, $3.10, $2.50; MORTIME, $2.60.

GAN LEE broke well and trailed MORTIME to sixteenth pole, faltered at end and just managed to last long enough to stall off NORWALK. Latter finished full of courage and was gradually wearing the winner down. MORTIME showed lot of early speed, but tired badly last furlong. SUNNY SUSAN made a determined effort at top of home stretch, but flattened out when put to the whip. PARTIES would have been third in another stride.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:42. Off at 3:43. Winner, E. L. Kent's br. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LAWYER, $4.20, $2.50, $2.30; JACK HOWE, $2.30, $2.20; BOB BLACKBURN, $6.80.

LAWYER, outrun from the start, worked his passage up on the outside. He closed with a rush last furlong and was up in the final stride. JACK HOWE broke very fast and drew away into a commanding lead in early stages. He tired badly when put to a drive last sixteenth. BOB BLACKBURN, hard ridden all through home stretch, hung last fifty yards. CORPORAL II, in trouble at turn out of back stretch, was pulled up.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $900. Miami Claiming Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:07. Off at 4:12. Winner, J. H. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JAZ AGE, $7.50, $3.90, out; CHATFORD, $6.10, out; DOUBLE HEART, out.

JAZ AGE forced a fast pace from the start and just lasted long enough after disposing of FLAG BEARER in final furlong. CHATFORD, slew to find his stride, was taken to the outside rounding the far turn and carried very wide into home stretch. He finished going very strong and would have won in another stride. DOUBLE HEART came through next the inside rail at top of home stretch. He hung after getting to leaders. PENNATE was a forward contender from the break. FLAG BEARER showed lot of speed, but tired.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won ridden out; place, easily. Went to post at 4:36. Off at 4:37½. Winner, J. O. Keeler's blk. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DON ROMIRO, $4.50, $3.40, $2.40; CAPTAIN ED, $3.30, $3.00; LOVE OFFERING, $2.60.

Lewis took DON ROMIRO in hand on back stretch, moved up after passing the half-mile pole and went around the leader, disposed of opposition in home stretch and drew away under urging. CAPTAIN ED, very slow to find his stride, was taken wide at stretch turn and closed going very strong. LOVE OFFERING, quick to begin, showed lot of early speed, but tired in last furlong.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:00. Off at 5:01½. Winner, J. Spencer's ch. f. (3), by Infinite—Winnie G. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:40.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLASH O' WHITE, $5.20, $4.40, $3.30; PHANTOM ROCK, $9.80, $7.30; RUBRIDGE, $12.20.

FLASH O' WHITE, in close pursuit of pace until rounding the far turn, where she went to the front with a rush. She was ridden out at end. PHANTOM ROCK, hustled along entire trip, was tiring at end and inclined to bear out. RUBRIDGE went wide at top of home stretch and finished strong when Prain straightened him out. EVEN UP, a slow beginner, worked his way up on outside, but tired badly after closing a big gap.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won ridden out; place, second; third. Went to post at 5:27. Off at 5:27½. Winner, E. R. RAIN DELAYS PLAY.

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 1 (A.P.).—Finals in men's singles and mixed doubles of the Bermuda tennis championships were postponed today until tomorrow on account of rain.

CELTIC NINE PLANS FOR SEASON

Eleven Players Already Signed; Ludlow to Coach.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 1.—Eleven players signed to perform with the St. Mary's Celtics on the diamond this season at the special meeting held today at the home of Mrs. Ruth Kidwell, on South Pitt Street.

Charlie Corbett, local baseball leader, was named director of the team for the seventh consecutive season. Corbett announced he had received the contracts of Bill Langford, second baseman; Bussey Brenner, short-stop; "Russ" Kidwell, catcher; Joe Hamilton, outfielder; Rip Hicks, third baseman. These players have been with the Celtics since 1925.

Ken Smith May Start With Celtics.

Others who will play are: Doc Dreifus, pitcher-first baseman; Art Ludlow, outfielder and third baseman; and Sammy Berman, Ellet Cabell and Dave Bayliss, outfielders. It was stated that Ken Smith, former Eastern League pitcher, who last season pitched in the Wisconsin semipro league, would start the season with the semipro champions. Smith is a big right-hander. He has played minor league ball for several seasons. "Ken" is expected to sign up in organized ball sometime in May.

The Celtics will again occupy Baggett's stadium as their home-field. Director Corbtet leased the grounds yesterday for the season. He plans to have the field resodded and the stands reconditioned at once. Any clubs desiring to use the field during the coming campaign are asked to communicate with the Celts' impresario for dates.

Art Ludlow, heavy-hitting third sacker, will again act as coach. Last year, he rounded out a good team. Art has played in fast circles. He was with Milwaukee in the American Association League and two years ago played with Clarksburg, W. Va., team in the Mid-Atlantic loop.

ST. JOHN'S FIVE WINS, 34 TO 25

Prep Champions in Front From Opening of Game.

TWO champions clashed last night, St. John's, winner of the local prep school olive wreath, and Calvert Hall, standard bearer of the Baltimore scholastics, and when the final blast from the timer's gun had ended the fray, St. John's was on the long end of a 34-to-25 score. It was the team's fifteenth consecutive victory.

The Cadets leveled a heavy barrage at the visitors' basket immediately after the play started, and was soon in possession of a comfortable lead, which it never relinquished. The score at the end of the first quarter was 10 to 3; at the half, 18 to 8, and 28 to 14 at the termination of the third period. Mike Scanlon and Fred Scheele played the leading roles in the Johnnies' triumph. Scanlon zipped the leather through the netting for 13 points, and Scheele accounted for 10. Blades, Vito and Walsh dominated the play of Calvert Hall, but their combined efforts were not enough to halt the driving attack of their hosts.

Calvert staged a futile rally in the final period, when St. John's was manned by a substitute crew, but the latter opened up with a counterattack that put victory far beyond the reach of the visitors.

Federal Storage Team Organized

Organization of the baseball club to represent the Federal Storage Co. in the Capital City League was completed last night at a meeting held at 1707 Florida avenue. E. K. Morris is to manage the team and will be assisted by Russell Barbee and Nick Valenza. The following players have already signed: Gichner, Rosser, Valenza, Wilson, Ferrari, Heider, Knight, Freschi, Milburn, Stevens and Bodson.

The Federals will open their season on April 3, when a double-header will be played with Majestic Radio. Games are wanted for Saturdays and Sundays after that date with strong unlimited teams. Arrangements can be made by calling Russell Barbee at Adams 6304 during the day or Nick Valenza at Wisconsin 2478 after 6 o'clock. Communications by mail should be sent to the club headquarters at 1707 Florida avenue.

Takoma-Silver Spring Quintet Plays Monday

The plucky Takoma-Silver Spring High School quintet, winner of the Montgomery County title, will further its play for the State crown on Monday, meeting the Annapolis High five in University of Maryland's Ritchie Stadium.

The Takomas hope to book a game with St. John's District Prep School champions for Saturday night. A dance would follow the game.

Championship Games At Boys Club Listed

Two championships will be at stake Saturday night at the Boys Club. The D. and H. Club meets the Potomac Boatmen for the District Amateur League crown at 8:30 o'clock, preceded by a battle between the Sport Mart and Kendall School teams for the 145-pound Boys Club League honors, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Howitzer Giants Play French's Five Tonight

The Howitzer Giants and the French's A. C. will clash tonight in an independent series game on the Kensington Armory floor, starting at 9:30 o'clock. Fans are offered a double attraction, the Vic's five meeting the Richmond Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 o'clock. These games were originally scheduled at the Silver Spring Armory.

Play for Title Opens In Community Center

Two of the city's leading amateur teams will clash tonight in the first game of a three-game series to decide the Community Center League championship at Eastern High at 9 o'clock. The Delaware and Hudson five, winner of Section A, opposes the Griffith-Consumers, Section B champions. The second game will be played tomorrow night at Central High at 9:30 o'clock.

Buses for Mat Fans To Bolling Field Bouts

A capacity crowd of approximately 3,200 is looked for at Bolling Field next Monday night when the Athletic Association sponsors its all-star card of mat bouts. Some of the best grunt and groan artists in the business will strut their stuff in this show, the first of a series of weekly ones. Such grapplers as Karl Pojello, Billy Bartush, Jim Browning, Bull Martin and Sam Cordovano are among those already signed, with several other big shots still to be lined up.

Direct transportation to the Armory will be furnished at a nominal cost, chartered buses being due to leave for the bouts from Ninth and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, from Ninth and New York avenue northwest, and from North Capitol and H streets at 7:45 o'clock.

Hitting the Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

TEMPLE and Rinaldi Tailors had quite a battle on the Lucky Strike drives last night in the National Capital League and, after the dust had settled, it was discovered that the Temple pin-spillers had landed the odd game. The Tailors lost the first game, 540-534 and, although they picked up in the second, dropped it, too, 583-610. They hit their stride in the final, however, and avoided being whitewashed by knocking down 604 bottles, while the Temple lads could upset no more than 534.

Lovett, of Temple, had high individual game of 160, while Santini, of the losing quintet, was credited with a 382 set, which stood out like a sore thumb.

The Washington Post's League came to an end yesterday at Lucky Strike with three clubs tied neck and neck and neck. They were the Agates, the Picas and the Minions, who have been fighting it out for the lead all year.

Brodie and the Imperials took all of the honors in Supervising Architects' League at Lucky Strike last night. The individual figures were 130 and 362, while the best team marks were 587 and 1,658.

In the Eastern Star League matches at Lucky Strike last night, Washington Centennial, No. 1, took team honors, 503 and 1,480. Miss Lucy Owen had high individual game of 124, while Miss Veihmyer's 322 set was best.

Chemistry had 543 game and a 1,583 set to steal the show in the Commerce Interbureau League last night at Lucky Strike, with Chapman's 145 game and Specht's 336 set outstanding among individual efforts.

Roesch had a 139 game and Warner had a 352 set to give them the lion's share of the glory in the Insurance League last night at Lucky Strike. Travelers captured team honors by virtue of 549 and 1,581 figures.

The Columbians were beaten by University Park in two out of three games at the Columbia alleys last night, the result being that they dropped out of the lead in the Washington Ladies' League for the first time this season. While all this was going on, the Beeques and Shamrocks took three from Kenos and Hilltoppers, respectively, to climb into a tie at the top of the ladder.

The Beeques, with 549 and 1,530, had high game and set total for the night, with individual honors going to Misses Whelan and Quigley. The latter had high set of 334, with Miss Whelan's 133 game-total topping all rivals.

First Reformed, having high game of 593 and set of 1,664, beat Wallace Memorial last night at Columbia in the Northwest Church League to go into a first-place tie with Emory. Minster's 150 game stood out, while Seltzer's 372 set gave him honors in this respect.

Miss Coons' 308 set and 117 game gave her individual honors in last night's matches at Columbia, although Miss Orpin shared in the latter, in the Ladies Internal Revenue League. Service had the best game, 489, while Administration's 1,368 was the best set-total.

The Ladies' Chamber of Commerce League, composed mostly of novices, brought out some hard bowling last night but the results were nothing to write home about. Miss Jones' 103 game and 287 set were high, while Membership's 431 game and General Office's 1,243 set topped the team efforts. These matches also were rolled at Columbia.

Hardy, of the Lansburgh team, last night ran wild in a King Pin Business Men's League match on the King Pin drives when he set a season's record for high game and came within four pins of a new set total. His figures were 161 and 414.

Lansburghs and Columbias took two of three games from Tiptops and Capitals, respectively, in the Ladies Independent League last night at King Pin. Miss Brent's 108 represented high game.

Kools Drinks turned in a nifty 1,718 set last night in the Columbia Heights League at Arcadia, with Paramount Paint Co.'s 598 game standing up. Burton's 154 game was high as also was Harmon's 396 set.

In the Men's Lutheran League, St. Marks furnished the fireworks at the Arcadia last night, having high game of 565 and high set of 1,601. Zanner, of the same team, had high individual game, 134, while Morrissette's 357 set topped all others.

Trinity, No. 1, with figures of 494 and 1,410, showed the way in the Ladies' Lutheran League. Misses Berger and Culp, with 118 and 306, respectively, topped individual scoring.

Singleton rolled a 598 game and a 1,690 set last night at Convention Hall to grab the limelight in the Masonic League. Homer's 135 game and Anderson's 354 set were high among individual efforts.

PRO FIGHTS BANNED AT COLISEUM

THERE will be no more professional fights at Ritchie Coliseum, University of Maryland, it was announced yesterday by Alan Bowie, Prince Georges County State's attorney, who revealed at the same time that he had made efforts to stop Monday night's card of matches.

Mr. Bowie, in a letter to H. C. "Curly" Byrd, director of athletics at the university, said he understood that permission of neither the State Boxing Commission nor the county commissioners had been obtained for Monday night's bouts. Mr. Bowie, it is understood, called Mr. Byrd Monday, but was unable to reach him. He informed Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the university, that the fights would be illegal, but Dr. Pearson said it was too late to call them off, and asked Mr. Bowie to do nothing to break up the affair.

Champ Pickens, Bicentennial sports commission head and promoter of Monday's fights, informed The Post yesterday that he was unaware of the illegality of the bouts, and pointed out that representatives of the Maryland State Boxing Commission collected the customary 10 per cent of the gate receipts. Mr. Pickens also said that he planned no further matches between professionals at the university.

The Prince Georges Board of County Commissioners yesterday refused Milton Rowe, local sportsman, permission to hold fights near Silver Hill, although Rowe offered to give $150 a week to county welfare work if permission were granted.

Boy, Junior Netmen In Baltimore Event

Entry blanks are out for the eighth annual junior and boy indoor tennis tournament sponsored by the Baltimore Evening Sun. They may be obtained at the Sun office in Baltimore. The tournament opens March 14 at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore. There is no entry fee.

Gilbert Hunt, sterling local netman, is the 1931 champion of the boys division. He will compete this year in the junior end of the net meet.

LEONARD RETAINS OLD POPULARITY

quit the ring some ten years ago, retiring as undefeated lightweight champion. He was independently wealthy. The market broke him. And it's for financial reasons only that he wants to come back, making the middleweight championship his ultimate goal.

Smart boxing men will not, however, definitely predict success for Leonard. Benny believes in himself, and his almost countless admirers believe in him. But while he may be successful in the preliminary phases of his comeback, it's difficult to picture him taking what a good, husky middleweight would have to offer, and it's just as hard to see the old champion laying such a youngster down to sleep.

At that, reaching the top of the current middleweight crop is not an impossibility, even for such an old warhorse as Leonard. The New York State Boxing Commission doesn't even recognize anybody as champion. The National Boxing Association, half-heartedly, one believes, has said that it recognizes the persistent Gorilla Jones, Akron Negro.

Benny is partly bald. That in itself doesn't matter. But Benny is partly bald because he is nearly 37 years old. And that's plenty important.

ROAD CONTROL PLAN OPPOSED IN FAIRFAX

100 Citizens at Hearing Urge County to Keep Highway Tax.

Retention of control of Fairfax roads by the county, with adoption of the usual road levy, and an increase in the tax rate for schools were stanchly advocated yesterday by the majority of approximately 100 citizens who appeared at the public hearing on the Fairfax County budget.

Opponents of the Byrd bill, which would consolidate the road building and maintenance activities of the State entirely under State forces, declared that Fairfax has received more for its tax dollar for roads than any other county in Virginia.

Members of the County Board of Supervisors said that they did not contemplate making a road work levy because of uncertainty on what action would be taken by the Legislature on the Byrd bill. The statement drew a storm of protest.

Farmers Held Victimized.

"It is true that the Byrd plan would cause a reduction of about 80 cents on $100 tax valuation, but what would we receive in return?" one witness demanded. "Our road construction would stop where it is and the farmer who has been paying his taxes for years, hoping to get out of the mud, would still be there just when it appeared certain that he would be the next to get an improved road through his place."

Members of the board confessed that they were in a quandary over the levy. Should the Legislature pass the bill it would mean immediate suspension of all road activities on April 1, waiting for State forces to take over maintenance on July 1, the board members declared.

Even if a petition to take advantage of the local option clause in the bill were presented to the court, the board held, an election could not be held until August 9. Even should the voters decide to exercise the option clause, another fifteen days must elapse after the election before the county authorities could begin to resume road activities.

School-Cut Plan Protested.

This would cause suspension of all road activities until September, and actual work could not be started until a road force was organized, which probably would require another thirty days, the board members declared.

One or two persons who ventured to urge a cut in school expenses encountered a storm of protest, and several urged an increase in taxes for schools as "one of the most important duties of a State and county for future generations."

Indications at the hearing were there would be little change from the tentative budget outlined. If the road levy is omitted the county will receive $342,390.94 in taxes next fall, if there are no delinquents. The budget for the current year was $517,436.25. If the budget is adopted as tentatively set up, the tax rates for general county purposes will be 45 cents, and 90 cents for schools.

Red Cross Chapter Plans for First Aid

Montgomery Group Gives Impetus to Program for Schools.

Plans for encouraging first-aid instruction and establishment of a visiting nurse service in the county were discussed at the meeting of the board of directors of the Montgomery County Chapter of the American Red Cross Monday night at Rockville High School, it was announced by Miss Estelle Moore, president.

Superintendent of County Schools Edwin W. Broome said that it is planned to include first aid in the school curriculum as soon as possible. Mrs. Elisha Hansen, of Alta Vista, was named chairman of a committee to investigate the need for a motor corps service in the county.

The following committee chairmen were announced by Miss Moore: Dr. G. H. Crook, Poolesville, first aid; Mrs. Ivan Weld, Sandy Spring, nutrition service; Mrs. Somervell Dawson, Rockville, visiting nurses; George W. Davis, Silver Spring, disaster relief service; Dr. Edwin W. Broome, Rockville, home service; Judge Granville Curry, Bethesda, junior Red Cross; Mrs. Roger Whiteford, Chevy Chase, production service.

Tuberculosis Clinic Next Tuesday.

A tuberculosis clinic will be held in the County Office Building, in Hyattsville, Md., next Tuesday, it was announced yesterday by Dr. A. B. Hooton, Prince Georges County health officer. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. John E. O'Neill, of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

CHAMBER INDORSES MEMORIAL HIGHWAY

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Unanimous indorsement was given yesterday by the executive committee of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce to the petition which is being circulated throughout the counties of Arlington and Fairfax and the City of Alexandria calling upon the General Assembly of Virginia to ratify the Capper-Cramton act creating the George Washington Memorial Parkway and to appropriate $25,000 as submitted by the State budget committee and urged by Gov. Pollard.

It was further brought out by the committee that the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce has always been in favor of cooperation between the National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the State of Virginia and at this particular time there appears to be a greater need than ever before for a feeling of complete understanding between the State and the commission.

The Lyon Village Citizens Association meeting last night indorsed the fight being waged by the Arlington County Bar Association for a reduction of electric light rates for Arlington County.

Robert E. Freer, chairman of the association's public utilities committee, was directed to cooperate with the committee of the bar association, which is headed by John L. Green.

There will be a special meeting of the Arlington County Board of Health at the courthouse at noon today to discuss plans for the county's part in the State-wide campaign on diphtheria.

Tomorrow night will be designated as "Father's Night" at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Matthew Fontaine Maury School in the school auditorium at Clarendon.

Purchaser of Tax Lots Sues, Charging Ejection

Alleging that he was ejected from three lots in Capitol Heights, Md., which he had bought at a tax sale, Roy E. Shaver, of Capitol Heights, yesterday filed a suit in Marlboro Circuit Court for $500 damages against William M. Hill. Shaver is represented by Attorneys J. Wilson Ryon and Alan Bowie.

When the lots were sold for unpaid taxes, Mr. Shaver bought them. Later, he says, Hill, the former owner, "did wrongfully enter and eject" him from the land. In addition to the $500, he asks that the lots be restored to him.

Dry Men Lose Eight-Mile Chase.

In spite of an eight-mile chase on foot, Federal dry agents yesterday lost three men who ran from a still near Mitchellville, Md., when it was raided by the prohibition men, according to U. S. Commissioner J. Frank Parran. The still itself, of 300-gallon capacity, and 8,000 gallons of mash were destroyed. The agents reported that they kept within trailing distance of the men as far as Davidsonville, in Anne Arundel County.

WOMEN OF COUNTY CLUBS PLAN SLATE

Nominating Committee of Montgomery Federation Appointed.

A nominating committee to select a slate of officers to be voted on at the annual meeting of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs in May was selected at a meeting of the executive board yesterday in the Central Methodist Church, Bethesda, Md. They were Mrs. Henry M. Milburn, Kensington; Mrs. Eugene E. Stevens, Chevy Chase; Mrs. Upton D. Nourse, Dawsonville; Mrs. Ivan C. Weld, Sandy Spring, and Mrs. Beryl English, Silver Spring.

The board indorsed the five-point program which would interest clubwomen in helping the return of normal conditions. Mrs. B. Peyton Whalen, president, reported 17 of the 21 eligible clubs plan universal membership and that others are considering it. Mrs. E. S. Noyes, chairman of the Eliza Bennett Hartshorn student loan fund, reported three more girls had taken advantage of the fund, bringing the total now using the fund to thirteen. Mrs. Edgar W. Moore, treasurer, reported payment of $120.75 to the Social Service League since the last meeting.

Mrs. Annie M. Wilson, fine arts chairman, reported that Mrs. Edwin H. Etz had won second place in a State-wide poetry contest and that the poem is to be published in the Maryland Clubwoman. Mrs. Stevens reported the State federation had rejected the Postal Telegraph plan for an invitation to a world-wide woman's conference.

Road Tax Cut Seen In Prince Georges

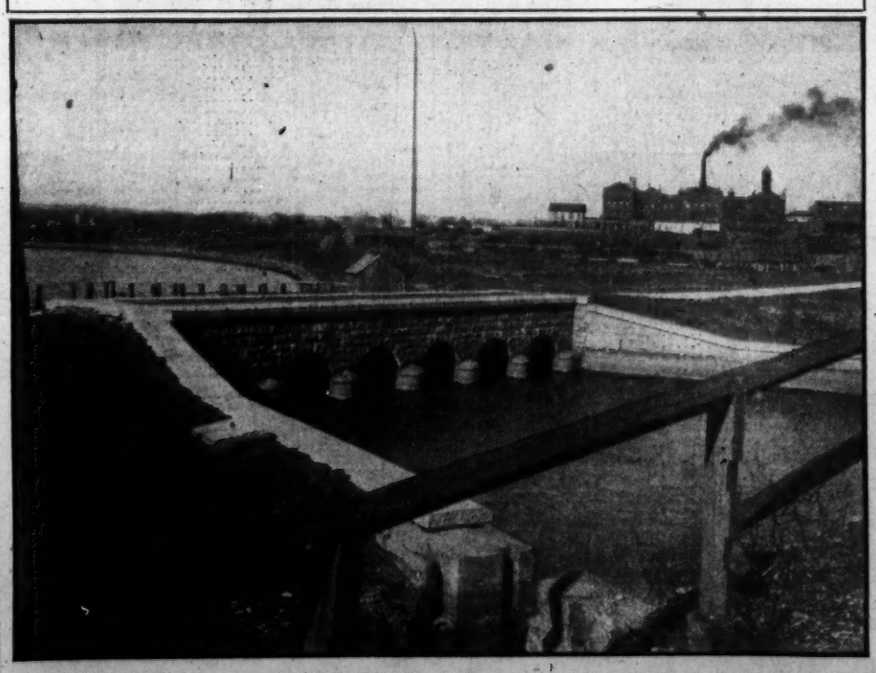
County Commissioners to Consider Reduction as Result of Appeal.

The Prince Georges County commissioners feel that they can cut the road tax this year, they told representatives of the Taxpayers Association who appeared before them yesterday to ask a lower levy. At the same time Nicholas Orem, superintendent of schools, wrote the association that he had no authority to call a meeting of teachers to discuss a voluntary cut in salary, but would take the matter up with the school board.

Walter M. Grimes, president of the board of commissioners, did not state to what extent the levy for roads would be cut, although Charles A. Ryon, a member of the taxpayers' committee, had suggested a decrease from 23 cents to 17 cents. Mr. Ryon pointed out that labor costs were approximately one-third cheaper than last year and that the roads generally were in good condition.

The committee also told the commissioners that many of the school teachers were willing to take a cut in salary. It was this opinion that led the association last Saturday to ask Mr. Orem to call a meeting of the teachers.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 209



DO you remember when the Fourteenth street side of the Tidal Basin looked like this?

The new buildings of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing had not yet been erected and the drive around the Tidal Basin was then only in the blue-print stage, if any.

A good many old shacks in the neighborhood have disappeared to make room for the present "money-making" structure and the whole landscape has been improved through the use of flower beds, tennis courts, Japanese cherry trees, new bridges, concrete pavements and sod.

ALEXANDRIA POLICE OPEN LICENSE DRIVE

Owners of Automobiles and Trucks Being Cited for Failure to Pay.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 323.

The police department yesterday started a campaign against owners of automobiles and trucks who have not taken out the necessary city licenses. Policemen Curtis and Stewart have been assigned to this task, and cited six delinquents into Police Court, three being fined and the others acquitted, they having paid the required license fee.

This drive will be continued until all have taken out the licenses, of whom there are said to be several hundred. The work of collecting license fees from business and professional men will be taken up when the automobile and truck owners have paid their fines or taken out licenses. The business and professional men now are subject to fine for their delinquency.

The total number of arrests in February was 292, a drop of 70 as compared with January. Fines for prohibition law violations totaled $1,722.25 in February as compared with $873 in January, according to Elliott F. Hoffman, clerk of the courts. Mr. Hoffman also collected for the State $749.30 in fees on deeds, suits and marriage licenses.

The advantage of proper lighting for automobiles, homes and public institutions was the subject of an address before the Alexandria Rotary Club yesterday by R. E. Carlson, of the commercial engineering department of the Westinghouse Lamp Co., of Bloomfield, N. J. The talk was illustrated with slides on the manufacture of various types of lamps.

The program was arranged by Rotarian H. H. Martin, and the club singing was led by Rotarian Talbott Haslett, with Mrs. Anna Meeks at the piano.

Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker at the reconstruction dinner held in the George Mason Hotel Monday night, and attended by approximately 50 business men.

The work outlined by the committee includes a concerted movement to get persons to make repairs to property, thereby employing a large number of persons.

Robert E. Knight presided at the meeting, and the committee named to undertake this work is: J. Kent White, George M. Reynolds, C. C. Batcheller, J. M. Duncan, jr., Lawrence E. Roland, J. W. Howard, George Herring, R. E. Brehaut, J. Lars Reentzjerna, Elliott F. Hoffman and Capt. Jack Myers.

Mrs. Sarah Essex Sennett, 89 years old, died yesterday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Langston, at Pohick Church Rectory. In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Sennett is survived by three grandchildren.

The funeral will be conducted at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from Pohick Episcopal Church, by the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Alexandria. Interment will be in Pohick Cemetery.

Britons Melt Gold To Protect Pound

Ancestral Jewel Boxes Yield Treasures for Nation and Profit.

London, March 1 (A.P.).—Thousands of Englishmen today were tossing goldsmiths' masterpieces of centuries past into the melting pot as sacrifices on the altar of patriotism and profit.

There was no estimate as to the amount of gold that has come out of ancestral jewel boxes, but one authority estimated that Englishmen owned a grand total of £1,000,000,000 of gold in all forms, including gold sovereigns.

Sellers of the yellow metal have been led to convert it to ordinary currency because of the opportunity to increase their country's gold supply and thus protect the pound sterling abroad and because of the profit involved. The price of the gold sovereign, that is an English pound at par of $4.88, is 27 shillings. A pound sterling with England off the gold standard is worth about $3.44. There are 20 shillings in a pound, therefore the seller of gold realizes a profit of 7 shillings on enough gold to make a sovereign.

New County Budget For Schools Same

Prince Georges Seeks Identical Sum That Was Given Last Year.

In spite of an expected increase in enrollment of about 450 children, the Prince Georges County school budget presented to the county commissioners yesterday is for exactly the same sum as that requested last year. Superintendent of Schools Nicholas Orem asks for $498,340 to run the school system during the term 1932-33.

Of this amount $364,455 is to be used to pay teachers, and $50,000 for the operation of the school system. Maintenance will take $33,445, while $25,100 is needed for auxiliary agencies, such as school libraries and health service. The remainder is spent for capital outlay and retiring the bonds of the system.

Salaries of teachers amount to about $11,000 more than last year, but maintenance will cost about $1,300 less. Repairs have been cut by $2,000 and $1,000 has been slashed from the fund for replacing equipment. A deduction of $2,000 for bus service has been made, and the library fund has been cut $200. To offset this, $5,000 must be paid for land bought at the Mount Rainier High School some time ago, and the State is giving $1,500 less to the high schools. State aid in the payment of instructional costs is also about $5,000 less.

STOCK PRICES CLOSE WITH SLIGHT GAINS

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—With the exception of February 4, today's stock market was the dullest of the year. In a turnover reduced to 732,535 shares, prices again moved almost horizontally, but they did manage to rise a little in the late trading. The average net advance, four-tenths of a point, exactly equaled yesterday's decline.

Entering the month that witnesses the official debut of spring, the market seemed reluctant to believe that much of a seasonal business improvement would be experienced, although its feelings may have been influenced by the dismal February through which trade had just passed, however, if professional traders found no incentive to buy, neither did they care to sell, and pivotal issues crawled through a fractional range.

So dull was the market that a handful of stocks which got out of line assumed some prominence through their failure to conform to the general pattern.

Irregularities of Stocks.

One was Johns-Manville, which reached new low ground on omission of the dividend and the report of 1931 earnings equal to 8 cents a share. Another was Bendix, whose dividend was reduced from a $1 to a 60-cent annual basis. On the other side, American Ice pushed up to a new high, up 2¼ points net.

In the final dealings, when reports that Great Britain was to make a substantial payment on last summer's American banking loan, some leaders manifested mild interest in an advance, with the result that fractional gains were made by U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Woolworth, Gillette, North American, New York Central, Canadian Pacific and others. Several chemicals rose a point. Auburn closed 6½ higher.

March 1 settlements cast no shadows on the money markets. Acceptance dealers reduced buying rates on medium and long maturities by one-eighth of 1 per cent, but this was regarded as a further readjustment to last week's action rather than as a forecast.

Low Price for Copper.

Trade news included a new low price for export copper, bringing it into line with yesterday's domestic cut. There was some discussion as to how the higher steel quotations would meet the test of heavy buying by Ford Motor, and reports of wide irregularity in production were heard.

Today's gold statement of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, revealing a decrease of more than $20,000,000 in earmarkings, brought expressions of encouragement from bankers, some of whom went so far as to say that the tide of gold movement has turned. It was assumed that much of the released metal was for French account, for the franc has recently been heavy, although it had a late advance today.

England's ability to reduce her borrowings in this country was applauded in banking circles which pointed out that her financial position had improved substantially of late. The repayment may cause some easiness in money here until the participating banks are able to find employment for funds thus returned. Cheaper money, however, should help the bond market.

CREDIT MEN'S GROUP TO CONVENE APRIL 15

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

President C. W. Clayton, of the Washington Association of Credit Men, announced yesterday that a session of credit executives of the Fifth District of the National Association of Credit Men, composed of representatives from Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and North Carolina, will be held at Wardman Park Hotel Friday, April 15.

P. W. White, national councillor and general chairman of the committee on arrangements, has appointed the following committee chairmen for the event: F. I. Williams, publicity; P. W. Harper, printing; Louis M. Hewlett, hotels; Miss F. E. Thompson, registration; Mrs. E. J. Hess, reception; John A. Reilly, speakers and subjects; W. J. Tastet, finance; A. E. Kostulski, entertainment.

International Business Machines Corporation has introduced a new electrical machine known as the international automatic multiplying punch, which multiplies at speeds averaging four times faster than any mechanical method, and which already has been found especially adaptable to billing, pay roll and other large volume accounting work of public utility, railroad, insurance and industrial organizations.

Speed of Machine.

By actual test, the new machine will permanently record and multiply eight figures by eight figures in 8 seconds, the entire operation being automatic except for the initial set-up of the numbers to be multiplied on the machine. A touch of a lever will instantly verify the result. By the pencil and scratch-pad method several minutes ordinarily would be required for the same multiplication, with doubtful accuracy.

The new machine operates electrically on the punched-hole principle, the items to be multiplied and their products or extensions being recorded by punch marks in any of the columns of the accounting or tabulating cards used. The cards then may be inserted in an electrical printing-tabulating machine, and bills or other finished forms printed automatically therefrom.

A visible counter on the multiplying machine continuously adds the products, enabling totals of the work to be obtained at any instant. The machine may also be set with one fixed number of amount which may be multiplied successively by varying amounts, a use particularly valuable in public utility billing or other large scale work, such as pay roll or dividend computations, where one multiplier is often the same for hundreds of operations.

Uses Are Unlimited.

Officials of the corporation report that applications of the automatic multiplying machine appear to be practically unlimited. Besides billing, pay roll make-up, inventory control and cost keeping, almost every customer or prospect has indicated some distinctive use for the machine involving a large number of accurate calculations.

The third session of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the American Concrete Institute, which convened at the Wardman Park Hotel yesterday for a four-day meeting will open this morning with a discussion of concrete masonry by some leading engineers and research directors in concrete construction work in the country. Approximately 600 experts interested in the design and use of concrete are expected to be present for the convention, it is announced.

Those taking part in the discussion this morning include F. E. Richart, research professor of engineering materials, University of Illinois; R. E. Copeland, engineer cement products bureau; A. G. Timms, associate engineer, research laboratory, and C. A. Menzel, of the Portland Cement Association, and J. C. Pearson, director of research, Lehigh Portland Cement Co.

The institute will reconvene at 8 o'clock tonight after an afternoon free for sightseeing tours and inspection trips. A feature of tonight's session will be a discussion by L. J. Mensch, engineer and contractor, Chicago, on "Deflections and Vibrations in High Structures."

Besides a comprehensive discussion of the uses of concrete, the program of the institute also includes a round of specially arranged sightseeing tours and several social activities, chief of which will be the twenty-eighth annual dinner to be held tomorrow night.

SCATTERED SELLING MARKS DAY ON CURB

Most of List Is Steady as Some Utilities Suffer Slight Losses.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Scattered selling in the utility issues again imparted a somewhat uneven appearance to the curb market today, although most of the list held about steady.

Middle West Utilities dropped ⅝ of a point, to a new low, at 2½, and there were sharp breaks in some of the company's bonds. Commonwealth Edison dropped below par with a 5-point slump, to a new minimum, at 99. Nevertheless, Samuel Insull, chairman, said at the annual meeting that the company could meet its $20,000,000 in notes due in July practically out of its own resources. Public Service, of northern Illinois, slumped 4, to a new low, at 98.

Elsewhere in the utility group prices were slightly changed. Consolidated Gas, of Baltimore, was a firm spot, rising nearly a point. Electric Bond & Share and United Light "A" closed up ¼. Oils also held up well, closing with extremely narrow changes. Margay was unchanged, at 6¼, although a quarterly dividend of 25 cents, the first in nearly two years, was ordered.

Industrials were mixed. Aluminum Co. of America sagged a fraction, and the preferred dropped 2 points, to a new low. Novadel Agene, however, traded at 34, up 3 points; Ford, of France, advanced a point, but Ford, Ltd., the only member of the group traded in any volume, closed at 5, off ½.

The turnover of 180,000 shares was roughly 10,000 short of yesterday's.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

INSTRUCTIONS TO A MODERN TRAFFIC COP.

Take care of the trucks and the buses,
Remember they won't stand delay;
Whenever a cab driver fusses,
Just see that he gets right of way;
Be always polite and quite kindly
When drivers great liberties take,
Give motorists courtesy blindly,
But never give walkers a break!

II.

When red flashes on at the crossing,
Let taxicabs pass, just for sport,
But show that you're skillful at bossing
The hiker who doesn't stop short!
Let sedans go speedily by you!
And give them a smile rather sweet,
But don't let pedestrians try you
By daring to go 'cross the street.

III.

When green's flashed let traffic leap four ways
In frenzied, hysterical packs
And chase folks afoot into doorways
Or knock 'em quite stiff in their tracks.
Remember the man who is stranded
Twixt curbs as the light turns to green,
Deserves to be ruthlessly handed
A sock by some swift limousine!

IV.

The minute the "Go" light's detected
Let buses and trucks leap ahead;
Be sure the flivver's protected
From needless delay on the "red;"
A lady is caught, but no matter,
Her crossing was overmuch slow;
She ought to know walkers must scatter
And run like the deer on the "Go."

V.

A man there appears in some danger—
He's stranded while half-way across,
But hell! what of that? He's a stranger
And nobody'll notice his loss:
"Come on with that cab! Whatza trouble? . . .
"Hey! Step on th' gas. . . . I mean you! . . .
"For you on that bus that goes double—
"Come on! Shoot that limousine through!"

VI.

Be firm! That's the way! Keep 'em going!
Remember there can't be delay;
There's nothing that acts so in slowing
Up traffic like folks in the way;
So this be the rule of the city;
Be kind to all drivers, each one—
Give motorists service and pity—
BUT GIVE THE PEDESTRIAN NONE!

HE QUALIFIED.

Hi: Some time ago I saw a picture called "Murder by the Clock" in which one of the characters was a half-witted boy. Later I saw "An American Tragedy" and was amused to see that the same character who played the half-witted boy now was the district attorney. He evidently made good in the first part. J.S.S.

WINTER RESORT PORTRAIT.

Miami is a sporty place
Where dogs and also horses race;
Where skies are of the deepest blue
And you meet lots of people who
Discuss the weather clear and warm,
And always carry "Racing Form."

Its buildings rise as from the sea;
Its tourists rise from ten to three;
Its traffic rules are most complex
And cause abundant auto wrecks;
It seldom rains and knows no fogs—
And everybody plays the dogs.

It has a big town atmosphere.
With weather always fair and clear;
The men in very little dress
And all the girls wear even less,
And everybody's roll goes thinner
In trying hard to pick a winner.

Jewish Orchestra To Play Over Radio

Community Center Group to Be Heard Sunday; Rabbi to Talk.

A concert by the Jewish Community Symphony Orchestra and an address by Rabbi Solomon H. Metz, on Jewish education, will feature a radio program at 2:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Jewish Education Association.

The orchestra, under the direction of George Sklar, nephew of the late Pincus Minkowsky, well-known cantor of Odessa, Russia, will play the following selections: Mozart's serenade from "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik;" Grossman's overture from the opera, "The Ghost of the Warrior;" Herlich's "Two Guitars," and Akinmenko's Russian overture, "On the Volga."

Mr. Sklar attended the Combs Conservatory of Music and the Curtis Institute of Music. He organized the first children's opera company in this country, and is now planning formation of a philharmonic orchestra and choral society in Washington.

President Arthur's Portrait Is Hung

A portrait of President Chester A. Arthur was installed in the American Red Cross Museum here in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary yesterday of the United States' joining with other nations in recognition of the treaties of Geneva, creating the Red Cross of the world. One of President Arthur's first acts was proclamation of America's accession to the treaties.

The portrait, from an original negative taken when President Arthur was in office, was presented by Miss Mabel T. Boardman, secretary of the American Red Cross, to Chairman John Barton Payne.

On March 1, 1882, by presidential proclamation, President Arthur, with consent of the Senate, brought the United States into the company of 27 nations which agreed to protect the wounded in the armies in the field, to observe the neutrality of hospital ships at sea, and doctors, nurses and hospitals on battlefields.

Prisoners Dig in Cellar For Evidence of Murder

Huntington, W. Va., March 1 (A.P.). A dozen prisoners from the Wayne County Jail, under guard, today began excavating a cellar in a house at Hubbardstown, sifting rumors of a twenty-year-old murder mystery.

The excavation was ordered by Prosecutor Jess Hammock following revival of rumors that a Norfolk & Western Railroad agent was murdered and buried in the cellar while investigating a theft.

HOME OWNER TOTAL SHOWS BIG GAIN HERE

DWELLINGS BELONG TO 47,220 FAMILIES

Washington Residents Also Rank High in Possession of Luxuries.

The popular conception of Washington as a city of hotel and apartment house dwellers is conclusively disproved by figures of the Bureau of Census, released yesterday, which show that residents of the District of Columbia have made rapid strides in acquiring their own homes in the last ten years.

Of the 125,554 private families in the District of Columbia, 47,220, or 37.6 per cent, own their own homes. This is an increase over the census of 1920, when the percentage of homes owned was only 29.6 per cent. In 1910 only 24.4 were home owners, while in 1900 there was a percentage of 23.4 per cent.

In addition to strides in home ownership, Washington residents are revealed as ranking high in the possession of some of the luxuries of living. Of the entire number of families, 67,640, or 53.9 per cent, reported that they had a radio set.

Family Classifications.

In estimating the number of families in the 1930 census, the bureau did not use the term "family" to cover the small number of institutions, hotels and boarding houses as was done in previous censuses, but the basis used was the narrower sense of a group of persons related either by blood, marriage or adoption.

In addition to the 125,554 private families in the District, there were 464 of these quasi-family groups, which accounted for a population of 22,608. The average population per private family was 3.70.

Classified on the basis of color and nativity of the head of the family, 83,700 families, or 66.7 per cent of the total number in the District, were native wite: 11,586, or 9.2 per cent, were foreign-born white; 29,995, or 23.9 per cent, were Negro, and 273 were of other races. The total population of the District was 66.5 per cent native white, 6.1 per cent foreign-born white, and 27.1 per cent were Negro.

More Than Half Tenants.

While a large increase in the number of home owners was noted, more than half of the population were still tenants. Of the total number of families, 75,254, or 59.9 per cent, were tenants, and for 3,080, or 2.5 per cent, no report was made as to tenure.

The owners families among the native whites, totaling 83,700, are 33,822, with 48,334 as tenants. Among a total of 11,586 foreign-born families, 6,052 are owner families and 5,281 are tenants. The Negro families, totaling 29,995, are divided 7,316 owner families and 21,413 as tenant families. Of the 273 in all other races, 30 are home owners and 226 tenants.

The 125,554 families in the District were living in 84,903 dwellings, comprising 74,649 one-family dwellings, 6,805 two-family dwellings and 3,449 dwellings occupied by three or more families. In the last-mentioned group of dwellings there were 37,295 families, or an average of 10.8 families per dwelling. The average for the District as a whole, however, including the one-family and two-family dwellings, was only 1.5 families per dwelling.

Car-Window Breaking Sentence Is Delayed

Pleading guilty to charges of destroying private property, petty larceny, and carrying a concealed weapon, Joseph L. Fletcher yesterday faced Judge John P. McMahon in Police Court to receive sentence. Sentence was postponed, pending further investigation.

The charge against Fletcher arose when a Capitol policeman, Frank Ippolite, of 81 K street northwest, said he saw him break the window in an automobile and arrested him. At the First Precinct Station a pistol was found on Fletcher. The gun, it was alleged, had been stolen from a woman, and a charge of larceny also was booked.

Albert Lynch Dies By His Own Hand

Former Plate Printer Cuts Throat; Had Been in Sanitarium.

Albert Lynch, 40 years old, of 1118 East Capitol street, a native of Washington and brother-in-law of James E. Colliflower, treasurer of the James E. Colliflower Co., Inc., coal dealers, ended his life shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat with a kitchen knife in the bedroom of his home.

Mr. Lynch was alone in the house save for his aged mother, Mrs. Rose Lynch. She tried to enter his room, after failing to find him elsewhere in the house, but was unable to because the man's body blocked the door. Mrs. Lynch then telephoned her daughter, Mrs. Colliflower, who lives at 1127 East Capitol, and with the aid of a doctor from Casualty Hospital, they gained entrance to the room.

Mr. Lynch suffered a nervous breakdown about six weeks ago, and was in a sanitarium at Laurel, Md., until a few days ago. He was employed at one time as a plate printer at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Beside his mother and sister, he is survived by four brothers, all of Washington.

BRYANT M'MAHON'S WOUNDING MYSTERY

He Puts Blame on "Sniper;" Two Bookmakers' Gun Battle Revealed.

The identity of the person who shot Bryant McMahon remained a mystery last night, as detectives declined to believe his story that he was shot by the "sniper." McMahon, who was questioned in connection with the shooting of Talley Day and in the assault on Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, Minister of El Salvador, during an attempted hi-jacking at the legation of El Salvador several months ago, remained in a serious condition last night in Casualty Hospital.

Because of the dearth of business, many bookmakers in the numbers racket and the race racket are carrying guns, it was learned last night. They are in fear of holdups.

Gun Battle Reported.

Although no report has been made to police, it was learned last night two Washington bookmakers participated in a gun battle Saturday night near Ninth street and New York avenue. One of the participants was struck over the head with a blackjack held in the hands of a friend.

While police were investigating the shooting of McMahon, William Wells, 43 years old, colored, narrowly missed knocking down District Attorney Leo A. Rover and damaged Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford's motorcycle as he was on the way to headquarters to surrender in the stabbing of his sweetheart, Ruth Wells, whom he stabbed with an ice pick. The accident occurred in front of police headquarters a few minutes before Ruth Wells was to appear before the grand jury in an assault case against Wells.

Puts Blame on "Sniper."

Wells, who is known as "Long Shot Red" among the gambling fraternity, is at Gallinger Hospital, suffering from drugs. The attack regarding which the girl was to testify occurred on February 9, according to police. Her condition is still serious.

McMahon appeared at Casualty Hospital today, according to police, clad in pajamas and a bathrobe. He refused to say who had shot him or why he had been shot. "I was shot by the 'sniper,'" he said, "but you know that's a lie."

Fall From Moving Van Injures Transfer Man

A fall from a moving van, which he was loading with furniture for a return trip to Indianapolis, yesterday sent Grant Arnott, 28 years old, to Emergency Hospital in an undetermined condition.

The transfer man had the truck parked in the rear of 1438 U street northwest, where he was taking aboard a cargo for the Indiana trip. As his helper handed up a piece of furniture he lost his balance and toppled to the ground. He landed on his head and shoulder. Relatives in Indianapolis were notified.

Death in Tub Laid To Heart Attack

Coroner's Jury Decides Woman Died From Natural Causes.

A coroner's jury yesterday decided that Mrs. Joan Murray, 22, found dead in the bathtub at her home, 1300 E street southeast, last Friday, died from natural causes.

An autopsy revealed the woman had a weak heart, it was testified, and that a quantity of alcohol and sleeping tablets were in her stomach. The probability was expressed that Mrs. Murray had sustained the gash found on the back of her head when she fell during a heart attack.

Relatives and friends of the dead woman testified that they did not believe she committed suicide. She was the wife of John Murray, an enlisted man in the Army, stationed at Bolling Field. It was said Mrs. Murray had been estranged from her husband for about a week prior to her death.

N'Gi Has An Off Day And Watchers Feel Blue

"N'Gi is still a very sick little monkey—we are all pretty blue," declared Dr. William M. Mann, director of the Zoo, last night, in response to inquiries regarding the condition of the baby gorilla, who it is feared is fighting a losing battle against death in his specially constructed oxygen chamber.

N'Gi had an off day yesterday. His good appetite, which for several days brought a ray of hope to those in attendance, deserted him and he accepted only a few glasses of milk.

Although the fuzzy pet lay motionless on his bed of straw all day, Dr. David E. Buckingham, veterinarian, was confident that he had not suffered a definite turn for the worse. There are bound to be days, he said, when N'Gi will not seem quite so well. Until it is certain he has fully recovered, however, any setback throws a pall of gloom over those in attendance.

TWO MEN CHARGED IN GROCER'S KILLING

Two colored men were booked on murder charges last night in connection with the fatal shooting ten days ago of Anton Ruppert, grocer, of 1900 Eleventh street northwest, after a coroner's jury had directed detention of the men for grand jury action.

The verdict of the jury as to the manner of Ruppert's death was merely that it was the result of a pistol wound. The men charged are Mervin Pearson, 21, of 1209 U street northwest, and George Edward Herndon, of 1923 Twelfth street northwest.

Second Precinct police arrested the accused men shortly after the shooting of Ruppert. Witnesses yesterday testified to their proximity to the scene of the crime a short time after its commission.

Ruppert was shot through the back by one of a group of men who had entered and made several purchases.

Pedestrians Seek Better Protection

Columbia Heights Citizens Cite 2 Serious Accidents at Intersection.

Declaring that within the past month there have been two serious accidents at Fourteenth and Euclid streets northwest, one of which proved fatal to an elderly woman, the Columbia Heights Citizens Association at a meeting last night in the New Amsterdam Hotel, requested that immediate action be taken to provide adequate protection for pedestrians.

A committee was appointed to seek the aid of proper authorities in obtaining better postal facilities in the Columbia Heights section. The association also asked that the community be provided with more adequate police protection.

Ralph L. Thompson, librarian of the Mount Pleasant Branch Public Library, addressing the meeting, asked that members of the organization investigate library facilities in the section and give their support in obtaining more distributing agencies.

Thieves Get $500 in Clothing.

Clothing valued at $500 was taken from the apartment of Thomas O. Nichols, at 2227 Twentieth street northwest by burglars who jimmied the door some time yesterday afternoon, he told police. A fur coat valued at $400 was among the missing articles.

Driver Is Given 30 Days For Bumping Wrong Car

Three young women who objected to being followed and having their automobile bumped by a man who "thought he knew them" were the chief witnesses against Thomas Byrum, of 4100 Davenport street northwest, who appeared in Police Court on a reckless driving charge. Judge Ralph Given sentenced Byrum to 30 days in jail.

Byrum, according to the girls, followed their machine for more than 2 miles, first bumping into them on Connecticut avenue and again at Georgia avenue and Spring road northwest. After the last bumping, Louise Wellborn, driving the car, summoned a policeman and had the man arrested. Her two companions were Elizabeth Younger and Thelma C. Shanes.

MAN ROBS LAUNDRY AT POINT OF PISTOL

Woman Clerk Is Forced to Hand Over $30 From Cash Register.

An armed colored man last night held up a woman clerk in a branch of the Palace Laundry, 2110 S street northwest, forced her to surrender more than $30 of the company's money, and, after threatening her life, escaped through a nearby alley.

Mrs. Myrtle Hayes, of 1918 Eighteenth street northwest, on duty in the office, told police that the man entered as she was preparing to close the store for the night. He lounged across the counter, she said, and as she came toward him, produced a revolver and demanded cash.

She was forced to open the cash register, Mrs. Hayes said, and hand over its contents to the bandit. The exact amount of the loot was not determined, but officials of the company declared it was more than $30. It is fully covered by insurance.

After pocketing the money, Mrs. Hayes told police, the gunman backed toward the door. He hesitated for a moment, and flourishing the gun in her direction warned:

"If you squeal, I'll come back and get you!"

Mrs. Hayes said he then ran from the office and disappeared down an alley. Police combed the neighborhood, but failed to find a trace of the man.

Labor Groups to Greet Mother of Tom Mooney

The local branch of the International Labor Defense has arranged for a greeting and demonstration at the Union Station tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock when Tom Mooney's 80-year-old mother will arrive to take her son's cause to Congress and the President.

Members of local labor groups are being organized for the occasion. On Friday night, Mrs. Mooney will address a gathering at Arcade Hall, Fourteenth and Park road northwest, in an appeal for a Washington delegation to aid her in pressing for her son's unconditional pardon.

O'Connor Will Address Hibernians on March 17

The part Ireland played in the formation of this country will be told by Representative John J. O'Connor at the annual banquet of Commodore John Barry division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to be held St. Patrick's Day at the Mayflower.

This was announced last night at a meeting of the committee in charge of the banquet. The committee is as follows: Patrick J. O'Dea, chairman; Lillion F. Fay, vice chairman; Thomas McGrath, secretary; Mrs. Joseph A. Daly, treasurer; Sir Patrick Haltigan, speakers; Francis J. Rafferty, tickets; Michael J. Dowd, publicity; Joseph A. Daly, reception, and James P. Moriarty, printing.

GLASSFORD HOLDS MORE MEN NEEDED TO MAKE CITY DRY

Only Scratching Surface in Enforcement Now, He Declares.

URGES REVISION OF LAW TO HELP FIGHT VIOLATOR

Plans Action for Remedying Situation on Completion of Police Survey.

Thorough enforcement of the dry laws in the District can be accomplished only by the addition of personnel to the Police Department and the provision of greater police powers in prohibition work, said Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, yesterday.

"I am of the opinion that we are only scratching the surface in the enforcement of prohibition laws here," said Brig. Gen. Glassford. "The method of making arrests and the procedure necessary to present cases in court should be radically modified."

About a score of men are now detailed to liquor violations, and the police head deems this number, who are all clothed with Federal powers, insufficient. More men for the liquor law work, less red tape, and he believes he can strictly enforce the eighteenth amendment here.

Survey Being Made.

Aids of the police chief are engaged in a survey of the laws affecting liquor manufacture, sale and possession here. With the receipt of data from this study, he hopes to take steps to remedy the situation.

Whether the steps projected would take the form of recommendations to the District Commissioners for legislation to handle the matter, for action on their part or for direct moves by himself, Brig. Gen. Glassford has not decided.

The police head pointed to the section of the District Code which provides that the Commissioners through the chief of police shall assign an adequate number of men to the enforcement of dry laws. He said that with present force it would be highly impracticable to assign more personnel to the liquor violation work.

Force Under Allotment.

While 1,340 policemen are provided by law as the police personnel of the city, only about 1,280 men now comprise the force. A recent survey, said Brig Gen. Glassford, showed that during the daytime there were actually only 226 men out on the streets doing police duty.

The police chief would not say whether his dry law views were occasioned by the mention in President Hoover's message to Congress Monday of the need for legislation to provide more effective enforcement here.

On Friday the Howell bill providing much broader means of carrying out the dry laws comes before the Senate District committee. Under the measure all members of the force would be clothed with the same Federal powers as the present special detail

Thanks Citizens Service Body.

Greater latitude in the legality of searching houses and other structures would also be provided under the Howell bill. A revolving fund to be used under the direction of the Commissioners in establishing evidence also would be provided if the bill were enacted into law.

The police chief yesterday thanked the Citizens Service Association for its efforts toward enforcement of dry laws. His remarks were made during an informal talk before the organization at its monthly luncheon at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Sharp criticism of officers of the law or any one connected with the Government who disregards the laws of the Nation was also voiced by Glassford.

Woman Given $2,000 Damages in Shootnig

A judgment of $2,000 was given Mrs. Blanche K. Geisler by a jury in the court of Justice Jesse C. Adkins yesterday because of a bullet wound in the leg she received while celebrating the passing of the year 1929 in a restaurant operated by the Co-operative Restaurant Corporation.

Mrs. Geisler and her husband, Raymand J. Geisler, and four others, were at a table in the restaurant as the whistles sounded the coming of 1930. Some one fired a pistol and the bullet entered her leg. The husband was given $500 damages. The one who fired the shot was never identified and the restaurant people denied responsibility for the shooting.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Wheatley School gave a surprise party and Colonial reception to Miss Florence C. Mortimer, principal, last night in celebration of her third anniversary at the school. The group around the birthday cake, left to right: Mrs. Walter Jones, chairman of the reception committee; Mrs. Florence H. Rogers, supervising principal of the Sixth Division; Mrs. John L. Thomas, secretary P.-T. A.; Miss Mortimer, Mrs. C. W. Abernethy and Mrs. A. T. Manning, president P.-T. A. A tribute was paid to the late Miss Miriam Austen, former principal of the school, during the ceremonies.

$50,000 ESTIMATED STOLEN FROM BANK

Acetylene Tanks Used by Yeggs Are Traced to Wrecking Job.

A tentative estimate that insurance companies would pay $50,000 to boxholders of the Washington Savings Bank, where professional yeggs entered 50 safe deposit boxes over the week-end, was made by police yesterday.

Police have traced the pressure tanks containing acetylene and oxygen gas left at the bank to a wrecking concern which is tearing down a structure at Thirteenth and One-half and C streets northwest. It is believed they were stolen Saturday night.

Thomas E. Jarrell, president of the robbed bank, said yesterday that only about $500 in cash was missing from the pilfered boxes along with seven $1,000 Federal Lank Bank bonds which would be difficult to negotiate. However, other property taken is expected to bring the insurance indemnity up to the figure indicated by police.

The bank president pointed to the fact that three valuable diamond rings were found in the litter left by the thieves. He said this indicated to him that the robbers sought only cash and negotiable securities.

3 Firemen Injured As 4 Houses Burn

Two Families Lose Their Possessions in Flames in Southwest.

Two firemen and an honorary battalion chief were injured as they combated a fire which swept four dwellings in the 300 block of Twelfth street southwest early yesterday morning. Two families at 321 Twelfth street lost most of their possessions and their shelter.

The injured men are: Henry C. Stein, 49, honorary battalion chief, dislocated shoulder; Private R. J. Bittner, 29, No. 10 truck, severe bruises about the face and eyes and lacerations of the face, and Private William Casey, No. 10 truck, head injuries and cuts. The last two still were under treatment at Emergency Hospital last night.

The fire, orignating in a vacant structure at No. 319, was believed to have been started by vagrants. Two alarms were sent in for apparatus to quell the fast-spreading flames.

The families whose goods were destroyed were Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Jones and Mr. and Mrs. R. Flynn and their three children. Dwellings at 323 and 325 suffered to a lesser degree from the blaze.

Two Hurt in Explosion Of Gas Tank on Bus

An exploding gas tank of a Washington Rapid Transit Co. bus at the garage at 4615 Fourteenth street northwest, yesterday, injured two men who were repairing it. One of the men was seriously hurt.

The men were removed to Emergency Hospital. Martin Swan, 30, of 1251 Otis street northeast, was treated for serious burns, and Eugene Longpue, 30, of 4602 Fifth street northwest, for a fractured left ankle.

$529,000 SALE PRICE OF HAMILTON HOTEL

A. A. Laporte, of New York, Bids In $1,450,075 Property at Auction.

Following refusal by Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue, of the District Supreme Court, to halt the sale of the Hamilton Hotel, its auction was held yesterday and the eleven-story structure at the northeast corner of Fourteenth and K streets northwest was purchased by A. A. Laporte, New York City, for $529,000. The current assessed valuation of the property is $1,450,075.

W. Gwynn Gardiner, sr., attorney, who petitioned the court to enjoin the sale earlier in the day, said last night he will prepare a petition to the Court of Appeals asking a special appeal from the ruling of Justice O'Donoghue.

Mr. Laporte said he represented the Hamilton Hotel Corporation, a Delaware corporation, controlled by the George E. Roosevelt committee, formed to protect interests of certain bondholders on the property.

The auction was the first involving a major property in months in which there was competitive bidding, James O'Donnell, retired capitalist, being the other bidder. Mr. Laporte's opening bid was $500,000, Mr. O'Donnell raising this $1,000. Mr. Laporte's second offerof $525,000 was raised alternately to $528,000 by Mr. O'Donnell. Vernon G. Owen was the auctioneer.

The original estimated cost of the hotel was listed at $1,478,350. Subsequent owners are given as Properties Investment Corporation, Inc., the Rochester Corporation, Inc., and Hamilton Hotel, Inc.

Auto Driver Exonerated In Death of Boy, 4

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death Saturday afternoon of 4-year-old Floyd Nunn, 1204 G street northeast, as the result of injuries suffered when struck by an automobile.

Ernest Dishman, 38, of 722 Castle place northeast, driver of the car that hit the boy, was exonerated by the jury.

Four Apartments Looted by Robber

A daylight burglar operating on upper Connecticut avenue yesterday escaped with jewelry and other valuables worth $1,462.50. Three apartments at 3221 Connecticut avenue were jimmied and another was entered at 3430 Connecticut avenue. Occupants of the apartments discovered their losses when they returned home from work.

The apartment of John T. Kent and Benjamin Abbott, No. 305, at 3221, yielded $687.50. Among the articles stolen was a white gold dinner ring set with three diamonds, which Mr. Kent valued at $500. Across the hall, in No. 304, Daniel M. Gearhart lost $60 in jewelry. Then the burglar raided the apartment of Miss Julia Cissel on the fourth floor and got a diamond ring valued at $300.

Washington—Our Home City

—By—

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer

President of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia

While Washington is the Capital of the Nation, it is the home city of approximately half a million men, women and children. We take great pride in its beauty. It is an inspiration to us and it represents hope and well-being for the children of the community.

But the well-being of any of us as individuals is dependent on the well-being of all of us. As we remember this we can help make Washington—our home city—the finest place in which to live.

In days like these we can each do much to help. In remembering that this is our home city, we can help keep our homes beautiful within and without. In so doing we would help fellow townsmen by releasing arrested dollars.

Odd jobs around 5,000 homes would keep 5,000 men at work for longer or shorter periods. These men would work gladly and happily knowing they earn something for their dependents. They would, by their work, help make our home city clean and beautiful and a happy place. No city is so happy as one where all the workers are busy earning their own livelihood.

You can help make Washington—our home city—finer and better by doing your share of furnishing even a few days of employment to some one in need of work.

3 PLAYS PRESENTED AT EASTERN HIGH TO START TOURNAMENT

One Postponed as Member of Cast Becomes Ill; Will Be Offered Later.

WOODLOTHIANS APPEAR TO SPLENDID ADVANTAGE

With the presentation of three plays, one being postponed because of the illness of a member of the cast, the 1932 one-act-play tournament of the Community Center Department and the Drama Guild of Washington got off to a promising start last night at Eastern High School.

The plays presented were: "The Rest Cure," by Gertrude E. Jennings, offered by the Women's City Club Drama unit; "Overtones," by Alice Gerstenberg, presented by the Jewish Community Center Dramatic Society, and "Deceivers," by William C. DeMille, produced by the Woodlothians.

The play postponed is "The Trying Time," by Frances G. Donovan, the selection of the North Carolina Avenue Players. It will be presented tomorrow night, when the second round of the preliminary contest takes place. The preliminary contest will continue March 8 and 10 at Eastern, and the final contest will be held on March 15, at McKinley High School.

Woodlothians Appear Best.

The Woodlothians, an organization that can always be counted on for a good production, offered the best play on last night's program, in the opinion of this observer. The selection was a fortunate one, the type of comedy drama that would no doubt "go over," even in less capable hands.

An attractive young wife, believing her husband is deceiving her, hires a detective to trail him when he goes out at night. The husband learns of the ruse, conceals himself at home when the wife has made an appointment with the detective with whom she has done business entirely on the telephone. A burglar arrives instead of the detective and hubby thinks the visitor is a lover.

The play was directed by Robert Halsted who also took the part of the husband. Lucile H. Cohan was the wife and Brad W. Holmes the suave burglar.

Rest Cure Presented.

The Rest Cure drew back the curtain on the amusing experiences of a tired author who tries to take a rest cure. The players were: Margaret Moorhouse Graham, Ruth E. Snodgrass, Thelma Schmidt, Howard Whitfield and Violet Ann Hambleton.

A Eugene O'Neil technique, in which two women carry on a four-cornered conversation, the other participants being their subconscious minds made Overtones probably the most difficult play to handle. With the exception of two or three cues from the prompter, it was creditably performed.

Lillian R. Spector, Edythe Lazaroff, Jan Barnette, Billie A. Sachs and Pearl Abrams were the players. Miss Abrams also directed.
